Chapter 1 - Facebook = F#^KB00K?

Hi, I'm Brandon and I'm going to tell you how to get all the girls you could possibly want by simply using your Facebook account.

That might sound like a bold claim, but I'm living proof that this system WORKS.

Let me drop a quick fact on you:

Right now at this moment—as you read this book—there are more than 800 million people on Facebook.

Studies have shown that more than half of these users are women. Dude, we're talking about 400 million+ females!

A significant percentage of these females are single, available, and hot—and bro, they're hooked on Facebook like junkies get hooked on drugs, logging onto the site whenever they have a few spare seconds.

I constantly see good-looking chicks checking their Facebook accounts from their phones while they sip coffee at Starbucks.

Or while they're on the treadmill at the gym.

Or while they're standing in line at the grocery store.

And I see them taking sexy-ass pictures and uploading them to their accounts while they're out partying with their friends...

This is just what I observe when women are in public. In the privacy of their own homes, women spend an insane amount of time on Facebook.

(And it's where they love taking those "selfie" shots of themselves, showing off their boobs and asses in their mirror...)

Anyway, let's not get distracted. Here's the deal:

You're about to learn an easy, step-by-step system that lets you SEDUCE the girls you want on Facebook.

If you've tried to chat with girls on Facebook in the past...or flirt with them...and it didn't go anywhere, I want you to forget about all of that.

You were doing it wrong. And we're going to fix it.

If you're like I used to be, your interactions on Facebook mainly consist of exchanging messages with your friends, and commenting on and "liking" each other's pictures.

You might occasionally discover some hot-looking girl who you share a "mutual friend" with, so you check out her profile and her pics, and perhaps try to add her to your friends list...but you've probably found that even if you do try to start an interaction with one of those "random" girls, you won't get far.

There are too many other guys trying to kiss her ass and stroke her ego, posting comments on her pics telling her how gorgeous she is.

How are you supposed to compete with this? To her, you're just another random, horny stranger out there in cyberspace.

Then there were girls who I would initially meet in real life—girls I chatted with when I was out at bars or parties, or people I met through my work or my social circle. If they were cute, I made it a point to always get their Facebook address so that I could keep in touch with them online.

But that rarely got me anywhere, either. Again, I wasn't able to "cut through the noise." It seemed that every attractive girl had so much activity going on with her Facebook profile—dozens of friends posting comments and engaging them in conversations—that I didn't know how to catch their attention and chat with them one-on-one.

Even worse, when I was able to strike up a "Facebook chat" with a girl I liked, the conversation would stall out after a few minutes. How was I supposed to keep the conversation moving forward with a girl I barely knew?

I'd ask the usual questions (so where you do like to hang out, what kind of music are you into, etc), but I could sense that she had other people vying for her attention, sending her messages and distracting her. People who were her REAL friends, in real life, who had real things to talk about with her.

After a few minutes of awkward chatting, the girl would politely excuse herself and I'd go back to trolling Facebook for another cute girl to try to interact with. (Or, I'd surf over to an internet porn site, where I knew I could at least get some satisfaction!)

I vividly remember those frustrating days, back when Facebook felt like one giant cock-tease. My list of Facebook contacts contained lots of attractive female "friends"—but that was precisely the problem. I wasn't ever getting past the "friend zone" with any of them.

Thankfully, things are different now.

MUCH different.

These days, whenever I log into my Facebook account I have numerous friendly messages from women—some of whom I slept with in the past; others who are part of my current “rotation” (meaning, I’m sleeping with now); and others who I haven’t met in real life yet, but I know it’s just a matter of time before they’re in my bed.

And when I want to meet new women, instead of it being a difficult, stressful challenge, it feels more like a game. A game I’ve already beaten a hundred times before!

I use a special method to browse through the profiles and quickly and easily identify the girls who are “good to go”—the ones I know I can seduce by using a few simple techniques and routines.

It’s all because I figured out (with help from the legendary seduction coach Dean Cortez) a bunch of “Facebook Seduction Loopholes.” Basically, there are ways to “hack” this social network and turn it into your own personal matchmaking site—where you have your pick of thousands of available women.

I’m not talking about actually hacking into the website, or anything like that.

I’m talking about using special Facebook features—which most users don’t have a clue about—for seduction purposes. To allow you to easily meet women who might normally ignore you, and start flirtatious interactions that lead to real-world hook ups. These girls don’t even need to be on your friends list (yup, there are techniques for “friending” hot girls even if they normally turn down requests from guys they don’t know).

As long as you have a computer, a Facebook account and a working internet connection, this system will work.

All you need to do is login to your Facebook account and use the methods that I’m going to reveal to you in this book. Once you do this, you’ll have the ability to scroll through the girls you want to meet, and line up dates within a few short messages.

Rather than wasting time in the “friend zone,” you’ll know how to spark feelings of attraction in women, so that they'll want much more than just your friendship.

Remember, you do NOT want to end up like the millions of other guys who don't understand the "rules of the game" and only creep women out on Facebook.

You don't want to be the guy who ruins it for everyone else and makes women turn their privacy settings on "private."

In the busy, bustling world of Facebook, attention spans are short. You'll usually only get one chance to do things right.

So don't fk this up!

Before you send another message to a girl on Facebook, make sure you READ this entire guide.

Why Getting Girls On Facebook Is Much BETTER Than In Real Life

Ever since I mastered the Facebook seduction game, I've no longer found it necessary to go out on the weekends to try to meet girls in smoky bars, or loud clubs.

I no longer need to stress myself out when I see a cute girl at the mall, or the coffee shop, who I want to talk to—but I feel awkward about trying to approach her in public.

Because I know that all I need to do is log into Facebook to get all the girls I want—without having to figure out the right "opening line," and without risking an embarrassing rejection.

Let me run down some of the key reasons why this Facebook Seduction method is superior to trying to pick up girls in the "real world."

1. You can meet girls 24/7 with no risk of "rejection."

Imagine sitting at home on your couch in your underwear, having the power to pick and choose any girl you want from a “home-delivered pussy service.”

That’s exactly what Facebook becomes when you apply these tactics!

So if you’re the kind of guy who’s too lazy or shy to go to the trouble of picking up women in the “real world,” this is the system you’ve been waiting for.

With a smartphone, you can be on Facebook anywhere, at any time. (You don’t need to have a fancy phone to use this system—your home computer will do the job just fine—but if you’ve a Facebook app on your phone, you can pick up hotties or confirm dates while you’re on the go!)

Whether it’s Monday morning at your job, happy hour at the bar on Friday night, or you’re lounging on your couch on a lazy Sunday, you have instant access to an unlimited number of women on Facebook.

And of course, the chances of you getting nervous or “tongue tied” during a Facebook interaction are much lower than they’d be if you were face-to-face with a girl in real life.

You don’t have to be self-conscious, or worry about anything like your clothes or your body language while you chat.

You don’t have the noise and distractions of the real world to contend with. You can concentrate all of your seduction powers on your Facebook interactions. (Hell, you can take notes on this book, write up your own “cheat sheet,” and refer to it during your chats!)

I used to read books on “pickup” and seduction, and try to memorize long conversational routines to use when I talked to women. In the heat of the moment, however, I’d always forget what I was supposed to say next. That’s when I would usually say something irrelevant, or just plain stupid.

But once you learn the art of Facebook Seduction, there’s no chance of this happening. You’ll possess complete control over what you say, and how you choose to say it. (In this book, we’ll even give you copy-and-paste lines that you can use every step of the way!)

2. “Find and filter” ‘em with just a few clicks.

When you spot an attractive girl in a typical “pickup” environment—let’s say a bar, for example—you have very little information to go on. You might notice that she’s dressed a certain way, or is hanging out with a certain group of people, but other than that you know nothing about her.

The biggest thing you don’t know is whether she’s available. She might be dating a steroid-crazed MMA fighter who’s lurking across the room. She could be married. Or she might just have a personality that is totally incompatible with yours.

The point is, you just don’t know.

But with Facebook, you can “filter” thousands or even millions of female profiles, to narrow your options down to the women you truly want to hook up with. The girls who fit your criteria and your standards.

This alone will save you enormous amounts of time and energy (and money, too—how much cash did I waste back in the day, buying drinks for girls who turned out to have boyfriends?)

If I want to meet women who live in my town, I can narrow my search down to local hotties. If I’m about to take a trip, I can identify hot, single girls who live in the city I’ll be visiting. (I’ve hooked up with girls in multiple countries, just by using Facebook.)

And this leads me to my next point...

3. Facebook tells you more about a girl in five minutes than talking to her for two hours.

Everyone’s Facebook profile includes a “Timeline” that shows important moments in their lives from the past several years. This means you can not only get a good sense of a girl by looking at her latest posts and pictures—you can also “scroll back in time” and learn about her history.

Within a few minutes, you can learn an incredible amount of personal information about a girl. (Women tend to share information on Facebook more freely than guys—they're constantly posting about their state of mind, what they're experiencing emotionally, what they're happy or sad about, etc.)

Dean Cortez, the seduction mastermind who helped to create the Facebook Seduction System, is well-known for his first program, which is called M.A.C.K. Tactics. In the M.A.C.K. Tactics book, Dean wrote about the importance of gathering as much "Intell" as possible on a woman, before making your move on her.

Dean was referring to picking up women in real-world environments, where "Intell" could mean noticing her body language, the way she's dressed, who she's with, etc. Gathering Intell can help you to determine whether she's a girl you want to go for—and can also help you figure out what to talk to her about.

Well, Facebook takes the concept of "gathering Intell" to a whole other level. You can literally review the last few years of her life (by using the Timeline feature) and see and read about the people, places, activities and events that matter to her! And that's in addition to being able to look at her Facebook Wall, and see what she's been up to lately.

As a result, you'll never be lacking for things to chat about with her. By doing a bit of research on her, you'll be able to find commonalities—people you both know or admire, places and activities you both enjoy, and things that you both find humorous or annoying.

Or maybe she participates in an activity, or has a passion about a topic, that you'd be interested in learning more about. These can be great conversation topics as well.

4. Endless options

Most guys are sick of the crap they have to endure in bars and nightclubs. Do you actually enjoy going to overpriced places and being expected to buy drinks for a girl you haven't slept with yet?

I didn't think so!

Well guess what? Soon, there will be nearly half a BILLION girls on Facebook. You've got opportunities to meet more girls through Facebook than you could ever get a good look at in real life!

Buying drinks for random strangers is not necessary.

Enduring the typical "first date" process isn't necessary, either...because by using the methods in this course, you can build enough attraction with a woman through Facebook that when she agrees to meet up with you, you've already laid the groundwork.

You won't need to spend money to impress her, or take her to the right restaurant, in order to hook up with her. Later, we'll talk about how to meet up with Facebook girls in the real world, and how to quickly get "down to business" instead of wasting time and money.

5. Relationships on Facebook can really work out

If you're the type of guy who wants to eventually find a "nice girl" to settle down with, Facebook can also deliver this to your doorstep.

I know there are some people who complain that relationships from Facebook never end up working out. These same people probably say that relationships that begin on internet dating sites (Match.com, PlentyOfFish.com, etc) can't work out, either.

First of all, I know plenty of happy couples who met through internet dating sites. Ten years ago, internet dating perhaps had a bit of a stigma attached to it. (Some people thought it was only for folks who were desperate.)

But this stigma no longer exists. Internet dating makes perfect sense for people who are busy and would rather "filter" their potential dating partners before meeting them in the real world.

Facebook allows you to do the same thing—but it's even better, because there's absolutely no stigma at all attached to Facebook. Everyone and their mother uses it!

It simply saves you a whole lot of trouble. You meet a girl on Facebook, and then you continue the interaction, and take it to the next level, in person.

Regardless of what the “haters” might say, relationships that begin on Facebook have the same chance of working out as any other relationship.

Actually, if you use our method, your chances of finding an awesome girlfriend are quite high—for two reasons. First, you’re going to have access to a ton more women than you have access to right now. And second, when you interact with these women (both online, and in the real world) you’ll know how to “push the buttons” that make them feel attracted to you.

6. You get results FAST!

On Facebook, connections are made quickly and it’s okay for you to start flirting and “escalating” almost immediately (as long as you do it the right way, not in a way that turns her off).

If you were chatting with that girl for the first time in a bar, it might take her time to “warm up” to you and feel comfortable in the conversation. You’d also need to spend time answering certain basic questions and asking her questions about herself.

Facebook allows you to accelerate the whole process. Just as you can see her profile, she can see yours. She’ll know your basic details and you’ll know hers. And once you “tweak” your profile according to our guidelines, she’ll get the sense right away that you’re a cool, interesting, fun guy who she can loosen up with and enjoy getting to know.

You can easily meet five or ten women in a single session, and you can chat and flirt with multiple women at the same time. How would that ever be possible in a bar or club?

7. Flexibility

Facebook has a wide range of features and options. It gives you the ability to avoid unwanted idiots and showoffs by blocking them.

There are other options, such as group conversations, where you can connect with multiple people at the same time.

And there's even a Facebook app that lets you meet women who are on Facebook for casual sex! Yup. We'll be telling you about this app later!

Facebook hands an amazing amount of control over to you. You are the one in control of your own "social ecosystem." You are the master of your own little universe, which you can populate with beautiful women.

Facebook can be very personal, and at the same time, you can choose to remain anonymous or choose to conceal certain details about yourself. This means greater seduction flexibility!

8. "A well written letter holds the power to win any lady's heart"

Back in the age of poetry authors used to describe a letter as being very powerful, in fact, it was said that:

"A well written letter holds the power to win any lady's heart."

What does this mean for you when it comes to picking up girls on Facebook?

Well, the Facebook chat feature is really just a modern version of the old-school "letter in the mail" (except it arrives a thousand times faster). I personally love the idea of communicating with written words, because it gives you the chance to compose your thoughts.

Even better, we'll give you word-for-word lines you can copy and paste to "win a lady's heart and get into her panties." This stuff isn't exactly poetry, but it will flip her "attraction switches" just the same!

Conclusion:

In the olden days, you would have to judge a person by their character, attitude, morals or how they hold themselves after knowing them for years.

But in the electronic era, we judge a person by their Facebook profile within minutes—or even seconds!

In order to find, filter and hook up with girls on Facebook, you need to understand how all of the different features work, so that you'll be in complete control of your seduction environment.

You don't want to be like most of the chumps out there in Facebook-land, who are either...

- a) Too shy to ever initiate connection with hot girls they don't know
- b) Friggin' CREEPY. Their profiles are weird, and the comments they post on women's pictures reek of desperation.
- c) Then there are the majority of guys, whose profiles are just plain BORING. They give women no reason to pay attention to them.

It's time for you to "step outside the box" and elevate yourself to a separate category: Facebook Seducer.

A Facebook Seduction System Secret...

Facebook was never intended to help you meet or date random people. You're really only supposed to connect with people you already know.

Facebook also happens to be strict about this. In fact, it's against their rules to actively add random people you don't know to your friends list.

On top of that, most of the girls you'll find on FB aren't there for dating purposes. That's why you can't normally expect to start randomly flirting with them and get positive responses...

Unless you use the techniques that we reveal to you here.

Essentially, if you want to get girls online there are two paths you can take.

There's a longer path that delivers weak results, and a shorter path that delivers awesome results.

The "long path" means ignoring the differences between Facebook and "dating websites." It means trying to use the same strategy to meet girls on Facebook that you would use with a site like Match.com, where everyone is on the site specifically to find romance.

The short option means understanding the core differences between Facebook and the dating sites, and then using this knowledge to your advantage.

We're going to give you a systematic, step by step approach that goes totally under the radar of the women you meet. So instead of just being a normal random "Facebook friend" that she'll never sleep with, you become the "special friend" that she'll submit to sexually and emotionally.

Out of all the girls I've hooked up with through Facebook, only ONE of them was using Facebook solely for dating purposes.

Follow the steps we're about to lay out, and soon, you too will have an inbox filled with messages from hot and willing women, that looks something like this:

Chapter 2 - Facebook Seduction Theory

Before you start seducing women online, I want to quickly run you through the basics of how to get girls attracted to you. These principles work in both the online and offline world—but it's actually easier to implement them in the world of Facebook.

You see, there are specific “attraction triggers” that you can learn to flip inside of women. It's sort of like knowing the right buttons to push, to make them feel curious about you, and attracted—even if on the surface, you don't seem like the kind of guy she'd normally go for.

When you don't understand how these triggers and buttons work, women can seem awfully hard to figure out. (For example, they say they want to meet a “nice guy,” but the nicer you are, the less they seem interested in you—and instead, they date complete jerks!)

What I eventually figured out is that we, as men, think in ways that women don't understand. And the reverse is true, as well: women constantly behave in ways that seem illogical to us.

The bottom line—and this is critical to understand in order to be an effective seducer—is that men are driven by logic. When we encounter a problem, we want to look at it from different angles and figure it out. Men are wired to be problem-solvers.

Women, on the other hand, are driven by their emotions. This is why they get flustered and even hysterical over situations that to us, seem silly.

But the emotional nature of women works to your advantage if you know how to create certain emotions inside of them.

Once you “crack this code,” it's as easy as pushing a few buttons.

She may TELL herself (and her friends) that she's attracted to a certain type of guy: tall, well-built, buys her flowers and is super romantic, etc.

And on a logical level, it might make sense for her to look for this type of boyfriend.

But remember, women aren't fueled by logic. With them, it's all about EMOTION. It's about how a guy makes her FEEL on a gut level.

Consider this: why do nice girls date “bad boys?” Because bad boys trigger very powerful emotions inside of women.

He may mistreat her and cheat on her, and the relationship could be filled with constant drama—but women literally get addicted to the roller coaster of emotions that bad boys give them.

One of the key reasons that bad boys are like crack cocaine to women is that they aren't needy. They're independent, they do their own thing, and OTHER WOMEN find them desirable (which makes the women they're with want to cling to them even harder).

Also, bad boys aren't followers. They're leaders. Women are wired to desire men who LEAD, because this indicates that they're capable of providing safety and security.

Keep these qualities in mind. You'll want to project them to women when you interact with them on Facebook.

And you can project these qualities in a subtle way. It's not about pretending to be a "tough guy" or coming off as arrogant. It's about displaying the fact that you're not like most guys. You aren't desperate or clingy.

You're a guy who leads an awesome, fun lifestyle. You have unlimited options. But if she wants to jump onboard your train and have the ride of her life, the invitation is open.

When this comes through in the way you portray yourself on Facebook, you can't lose.

Now here's something else you need to understand. Women are way more concerned with social status than men are.

They're hyper-sensitive to how they are perceived by their friends and peers. And they're always seeking ways to increase their social status within their peer group.

That is why girls typically spend way more time on Facebook than men do. They post updates much more frequently than we do. And when they post updates, they secretly crave comments and "likes," because this makes them feel validated.

Social status to a woman is much more important than anything else. It's far more important to them than sex (which is usually OUR number one goal).

Women avoid hanging out with guys who are of lower social status than they are. Conversely, they flock to guys who appear to be higher than them on the social status "ladder."

This is why you need to understand how to increase your social value on Facebook. This would make it logical for women to want to sleep with you.

In simple terms, if you increase your social value, you increase your sexual desirability to women.

Having high social value doesn't mean you have a lot of money or have good looks. It just means you ACT and BEHAVE in a certain type of way.

Confident, successful, attractive men tend to naturally act this way, and possess many of the characteristics I will explain to you. You can display these exact same qualities when you interact with women on Facebook.

To save you the time, I've made a comprehensive list of the qualities of a "high status social person," that you should strive to possess.

If you have these characteristics and you're able to show her this, then you're demonstrating "high value" and you're making yourself more attractive to her. I'll show you how you can convey all these values to women through your Facebook profile, but before that I have to let you know what they are.

The trick to this is you want to show as many of these qualities as you can within the shortest amount of time possible. The faster you do it, the easier and quicker it is for you to complete the seduction process.

Don't worry, I will show you in detail how you can demonstrate most if not ALL of these qualities by revamping your Facebook profile and knowing exactly what to say. For now, let's run down the characteristics of high social value people.

1. People of high social value are admired and thus desired by others

Admiration and "being in demand" has a cyclical relationship. A person who is admired by others of the same sex is normally desired by members of the opposite sex.

Guys think rock stars are cool—and girls will line up to have sex with them. To women, supermodels are the bomb—and guys would kill for a chance to have sex with them.

To expand on this point a bit more:

- People of high social status have men following their command

If you are seen as a leader of men, then you truly are a person of high status. This doesn't mean ordering your friends around or actually "commanding" anyone. It means you're a leader within your social group.

If you're the guy your friends call to figure out a plan for Friday night, and you choose the spot because you know the cool places, you're a leader within your group.

When you're out with your crew, if you're the one who brings women over to hang out, and you help your friends hook up, they'll certainly see you as a leader. Women will, too.

- People of high social status are "preselected" by other girls -

Men who are successful with women have social proof in the form of other attractive women who are their friends or lovers. (On Facebook, this is reflected in your pictures, your friends list, and the people who comment on your posts.) When women observe you having positive interactions and getting positive responses from other women, it makes you look like a guy women can trust—and a guy they should probably get to know.

- People of high social status "click" with girls - Guys who understand women as emotional creatures get laid the most. Their understanding of female psychology is rare. The guy who "gets it," when it comes to women, will never have a problem getting laid.

- People of high social value have other people seeking approval from them – Most guys seek approval from women. They constantly try to crack jokes that the girl will find funny. They buy drinks for girls in order to "buy" a few minutes of their time. They talk themselves up in an attempt to impress her.

But when you act this way, you lower your own status. She can TELL that you are trying to win her approval.

Guys who truly have high social status don't worry about trying to get some chick to "approve" of them. They can't be bothered with that!

Instead, your goal should be to make women earn YOUR approval.

My mentor, Dean Cortez, uses this tactic whenever he meets girls. I want to give you a couple of examples of what he might say to establish his "social value" (and to make the girl want to earn his approval).

Note: Dean says these lines after he's already been chatting with the girl for a few minutes and building a connection. Then he busts out one of these gems:

You're so cute, Vanessa, but I've got an important question to ask you...do you know how to give a really good back massage? Because I require this in my girlfriends...

OK, Cindy, so I can tell that you're smart, and you're funny. I like that. You're definitely earning points with me. But I need to ask you a question: what's your favorite movie of all time? Be careful how you answer, because I've found that a woman's taste in movies shows how compatible she can be with me.

Do you see what's happening here? By using lines like these, you are "reversing" the usual male-female interaction.

Instead of the girl "interviewing" you and asking you questions, you flip it around and take control.

In a funny, playful way, you make her prove herself to YOU. (And this makes you automatically attractive, because you're demonstrating lots of confidence.)

You don't need to use these exact lines when you chat with women on Facebook, but keep in mind the basic principle. Make women want to earn YOUR approval. Let them think you're a guy who has other options, and is picky.

2. People of high social value are natural in their behavior

One of the worst pieces of dating advice around is “just be yourself.”

Instead of “just being yourself,” I recommend you be the BEST version of yourself!

Sure, there are times that you need to fake it till you make it (as everyone starts off somewhere). And in the world of Facebook it’s much easier to “fake” it through your profile. Eventually though, you need to become the embodiment of the person you are portraying through your profile and be the REAL THING.

The reason for this is simple. Women have very good intuition and can read whether or not a guy, especially someone who is attracted to them, is nervous or not. If you are nervous and unnatural you’ll be making the woman feel uncomfortable and then it will just all go downhill from there.

3. People of high social value are recognized and appreciated by other people

This means other women and also men like you and appreciate you. If you’re the guy at the bar or club who constantly has friends and acquaintances coming over to greet you, it’s obvious to women that you’re a guy of exceptional high value. If some of these friends of yours happen to be attractive females, even better!

There is no better indicator of how women perceive you, than having a group of attractive girls being in your presence and enjoying themselves.

If you have good-looking women constantly around you and enjoying your presence, obviously other women will see this, and they will assume that you are socially dominant.

On Facebook, you want to portray yourself this same way. Don’t worry, if right now you don’t have any hot female friends posting on your Facebook wall, or complimenting your pictures, I’ll show you a sneaky way to get around this and instantly give yourself social proof from desirable women.

4. People of high social value have standards

Most men who fail with women don't actually have real standards when it comes to women. They have an "anything with a hole is a goal" attitude. This is extremely unattractive, because it shows desperation.

Guys who are highly successful with women tend to have high standards. Unlike the guys who don't get girls, these men have a set criteria.

Let me demonstrate this to you through an analogy.

For example, if you were purchasing a vehicle, and you had all the money in the world, would you just tell the car dealer "just get me anything"?

No!

Because you know that if you are the richest man alive you would want something that no one else would get!

Having standards make you stand out, because women and will see you as a guy who is picky and choosy with women. This will imply to them that:

- a. First of all, you are a man who is confident with himself.
- b. Second, women to you must be in abundance, so you must have something other women desire.

This type of guy isn't ever worried about getting rejected, because he has an "abundance mentality" towards women. In fact, when a woman doesn't want to be with him for whatever reason, he thinks it's "her loss."

Having standards makes you more attractive. Having criteria makes you stand out from all of those creepy stalker guys on Facebook.

5. People of high social value are great company

Have you noticed that the men who succeed with women are not only cool to be around in general, but are also good at entertaining women?

If you show her a good time, women will also be attracted to you because you are a cool and fun loving guy.

Why are these men great company? Well, here are some points to elaborate further:

- People of high social value are selfless givers - truly authoritative people give and do not expect anything in return. This is powerful and attractive, because only people who are truly abundant can give like this.

“Giving” doesn’t necessarily have anything to do with money. It can simply mean that you take the time to help your friends with advice. You’re there for them when they need you. When you find out about parties or cool events, you score invites for your friends.

The point I’m trying to make here is that when you do things out of the goodness of your heart, without asking for anything in return, you gain a reputation as a giving person. Women find this naturally attractive, because they know you’re a guy they can count on.

- People of high social status protect people they care about - Women have a need to feel safe and secure with a man before they’ll get romantic with him. This is especially true in the world of Facebook, which has its share of stalkers and pervs.

If you give her the vibe that you’re safe to be around and she feels comfortable with you, it will make it a whole lot easier to get her to your bedroom. Until you meet up with her in person, you’ll want to make her feel comfortable through the way you interact with her on Facebook. You can make a woman feel “safe” with you, in an emotional sense, by bonding with her over topics you’re both interested in.

And you never want to come across as whiny, needy or negative, because these are hallmarks of an insecure guy.

When you show insecurity, it makes her wonder whether you’re a secure, stable, confident guy—which she needs to feel in order to feel attraction. So on Facebook, never throw a hissy fit if a woman doesn't have time to chat with you, or doesn't respond to an email. Don't ever express jealousy or suspicion when you see other guys commenting on her pictures. Be cool.

6. People of high social status are extremely positive

Did you know that your emotions affect others? Negativity destroys an interaction and makes you just horrible to be around in general. People run away from negative individuals, as it's not only boring to be around someone like that, it's depressing.

When you radiate positivity and look at the bright side of things, you naturally become a more attractive guy to be around. Positive energy is infectious.

7. People of high social status are self-fulfilling

A person of high status does not need anything from anyone else. They are not desperate. In fact, the guys who get the most attention from women are the ones that direct their attention at making women feel good.

If women see you as a guy who's FUN to be around, they'll stick with you! On Facebook, you can find all kinds of different ways to put a smile on women's faces, and brighten their mood if they're feeling down.

8. People of high social value are socially intelligent

This is very important for women, especially in the world of Facebook seduction. Remember what I told you before? Women value social status and their interactions with other people in their social ecosystem above everything else.

Getting a grasp of social intelligence is critical. This means developing a "sixth sense" for who are the higher-value people in a social hierarchy, and who are on the lower end of the scale. As a high-value guy, you'll want to build friendships and interact with other high-value people on Facebook.

Once you understand the energy that flows back and forth within social interactions, you can become the leader within social groups.

You will then be the one in control of the interaction.

Now, the bad news that I'm going to say about social intelligence is that most girls have much more social understanding of the situation than you.

The good news is that this skill is easy to develop, and all it takes is for you to start observing social interactions and paying attention to the dynamics.

When you observe a guy in the "real world" chatting with a woman he just met, is he leading the interaction and keeping the conversation flowing? Or is he going along with her flow?

You don't actually need to do much in order to develop an understanding of social interaction.

The next time you go out in a group, watch and observe to see who is the one that is always asking questions in a needy way.

These people have lower social value. In the world of Facebook, these interactions happen a lot faster, and the social dynamics are easier to spot.

Possessing social intelligence also means you are able to "think like a chick" because you understand how women think. You do this by not saying silly things, not doing stupid things, and not making her feel uncomfortable. Rather you are making the women around you laugh, have a good time, and enjoy themselves.

Please note, you don't want to be the comedian or "the funny guy" that women don't take seriously. You want to be the guy that all those girls want to be around, by showing social intelligence.

How do you do this?

By keeping the group together, and engaging everyone's emotional levels by making sure they're involved with the conversation and having fun.

It's as if you are the "drug" of the group—without you, the group is bored and has nothing to do. With you, the group is having fun, and when it's time to bounce to the next spot, you know where to bring them to keep the good times flowing.

9. People of high social status are willing to leave an attractive woman

This is about more than having an “abundance mentality.” You need to let women know that you appreciate them for more than their looks, and that you have standards beyond how good they look. Attractive women have been complimented for their looks since they were 13. You need to stand out.

How do you do this?

Well, you don’t let the women get away with being rude or being a brat.

If she does, you don’t just take it like any other chump.

Rather you are willing to either ignore her, or walk away.

This is exactly how confident, powerful men behave.

They don’t take shit from anyone, and if they receive shit, they don’t accept it. That’s why these people are perceived as being special by our society, and even glorified.

10. People of high social value are non-reactive

When problems arise, low-value men get flustered and upset. High value men either brush the problem aside and smile about it, or handle it immediately.

How you deal with stress, or unexpected problems, is a huge indicator of your social value (and your social intelligence).

If you take a girl on a date, and when you get to the movie theatre the seats are sold out, do you stomp your feet and whine and complain? Or do you say, “No worries, I’ve actually got a much more fun idea for tonight,” and take her by the hand and bring her somewhere else (that really IS more fun than sitting in a dark theatre for two hours?)

If you get upset over the fact that some other guy is chatting with her—whether it’s at a bar, or on Facebook—she knows she has you in the palm of her hand. But if she acts out in such a way, and you act like you don’t give a damn, it tells her you must be something special.

Of course, if she's behaving in a way that is flat-out rude or disrespectful to you, you'll make more of a statement by simply wishing her a good night and leaving!

What you don't want to do is react in a way that shows neediness or insecurity.

You need to disarm beautiful women of their most powerful weapon of mass manipulation...

Their looks.

What you need to do is communicate to her that, yes, she is attractive, you may notice it, but it's not going to change the way you act around her.

If you do this, then you're taking her away her most powerful mechanism of control over men.

Yup that's right, the power that women wield over men is through the use of sexual interest!

You will stand out from other guys because she'll think "who is this guy? I'm hot, and I'm flaunting my goods, other guys are drooling all over me, but he's not affected? He must be some big hot shot." This will in turn make you even more powerful and attractive in the eyes of women.

Remember, people of high social status do not give a damn about what others think and take risks doing what others would consider "crazy."

The most successful people in our world got there by doing the most unconventional things. For example, who would of thought a university drop out would be the founder of one of the world's biggest companies—Microsoft?

The world would be a much different place today if the young Bill Gates took seriously the criticisms other people were directing at him, back when he was a geeky teenager starting his software business in his home garage.

To succeed with women, you have to have the attitude that you don't care about what other girls or guys might think of you.

You have to throw out the thoughts relating to "oh, this girl probably won't be into me, she'll think I'm some weirdo if I try to talk to her..."

Because at the end of the day, it really doesn't matter what other people think. Remember this always:

"You wouldn't care about what other people thought about you, if you knew how little they did."

Let's face it—we live in a self-centered society, where the only thing of importance to most people is their own situation, and their own problems.

In reality, people spend very little time and energy thinking about others.

So really, if you're putting your life on hold because you're worried about what others might think or say about you, then it's time to release yourself from this "mental cage."

The world is your oyster.

Especially in the world of Facebook.

When you start to apply the principles I explained in this chapter, it's as if you're a lion in the animal kingdom.

You dominate the world you live in, and women are drawn to that.

The best thing is that women will become attracted to you, and drawn to you irresistibly.

And the reason will be, like the dating expert David DeAngelo famously said, "Attraction is not a choice."

Women are naturally attracted to high value men, just like how men are drawn to gorgeous-looking women.

In order to attract women you need to show them that you are extremely high value and show that you are a man with high social status and confident with yourself.

Did you notice in our comprehensive list of attractive qualities of a man, I did not once mention looks or money?

It's interesting to note that our society places so much emphasis on men needing to be wealthy, or physically attractive, in order to get beautiful women.

The fact of the matter, however, is that this is simply not true.

We know plenty of very ordinary-looking and even BROKE men who are able to date extremely desirable women.

Attracting women is all about your personality, and the way you present yourself. This is especially true with Facebook.

It has nothing to do with your reflection in the mirror, or how big your wallet is.

This means that if you want to attract women, make sure you don't chase them, and don't let what they say affect you.

Summary of having high social status

If you're perceived to have high social value, then others will recognize that your time and your friendship is valuable.

In the Facebook world, this means that you will be tagged on other people's photos, your profile wall will be busy and full of posts written by attractive girls (and some guys), and you'll be the center of attention.

Once you're getting this attention, the women in your circle will realize that you are an important and valuable person in their social ecosystem, and this will immediately generate interest and sexual desire towards you.

Remember, on Facebook, everything you publicly post will be visible to everyone else on your friends list. So it's important you maintain and keep a good reputation for yourself.

Later on, I'm going to explain the concept of "Environment Engineering." I will show you exactly what you need to say and the kind of photos you need to have on your profile page so that you will be perceived as the guy that all girls want to be with. So stay tuned!

Chapter 3 – Facebook Seduction Idiot Theory (Don't Be Like This Idiot)

In the last chapter I told you about the elements required to attract women, and spark the emotions they need to feel in order to desire you sexually. Now I'll list the qualities that you need to avoid—otherwise, regardless of the positive qualities you have, you're not going to get laid.

In short, to NOT be perceived as an idiot and scare away women you need to NOT be a male of low status—especially on Facebook.

If you do the following, then you'll be demonstrating lower value to women, which means you're actually pushing them away. The more you do these things, the more you're going to repel girls away from you.

1. People of low value status try to seek acceptance -

Don't be like one of those idiot guys who change their Facebook status by asking a stupid question like:

“So what do you think of my new shoes?”

“Just got a new haircut! Does it look good on me?”

“Do you think I can do well in school?”

“Do you think my new band will be successful?”

In short, these guys are trying to find ways to be validated by people from the outside.

The reason why it's risky to seek approval from other people is very simple: it shows that you don't have much confidence in yourself. And this is a trait of low-value men.

You don't want to be perceived for someone like this. Don't ask silly questions and never give the perception that you need validation.

It's worth nothing here, many hot girls on Facebook are known to constantly post new pictures of themselves, especially those “selfie” shots where they show off their bodies in a mirror.

These girls, despite how attractive they are, are showing insecurity! The reason they post these pictures is to get validation, in the form of likes and comments. These girls can be easier to seduce than you think—if you playfully tease them, act indifferent to their looks, and make them wonder if they meet your high standards.

Here's an example:

Weak Move: “Maybe if you're not busy sometime, we could hang or something.”

Strong Move: “I can tell we've got some chemistry...but there are still some things I'd like to find out about you, so I'm going to take you out for pizza and we can chat more.”

Not only does this reverse the situation, and makes you beam with confidence, the statement is worded in a way that makes the interaction and conversation both arousing and interesting at the same time.

There's always a way to re-word a weak question to get a positive outcome.

2. People of low social value are extremely predictable

Have you noticed that the men who fail with women always seem the same in terms of personality?

It's as if they came out of the same factory and the least intriguing, least entertaining and least fun to be around.

I'm sure you've had friends like this before—whenever you want to do something fun, they have no interest in taking part, and they just sit back and watch.

This not only makes their presence useless (I mean, what's the point of being there if they don't want to be there) but they also kill the joy in the situation and are essentially “kill joys.”

You do not want to be seen as the guy who's a kill joy, as this demonstrates super low value.

3. People of low value status BUY what they can't EARN

This is the MAIN reason why even rich guys can't get girls.

A big problem for most men is they think that they can purchase the affection of women - this is wrong!

Please understand you cannot BUY approval.

Have you ever paused for a moment to think that everything you can spend money on to purchase is actually more in abundance than things you get for free?

You can always buy a new house, a new car and a new boat...

You can always buy more of these items with more money.

But you know what you can't buy with money, no matter how much of it you have?

Your friends, your family and your parents.

You cannot replace any of these with money, regardless of how much of it you have.

It's ironic that our society places so much emphasis on things money can buy. But in reality, they are much more easily replaceable than things that cash cannot exchange.

So how does this help you get laid on Facebook?

Let's talk about this in terms of seduction.

You can't BUY approval and real love from women.

This means you should not spend a lot of money on women unless you have the ability to attract them with your personality in the first place.

If women are not attracted to you in the first place, but you try and make up for this by throwing money at her, such as giving them gifts in order to seek their attraction – when they don't deserve it, then they will know that you are trying to purchase their affection which turns you to be like every other guy.

By actively trying to buy their approval this means that you actually lose the sexual value in their eyes.

I'm not saying you should be a total jerk and not spend money at all.

I mean, if it's her birthday or she actually legitimately deserves you buying a present, then you should do it, but please give gifts in proportion to your relationship status to the woman.

Don't buy jewelry for women you are not having sex with.

Don't buy a girl a phone if she's not in a relationship with you.

Chances are the more sexual the relationship the more expensive your present can be.

If you're not sleeping with her, stay away from expensive jewelry and rings and the like.

In order to be THE MAN and attract women, you need to be able to seduce a woman without spending cash on them - how to do this?

You do this with your personality, and on Facebook your profile page should be a reflection of who you really are.

4. People of low value status dislike what they cannot get

The “sour grapes” syndrome is a symptom of low social status people. They will complain or talk shit about things that they cannot do or obtain. For example, a guy might actually hate very attractive women, because he could never date one.

Or if you talk to some ugly women, they might hate other attractive women. Why? Because she feels inferior to other girls who are prettier than her. This shows extreme low confidence and low value, and it is something you want to avoid.

5. People of low value are not socially stupid

If you want to get girls in bed from Facebook, you need to understand how to calibrate yourself in social situations. Especially if the girl you are targeting is hot and has a lot of friends.

Why?

Because essentially, in order to bed women from Facebook you have to be better at playing the “social hierarchy” game than them!

It’s important for a guy to understand that social value and social intelligence is very important to women. I’ve mentioned this in many parts of this book, but I have to mention it again.

An example of being not socially intelligent is having a lame Facebook profile (wait till you see the ones that I have lined up for you), one that is not “girl-friendly.”

Another example of social stupidity is trying too much to touch women in general, or touching them too often when you don’t know them well enough.

Social intelligence is probably one of the biggest keys for any men to attract women, after extreme confidence.

6. People of low value are dependent on the outcome and care too much about things that don't matter

Have you ever noticed the guys who make “getting pussy” their sole purpose in life have the least amount of fun, and are the least pleasant to be around?

Why?

Because, they make getting pussy the entire goal, and if they fail to meet a woman they like or they do not pickup they get angry and disappointed.

They do not understand that getting sex from girls should only be ONE part of their life.

Your primary goal should be having fun and enjoying your own life, while meeting new women at the same time.

You have to enjoy the process and that's more important!

Remember, the focus here is you!

I'm not saying meeting women shouldn't be a big part of your life, but if seduction and pickup is all you have going for your life then you're in big trouble.

If your only purpose in life is to pickup or score with women, then chances are you're going to care too much about what a woman says or thinks – then end up being too attached to her!

If you do that then you are handing all your power over to women.

You are losing value and admitting to her that she's better than you.

Instead, when you are on Facebook chatting up girls, you shouldn't actually care about the outcome too much. Rather you should be chilled and enjoying the process of chatting to her, and having fun with it.

If your happiness depends on whether or not you get a positive or negative response from the girls you chat up on Facebook, then the girl you're talking to will become too important to you.

Once this happens, you're going to start losing attractiveness immediately.

Women around you will realize that whatever they do will affect you emotionally. This means, you'll be reactive to her, then she will be in control, thus making you less attractive.

Let's imagine you add a sexy girl as a friend on Facebook who is a great girl who's extremely friendly, not to mention sexy as hell.

You hit it off and then you feel like the two of you have a great connection, so you ask for her number and then she gives it to you.

It's as if everything is going really well, then you invite her to go to your place.

She politely declines, you then suddenly get disconnected but when you finally get back online 5 minutes later she disappears or becomes unresponsive.

You give her number a call and realize that it's the wrong number.

You send her a few messages and still she's unresponsive.

What happens next to you is based on the way you perceive things.

If you're "outcome dependent," you start thinking in negative terms. "Man, that girl just gave me a fake number"... "I can't believe she pretended to like me..." and then, other toxic thoughts start clogging up your mind.

You start getting angry and upset, and you begin venting on your Facebook profile.

Instead of having a great time on Facebook, you decide to go turn off your computer and start replaying the images of your perceived rejection in your head over and over again.

Then the next day, the same girl initiates contact with you on Facebook and you start swearing at her, she starts getting defensive and the two of you start having an electronic shouting match.

Sounds like a bad ending, right?

But, if you were focused on having a great time, things would have been different.

What if she didn't give you the wrong number, but you typed it in your phone incorrectly?

What if she declined to go to your place because she was having her period?

What if she actually did like you but since you went offline first, she just thought you weren't coming back and left her Facebook profile online?

What if the next day when she messaged and instead of you getting mad at her you were smooth and fun, you just might have been able to seduce her!

Do you see what I'm getting at?

Being outcome focused only makes you more negative. You start focusing your thoughts to think of the worst possible outcome, it not only ruins your own day, it makes people around you miserable as well!

7. People of low value chase all the time

Do not do this! You don't want not to be seen as the guy who actively chases ALL the time. Women who actively chase men are called sluts because they LOSE value by giving other men sex.

It's the same for men. If you're a guy who actively chases women all the time, you will lose value extremely quickly!

In the world of Facebook, actively "chasing" a girl is when you are writing tons of comments all over her profile wall, or commenting on 50 of her past photos.

This is even worse when you are NOT in a romantic relationship with her.

So if you're doing this, please stop right now.

What you need to do instead is chase, bait then wait.

You should chase a little and see if the woman reacts, if she reciprocates and then you chase a little bit more, and if her reaction is positive, then you reward her by doing a little more. As you can see this cycles on and on, on and off.

An example of this on Facebook is, maybe you message her a few times to, and then stop. You want to see if she reciprocates and initiates contact with you. If she does, you can continue with the interaction and perhaps invite her out to meet her for ice cream.

What you don't want to end up becoming is the guy who messages her so much that she ends up pretending to be busy, but then later you find her chatting with everyone else but you.

You don't want to be seen as a man adrift in the ocean and hanging onto a piece of wood, who will never let go. Why is the man doing this? It's because he is desperate and knows if he lets go he will die.

The same principle applies here. You want to let her know that you're a guy who's popular with the ladies. She's privileged to be spending time with you, and you'll give her more interest if she behaves the way you like – but you're willing to walk away anytime she does something stupid, or if she begins to bore you.

You know you could show her a great time, but you're perfectly fine to be without her. That is what a true alpha and dominant man is like.

In short, the distinction between a successful seducer and an average chump is the way these two people think. The mindset that you have in your head dictates your outcome.

People who are successful at life and also in seduction have a predominantly positive mindset, thus they are able to act in the ways that I listed in the previous chapter to demonstrate extremely high value.

Whereas, people who fail at dating have a predominantly negative mindset, and they display the characteristics that I just explained in this chapter.

Chapter 4 - 5 Types Of Facebook Idiots

Now I'm going to show you some actual Facebook profiles of REAL guys on Facebook. (Seriously, they're real!)

No wonder there are so many girls who turn their profile on "private" nowadays. It's all because of the kind of idiots that I'm going to show you.

Creepy Profile Countdown - Number 5. "Mirror mirror on the wall"

Not only does this idiot have NOTHING on his Facebook profile but a pic of himself, but the only picture is one of him lifting his shirt. It's as if he thinks he's a "hot girl" and can get away with a "sexy self pic" in the mirror.

Please, do NOT be like this guy.

This is the most common mistake I see guys making nowadays. Facebook is FULL of them. I don't know about you, but I feel that taking photos in front of the mirror definitely jeopardizes your manliness.

I don't care how awesome your body is and how ripped you are.

You're not a sexy girl. You don't have boobs.

Girls initially began doing this, now there are tons of guys taking photos in front of restroom mirrors lifting their t-shirts.

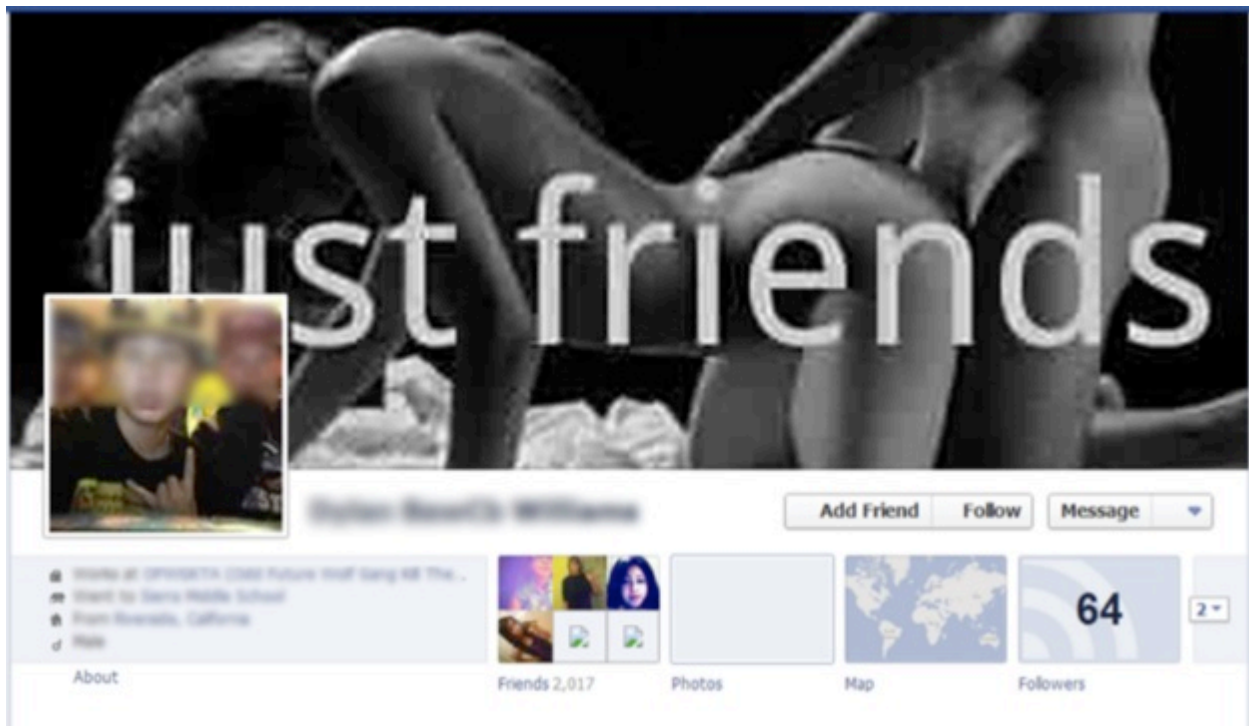

Remember, the only reason why girls can get away with this is because they are sexy and have boobs.

Yes, it's a fact that some women do love abs but this guy needs to understand that abs are different from boobs, and lifting your shirt like that to take picture makes you look GAY and NOT hot.

Sincerely people, please find a decent spot to take your pictures at, and if need to, please find someone else to take them for you.

If you do have a good body and you do want to showcase how awesome it is, make sure you do it in a way that doesn't scream "I'm GAY." You can incorporate "action shots" of yourself. For example you might be playing beach volleyball or basketball shirtless. That gives you a good excuse to take off your shirt without blatantly looking like a homosexual and it also allows you to display yourself doing something manly and cool.

Creepy Profile Countdown - Number 4: "HELLO I'm A PERV":

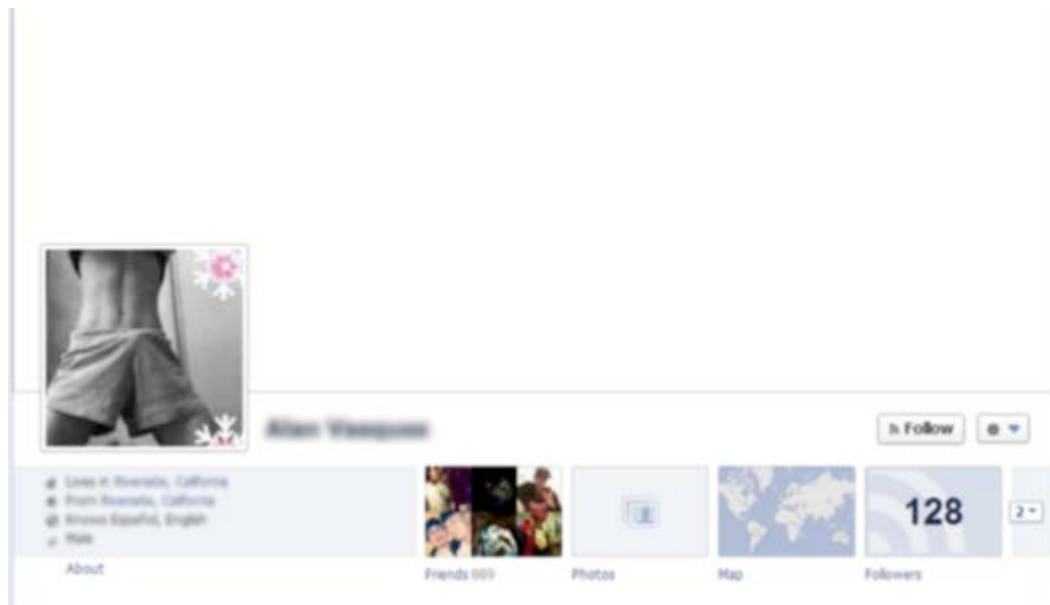

Ok, I take it that this jackass just discovered "internet porn" and he just has got to let the world know every chance he gets right?

I guess he tried to make it look less sleazy by making the cover photo "black and white" to try and be artistic. He also attempted to make it less perverted by adding "just friends" text in front of the image, but it's still sleazy as heck. At the end of the day his profile page is still screaming to women "I JUST WANT SEX."

This guy is 100% NOT going to get laid and hot women are NOT going to accept his friend request.

I kid you not, these are REAL profile pictures of guys out there on Facebook.

Take a look at this one:

Ok so this guy has a BLANK cover photo, it wouldn't be that bad if it wasn't for the fact that the SINGLE photo he has of himself, has a man who is lifting up his shirt (remember creepy profile mistake number 5), but also this guy has a massive erection through his pants.

Do I even need to explain how this is simply going to scare women away?

I'm not telling you to hide your sexual desires.

No, you should want to have sex with hot women. That's just natural, but please if you want to actually GET sex with attractive girls you have to come across as NOT a total pervert who gives off the impression that he is addicted to internet porn.

Everyone has a perverted side but it's never a good idea to highlight that on your profile like this. Hot women will never want to accept a friend request from a person as perverted.

Heck, if my friends were like that, I'd unfriend them too!

Creepy Profile Countdown - Number 3: "The Sexuality Disaster"

I know when it comes to attraction it's important to let women know that you have something in common that you both like.

For example, you might both like dogs or you might both enjoy dancing.

But let me make something very clear.

If you let girls think that you also like other guys, then you're going to have a big problem getting laid (unless it's with another guy).

Although it is true that a lot of young women are crazy for Justin Bieber and One Direction, it doesn't mean you have to be crazy for them either.

I know a lot of female Bieber fans who find male Bieber fans creepy as hell.

If you attempt something like this on your profile thinking that women may welcome you, think again 'cause this is as gay as gay gets. I mean, seriously when your Facebook profile looks like your 8 year old sister chose your cover photos, then you sir are not going to get laid.

I guarantee it!

Creepy Profile Countdown - Number 2: "Too Cool To Function"

Later, I'll elaborate about "environmental engineering." In a nutshell, it means creating a profile that presents you in the best possible light.

This includes applying the basic rules of English. I understand that nowadays, some young people think it looks somewhat "cool" or "edgy" to constantly misspell words, use abbreviations, etc. (You can blame the rise of texting for this.)

But unless you're a teenager, this style of "writing" will look immature and stupid to most women. Women with an IQ above room temperature, at least.

The screenshot on the right (the words are blurred out to protect this particular idiot's privacy) shows one of the worst "About" sections we've come across (the section of your profile where you describe yourself and your interests).

Every other word is terribly misspelled. The grammar is mangled and it rambles on forever.

Here's a short sample:

Wzup my peeps... Yo my Name's Dexter u can call me D-NICE...im just chillin and gettin that money u feel me?? ... I like kickin it wit my homies and getting my drink on...holla at me if u want to chill or sumthin... (blah blah blah blah)

If you can't spell and present your thoughts in a coherent manner, then your profile is definitely not going to help you get laid—unless your target audience consists of teenage hoodrats who would blow you for free tickets to a Lil' Wayne concert.

As soon as any girl takes a look at a page like this, they'll assume the guy is a moron. They won't be able to take him seriously.

If you can't spell and present your thoughts in a coherent manner, then your profile is definitely not going to help you get laid—unless your target audience consists of teenage hoodrats who would blow you for free tickets to a Lil' Wayne concert.

Remember, your Facebook profile should be where you make yourself look totally awesome and F&#KABLE! If you can't do that on a page that you have total control over, then how else are you going to expect to get girls to want to sleep with you?

Creepy Profile Countdown - Number 1: "I AM A SERIAL KILLER"

And the winner of the world's creepiest profile is...THIS PSYCHO!

If you're able to communicate to women, "Hi, I'm a wanna-be serial killer and I'd like to skin you and turn you into a lampshade"—without even needing to speak to them—then congratulations, you're a Level 100 in terms of creepiness.

I understand this poor lost soul went through a lot of pain and effort carving massive gashes into his own arm, but using it as his profile cover wall is just conveying the message "STAY THE F#*K AWAY FROM ME!"

Ok, MAYBE some women might feel some sympathy this guy, but I'm pretty sure it's the same sympathy they get when they see an inmate from some psychiatric center.

To some people, cutting yourself may be a way of coping with major depression. But keep anything of this nature away from your Facebook profile.

In fact, unless you're hoping to hook up with brooding "Goth" chicks, refrain from posting any negative subject matter on your profile. Keep it upbeat. Portray yourself as a fun, positive guy who leads an interesting, exciting lifestyle. This will draw far more (quality) women to you than a profile that focuses on gloom and doom.

Remember, Make Yourself "TOTALLY F*#KABLE"

Women are delicate, and have a complicated way of thinking. The first thing they look for in a man is whether or not this man has basic social intelligence.

After that, women want to know that they can feel safe with you.

The five (frighteningly awful) profiles I showed you immediately fail these basic tests!

Sure, women appreciate guys who have a sense of humor. And they like honesty, too. Being clever with your profile information and being honest does help you out with girls a bit more.

But even if deep down you are a pervert, you're gay, you have serial killer tendencies, or you can't construct a proper sentence in English, it's not a good idea to broadcast these messages to the women you want to seduce on Facebook.

All of these guys are unknowingly using their profiles to blast out one very clear message to women:

“I’M A LOW SOCIAL STATUS MALE.”

And remember, girls are wired to want to sleep with men who are HIGH social status.

So you definitely do not want to be seen as one of these guys. Instead, What you NEED to do in order to get laid is blend elements of high social status and humor into your profile you can do this through environment engineering by choosing the right photos to post or and writing “girl friendly” biography information.

One last point: it’s important to keep in mind that you don’t want to be seen as a showoff. The idea is to let ANYONE who visits your profile (whether they are male or female) instantly think you’re a happy, well-liked guy with a lot of positive things going on for yourself. Once you’re able to project that kind of vibe, your chances of getting laid on Facebook will skyrocket.

Isolation Aftereffects

At this point I want to explain to you a big mistake that a lot of guys end up making, without realizing it.

At least 85% of men have fallen victim to this mistake at least once in their Facebook careers. Only about 10% of these guys eventually “get it” and correct their mistake.

I’m talking about the feeling that you’re totally invisible to women, and anything you do or say will be ignored or barely acknowledged.

This is when guys stop caring about how they portray themselves to strangers on Facebook, because they think it doesn’t matter.

This leads to endlessly commenting and writing messages on the profile walls and photos of women they’d love to have sex with—saying corny, desperate or downright pathetic things because they figure they’ll just be ignored, anyway.

If you ever post comments on the pictures of hot girls you haven't communicated with, don't make another comment until you read this next part.

Remember, Facebook is the world's largest online social ecosystem. Each hot girl on Facebook has her own community in which she lives, and wants to thrive in.

The more attractive the girl, the more "delicate" her social habitat is.

Living in her social space are the following participants:

- a. A few dominant alpha men who she'll want to sleep with - These are the types of guys she would publicly admit to the world that she has been with. For example, if she went on a date with one of the men in this category she would post up photos of the date and tag them both.
- b. A bunch of loser guys - these are her "friends" that she isn't interested in sexually and avoid publicly, but are obliged to be nice to (because maybe these guys know her brother, or went to school with her, so she wants to at least be polite).
- c. More guys in the "friends zone" - these are the guys who are "kind of" cool to hang out with, but not nearly cool enough for her to publicly admit to dating.
- d. "Creepy profile stalkers" - these are usually dudes who she accidentally added in the past out of stupidity or compulsion. She would never communicate with them, unless telling them to "fk off" after they post a perverted comment.
- e. Random regular guys - these guys are "normal" in her eyes. They haven't been upgraded to her "dominant alpha men" category, but they also haven't been downgraded to the other non-desirable categories...yet.
- f. Some attractive female friends - these are the girls she probably interacts with on a daily basis who are in her same social class. She needs to maintain her reputation and social standing with this crowd.
- g. Other ugly girls - these are girls who she probably considers to be beneath her social class, but she might be friendly with them. Examples would be college classmates, or girls she works with, but doesn't hang out with socially. Still, she wouldn't want to be embarrassed in front of them.

Now for the guys who don't know what class they are in, here's the general rule: unless you know a girl already, you will immediately be classified as a "random regular guy" until you do something really cool (and get an upgrade) or stupid or creepy (and get downgraded).

If you start posting too many messages on the profile walls of women, or commenting on too many photos of hers without receiving any sort of "flirtatious" indication that she might be interested in you, then you're going to be downgraded to the "creepy profile stalker" class.

However, girls aren't going to tell you that you've been downgraded. A lot of guys will continue to dig their own graves after being unknowingly downgraded, posting lame stuff on her profile and absolutely KILLING whatever microscopic chance they might have had of scoring with her.

Remember, all of the messages you send and write on her wall are publicly visible. This is also the case with your comments. As soon as you do this, everyone within her own Facebook ecosystem becomes updated, due to Facebook's automatic notification feature.

So what normally happens next is the guys in the "Friends Zone" and "Creepy Profile Stalker" class try to "out compete" one another for her attention. This leaves a trail of idiots who end up writing loser comments the length of patentable thesis' all over her wall.

This is extremely embarrassing for the "hot girl" because other women in her social class who she needs to get respect from will make fun of her "loser friends." She will then lose her position in her social hierarchy. To further rub injury to her wound she'll also lose her sexual desirability from the guys who she DOES want to sleep with.

This is one core reason why "hot girls" end up setting their profile privacy setting on "private" to avoid this kind of social embarrassment.

Now what happens to the guys who were trying to "out comment" each other on her profile wall?

Put simply, they will be looked down upon by not only this hot girl, but ALL the women in her social ecosystem.

As a consequence from publicly trying to show their affection and "making a move" they would then suffer from the "Isolation Aftereffects", because now any "messages" or "comments" these guys write on any wall of a female will trigger the “Loser Avoidance” Alert for other girls in the social circle who also don’t want to be publicly embarrassed.

So have you ever wondered why you were getting ignored and treated as if you were invisible? It’s because of the “Isolation Aftereffects” voiding your validity as a “guy she might want to fk.”

That’s why you need to seriously stop sending comments or writing on walls of hot women right now.

Before you spam another hot girl with a “boring and generic” message, you need to read the next few chapters so that you’ll discover how to revamp your profile to make yourself immediately appears as one of the alpha men she wants to be with.

Chapter 5: Engineering Your Seduction Profile

I'm going to begin this chapter with some moral advice regarding your character. When you look into the mirror that person you see is different from all the other ten billion people in the world.

He has been given a free mind alongside free will, he has his own unique way of thinking, understanding and prescribing the world around him. This ability distinguishes person by person.

The Royal Bengal Tiger is known to be the one of the strongest and fiercest animal in the world. Its nature, consistency and strength are far beyond most other animals. This creature has chosen to defy the rules of the jungle and dominate unlike any other. All other tigers in the world are afraid of the water and remain as far from it as possible.

But the Bengal Tiger has broken all barriers put in front of him and taught himself how to swim. While other tigers attack from hiding spots, he can attack his prey head-on.

You are to do exactly the same. In order to achieve success, you have to build a personality and presence that is strong enough to make you stand apart from the rest of the pack.

Developing and enhancing your personality can continue throughout your lifetime. The more you see, feel and experience in this world, the more you can grow—and more positive qualities and experiences you can share through your Facebook profile, and display to women.

So in this chapter, we'll talk about things you can do with your profile to showcase the most positive aspects of your personality and lifestyle. This is important because you're going to develop a Facebook profile that reflects the "best" version of you.

Environment Engineering

Firstly, I want to explain to you a very basic concept but one that is often neglected by most guys on Facebook. It's probably one of the biggest reasons as to why men fail at getting laid online.

Most of the guys who fail don't understand the idea of "environment engineering."

You have to remember, everything on your Facebook profile is completely within your control. You choose the status updates you post, you select the photos you upload, you decide what kind of friends you want, you are the one that chooses to control what to write on your own wall or your friends wall.

This means you have total control over your seduction environment.

Your Seduction Environment = Your Facebook Profile.

Women like most guys take probably 5 seconds to judge a profile and determine whether or not this guy is someone they'd sleep with. So you have to make sure that you present yourself and control all the elements within your Facebook profile to make them totally want to bang you within 5 seconds of looking at your profile.

Only allow things on your profile wall that will make you look better. In short, anything that increases your social value should be accepted. Likewise, anything that decreases your social value should be edited or rejected.

This is a simple enough idea, right? But there are SO MANY GUYS who simply forget to understand the fact that Facebook is pretty much a public place where their friends hang out.

There are so many guys out there who just write stupid meaningless messages on the walls of other girls.

There are so many guys who constantly update their status with generic spam that shows women that they have nothing going on in their life.

There are so many guys who subconsciously repel women and do not understand the simple concept of environment engineering.

In this chapter I will explain to you each feature and element on your Facebook profile wall and then provide you with environment engineering do's and don'ts. This will probably be the fastest and easiest way to revamp your profile to make you desirable to any girl who crosses your profile.

How Facebook works:

Facebook brings many of the aspects of our society online. On Facebook, you have a profile that represents you. Your profile will contain different information and media of you and your friends. In essence, Facebook is the online version of your social hierarchy. It tells people who are your "friends" and the way you interact with other people in this "popularity" based ecosystem will determine whether or not you get laid.

Later in this guide we'll go through the functions and features of Facebook in detail, but here's a brief overview of how it works.

When you use Facebook the idea is that you want to interact and socialize with other people. Normally, in order to connect with another profile you have to be friends with that profile (but I'll show you how to meet girls who are not your friends first later).

This is done by the option each profile has of sending a friend request to another. Each profile will have the option to either approve or dismiss the friend request. Once it has been approved you become friends with that profile and it gets added to your friend list.

Once you have become someone's friend. Another variety of communication methods are granted to both the profiles.

How Facebook works may sound complex when reading about it in a book. But you'll realize that it's as easy as drinking from a straw when you join and start connecting. Just follow this link to www.facebook.com and complete the sign up process. You'll then have your very own profile, and be ready to begin.

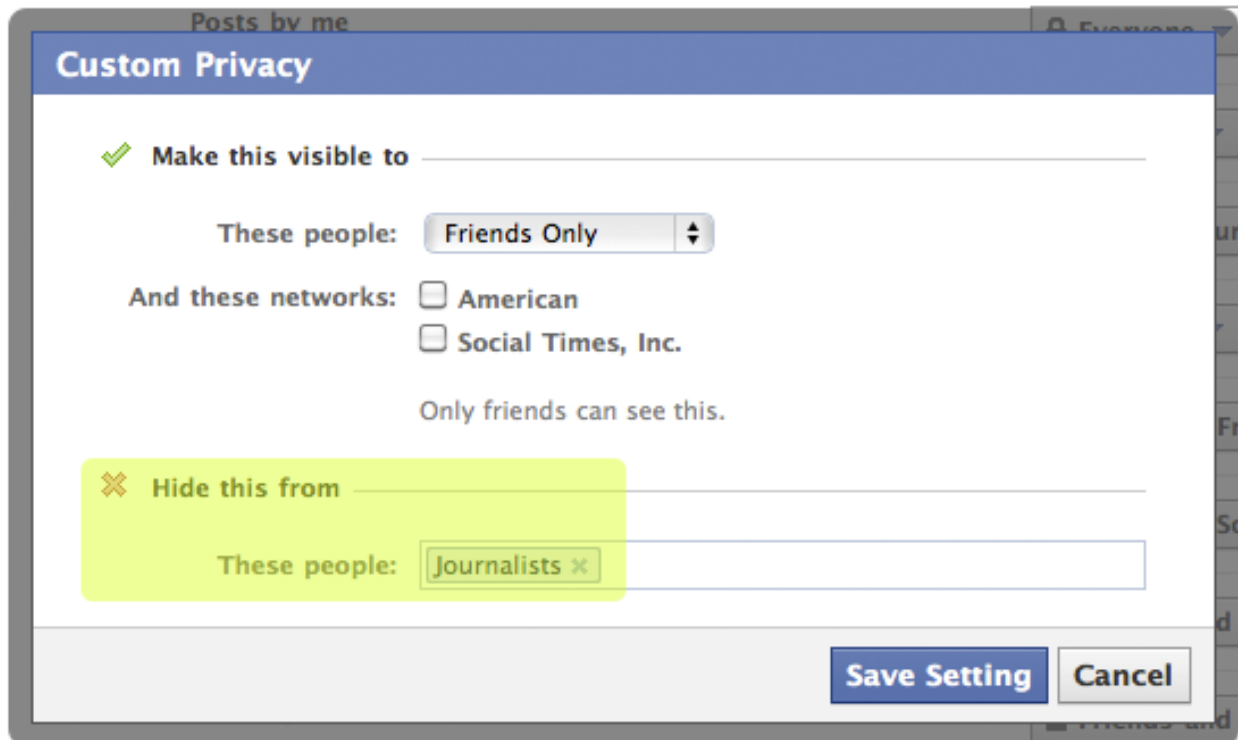

Privacy:

Privacy settings are basically how you chose to connect with other profiles. You can fix who can see what part of your profile, comment on your posts or send you a friend request.

As a guy, this isn't important for you to turn on, but you need to know this thing exists.

Why?

Because you'll soon find out that a lot of sexy and attractive girls on Facebook have their settings on Private. This means you're going to have to know how to get around that setting in order to seduce them.

How to engineer your environment so that you present yourself in a sexy female “friendly” manner

This is probably one of the most important sections in this book. If you choose to ignore all my suggestions, make sure you do NOT neglect making the changes that I advise in the following section.

I will show you how to revamp your profile and engineer your seduction environment so that most women will literally look at your profile page and get moist whilst clicking through it.

Status updates:

Status updates are a way to let your friends know what’s going on around you. Posts can be status updates, photos, videos or posted links you put on your Timeline. People can see your posts and friends have the choice to like or comment on them.

Awesome status updates will gain popularity and the more people like or comment on it the more peoples’ newfeed it’s going to get to.

If you are able to post awesome updates more frequently, you'll be increasing your popularity with hot girls day by day without even noticing.

Environment Engineering Tips For Status Updates

Do's:

- a. Your goal is to come up with status updates that people will like and want to comment on. Some of the best subjects for updates relate to personal motivation; interesting stuff in the news (nothing too depressing or controversial, so avoid politics and religion); lifestyle; trips to interesting places; or jokes.
- b. Try to update your status with something that includes your friends. That way they'll be commenting, and your update will go to their friends' newsfeeds. This is a good way for your best updates to be widely seen (by lots of women).
- c. "Motivational" updates are great. When you're able to inspire people or brighten their day with your words, they'll appreciate it. Try to come up with something people can relate to.
- d. People love to laugh. Whenever a funny status update makes people chuckle, your post is going to get "likes." Don't go with jokes that a lot of people may have already heard. When you hear something funny and not so common, post it on your profile. If you ever bump into a hilarious incident, be sure to share it with your friends with a status update.

Don'ts:

- a. It's a bad idea to steal other peoples' status updates. Unless of course they're quotes or sayings. Even if they are, it's going to look very cheap on your Timeline when people who've seen the same thing on someone else's see it there. So, don't ever directly copy and paste someone else's update.
- b. A LOT of people on Facebook go on posting lyrics from the latest hit songs on their status updates. I used to do it, but later realized it wasn't really a good idea. People have obviously already heard the song, so there's no reason for them to be interested in your update.
- c. The worst kind of mistake people make regarding updating their status is trying to show people how miserable or depressed they are.. Weird creepy status updates about how you want to kill yourself aren't a good way of asking for attention.
- d. Do not update your status constantly, because it shows the world that you have nothing else going in your life but create meaningless updates with your time.

Likes and Comments:

Facebook also gives you the ability to publicly announce your opinions and preferences to your friends.

Whenever one of your friends publishes a post, you have the option to "Like" it. You can also type a comment underneath the post that can be seen by the creator of the post, and anyone else who visits their profile.

When I started using Facebook, you could only "like" status updates and posts—but today, the "like" option also comes with the ability to add a comment.

At this point, I want to make something clear. Because other people can see the comments that you make, and the comments that other people make in regards to you, you'll need to learn how to manage a "good reputation" and present yourself in a "female friendly" manner if you want to get girls on Facebook.

Anything you do or say will now be announced to the world via Facebook notifications, so make sure you don't make yourself look bad!

The screenshot shows a Facebook interface. At the top, a post by Manas Bhatnagar and 2 other friends is shared. The post features a video thumbnail with a play button and the text: "The groom doesnt wanna waste a second in updating his FB status" with a length of 1:35. Below the video, it says "22 hours ago · Share".

Below the video, a comment from Manas Bhatnagar asks: "Guess at which point will this take place in an Indian wedding?" with "22 hours ago · 1 Comment · 1 Like".

Underneath, a comment from Priyank Agarwal says "likes this." followed by a comment from Akshay Pathar: "in an indian wedding he'll be giving a live updates feed .. actually i wonder if i shud do that at my wedding :D ... gud opportunity to try it out ... live bloggins ur own wedding :D" with "22 hours ago · Like".

Below this is a text input field labeled "Write a comment...".

Next is a comment from Vivek Gopalpuria: "FB before everything" with "11 hours ago · Comment · Like".

Below that, a comment from Jayesh Agarwal says "this reminds me of my dear friend hitesh !!!!!" with "18 hours ago · 1 Comment · 4 Likes".

Underneath, a comment from Jayesh Agarwal and 3 others says "likes this." followed by a comment from Bharath Dandla: "amazing..!" with "14 hours ago · Like".

At the bottom is another text input field labeled "Write a comment...".

Environment Engineering Tips For Likes and Comments:

Do's:

- a. Only comment on a hot girl's profile if she has flirted with you before, and you know that you might have a chance with her sexually.
- b. When you make a comment, be sure to make it either witty or funny. Boring meaningless comments that do not incite a response from her will probably not get you any bonus marks
- c. If you comment on something, you can also like it, but only AFTER you have commented on it

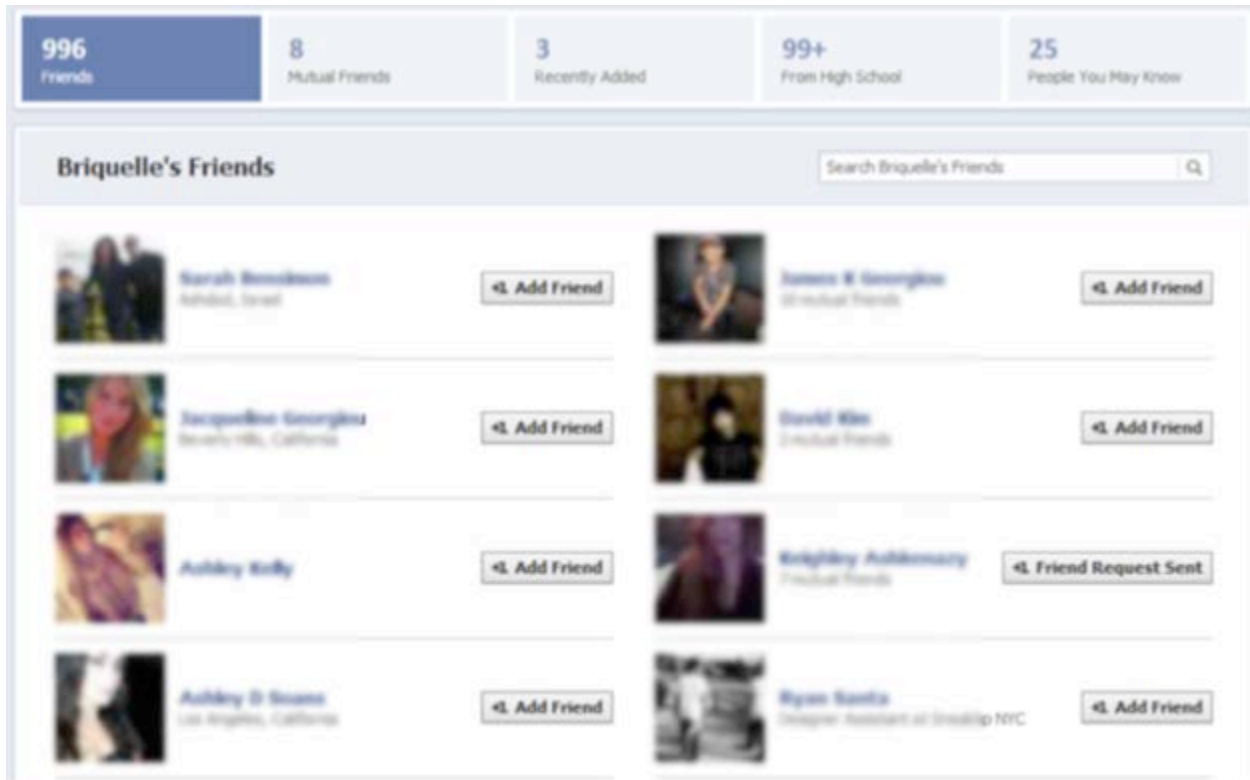

Don'ts:

- a. Don't comment on a hot girl's profile publicly like most other idiots. Make sure when you do comment or like her profile updates it's because you know you are F*#K material in her eyes.
- b. Do not make more than 2 comments on a particular thread unless she has actually responded to you directly.
- c. Do not write boring things that do not render a response. Comments like "you're sexy" or "lol" really serve no purpose but show her that she's better than you, that's why you're kissing her ass and giving her more attention than she deserves.

Friends and Mutual Friends:

Friends are people who you have added or who have added you (the process of sending a friend request is add). Note that in order to be friends that friend request has to be accepted.

A mutual friend is a "friend of one of your friends." It's a friend you share with someone, even if the two of you don't know each other.

Environment Engineering Tips For Friends and Mutual Friends:

Do's:

- a. Only add friends or mutual when you have revamped your profile and you know that you have engineered a great seduction environment.
- b. When you add a mutual friend, it's a good idea to ask her how they know the friend that is connecting the both of you.

Don'ts:

- a. Don't try to get too many "mutual friends" to be your friend unless the person who knows both of you has something positive and nice to say about you. Otherwise, you're going to be seen as a creepy dude who adds girls for no reason.

Tags:

When people update their status or post something, they can tag your name there to give the impression that you were with him. While commenting, you usually tag the person you're taking to or about. Tags are however are nowadays mostly used just to show the post to them.

The image shows the 'Timeline and Tagging' settings page on Facebook. It contains several settings with dropdown menus:

- Who can post on your timeline? Friends
- Who can see what others post on your timeline? Custom
- Review posts friends tag you in before they appear on your timeline? On
- Who can see posts you've been tagged in on your timeline? Friends
- Review tags friends add to your own posts on Facebook? Off
- Who sees tag suggestions when photos that look like you are uploaded? Friends

At the bottom right of the settings area is a 'Done' button. Below the settings area, there are links for 'your settings for ads, apps, games and websites' and 'Edit Settings'.

Facebook's photo tagging option is very original. Suppose you've uploaded a group photo of you with a bunch of your friends.

You can now add a tag of their Facebook profiles to their faces on the photo.

This is what the feature is meant for however people on Facebook use it for other reasons. For example when someone uploads a photo of anything, as long as they want you to see it, like it, comment on it or whatever they tag you in it.

This makes whatever photo they tagged as you appear on your wall and it becomes your photo.

Their intention is to show you the photo and induce you to say something in the comments field underneath that photo. So once you know this secret, you can start tagging images (any image) to make someone see a picture that you want them to see, without obviously sending it to them.

Isn't this sneaky?

When a friend tags you in one of the photos he or she uploaded that photo instantly gets a uploaded into your photos section on Facebook.

The photos tab on your Timeline, abbreviated 'photos of you' are where your tagged photos go to. You need to know the difference between a photo you upload and the photos in 'photos of you'.

They're not the same. While photos you've uploaded go to your albums tab inside your photos the photos of you part only holds photos you have been tagged in.

Environment Engineering Tips For Tagged Photos:

Do's:

- a. If you have a really cool image you want to show someone, but you don't want to make a direct comment about it, you can tag that

- b. Get your friends to tag photos of you that make you look like a high social status male.

Don'ts:

- a. Don't get tagged for doing anything stupid or that will make you look bad. Remember, your profile is public and people who check this section can see what you have been up to.
- b. Don't use the tagging photo option to send a girl too many unrelated images, otherwise this will be perceived as being spammy and this makes you annoying. A few times is ok, but don't make this a habit.

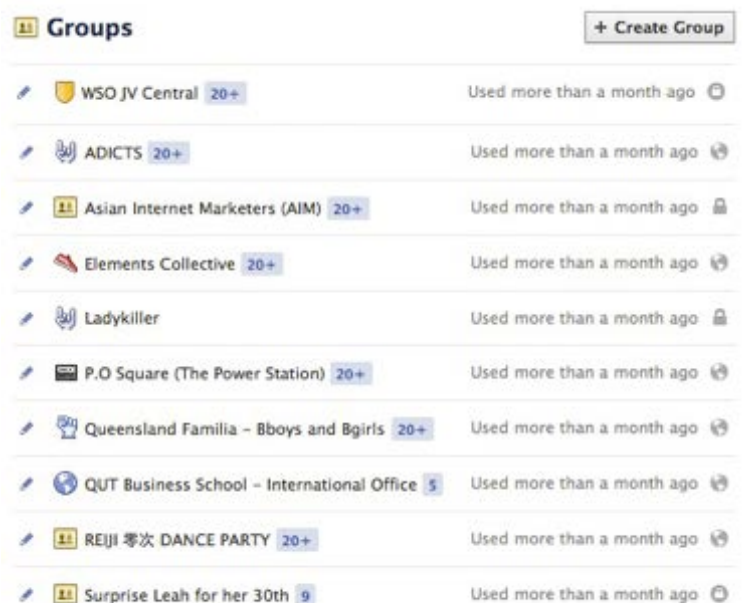

Groups and Pages:

A person sets up groups so that other Facebook profiles can sign up and join or become part of. People have the option to request and join groups. The group admins approve their request.

The creator of the group himself is the admin of the group and has the power to promote members to admins. Group members can post on the group.

Pages are similar. Bands, public figures, brands and organizations make Facebook Pages to connect with their fans or followers.

Page administrators post on behalf on that page. Fans of that Page can only post on its Timeline.

Environment Engineering Tips For Groups and Pages:

Do's:

- a. Only sign up for groups or become fans of pages for things that will increase your perceived social value.
- b. Provide positive comments and contributions when you sign up for groups to get more popularity and become noticed by the hot girls in your group.
- c. Create your own group or page if possible for a good cause. This way you have a good "opening" to talk to random girls and see if the two of you have a mutual connection. This gives you a "non sleazy excuse" to chat up girls without obviously hitting on them.

Don'ts:

- a. Don't become a participant of a group unless you know it's going to make your profile more desirable. I know it may be funny to join a bunch of "stupid and immature" groups as there are so many on Facebook, but remember whatever group you sign up for tells women something about you.
- b. Don't join too many groups, otherwise you'll be seen as a group whore.
- c. Don't be negative, critical or say depressing things when you join a group. If you don't like a group, simply don't join it. There's nothing worse than having someone join a group they openly hate just for the purposes of inciting a reaction from other people.
- d. Don't come across as joining groups solely for the purpose of meeting girls. Even if that were the case, you have to make it less obvious that you're joining a group for that reason, otherwise you will look desperate and lose social value.

Events:

The purpose of Events on Facebook are to advertise a real world event, and invite people to join or attend.

Events have Hosts who are in charge of the event. People have the option to post in events.

If you join an event and confirm you're going, then other people in your friends list will also be notified.

Environment Engineering Tips For Events:

Do's:

- Sign up for events that increase your perceived social value.
- Invite girls that you want to seduce to go to events with you once you have opened up a dialogue with them.
- Look at whether or not a girl attends events, to get to know more about her personality, likes and interests.

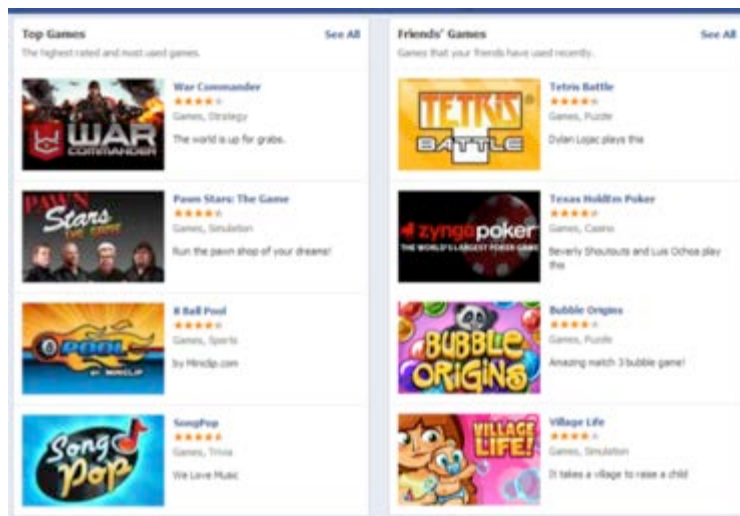

Don'ts:

- Don't send a hot girl an invite or ask her to attend an event if you have yet to engage in any form of communication.
- Don't comment negatively about an event that a girl has confirmed to attend. This doesn't make you "cool"—it just makes you a hater.

Games and Apps:

Facebook games and apps are another way of connecting to the Facebook community. The games are similar to typical online games, only on Facebook you're playing with other people connecting with that game at the same time.

In a later chapter, we'll discuss in detail how to use Facebook games to build connections with random hot girls, or build rapport (and seduce girls) who are already on your friends list.

Bang With Friends App

OK, now I want to mention the best application around to get you laid.

It's free to download, so grab it now: <http://www.bangwithfriends.com>

It's called "bang with friends," and this is an application that is almost too good to be true!

In fact, the creators of the application made it just for getting average guys like us laid!

In short, this application allows people to tag girls (or guys) on their friends list who they want to have sex with. If a girl also installed this application and tags you back, then this application tells you that the two of you are down to bang each other!

Another cool thing is, if you get rejected, you won't be told. If you state your interest in hooking up with a girl, but she's not into it, the application will not inform you. (You can just assume that she's got a lot of dudes trying to bang her, and she never saw your message.)

So you keep total anonymity, unless you get laid!

What an ingenious concept. They say a picture speaks a thousand words, so here's a screenshot of their instructions (you gotta love this):

Environment Engineering Tips For Games and Apps:

Do's:

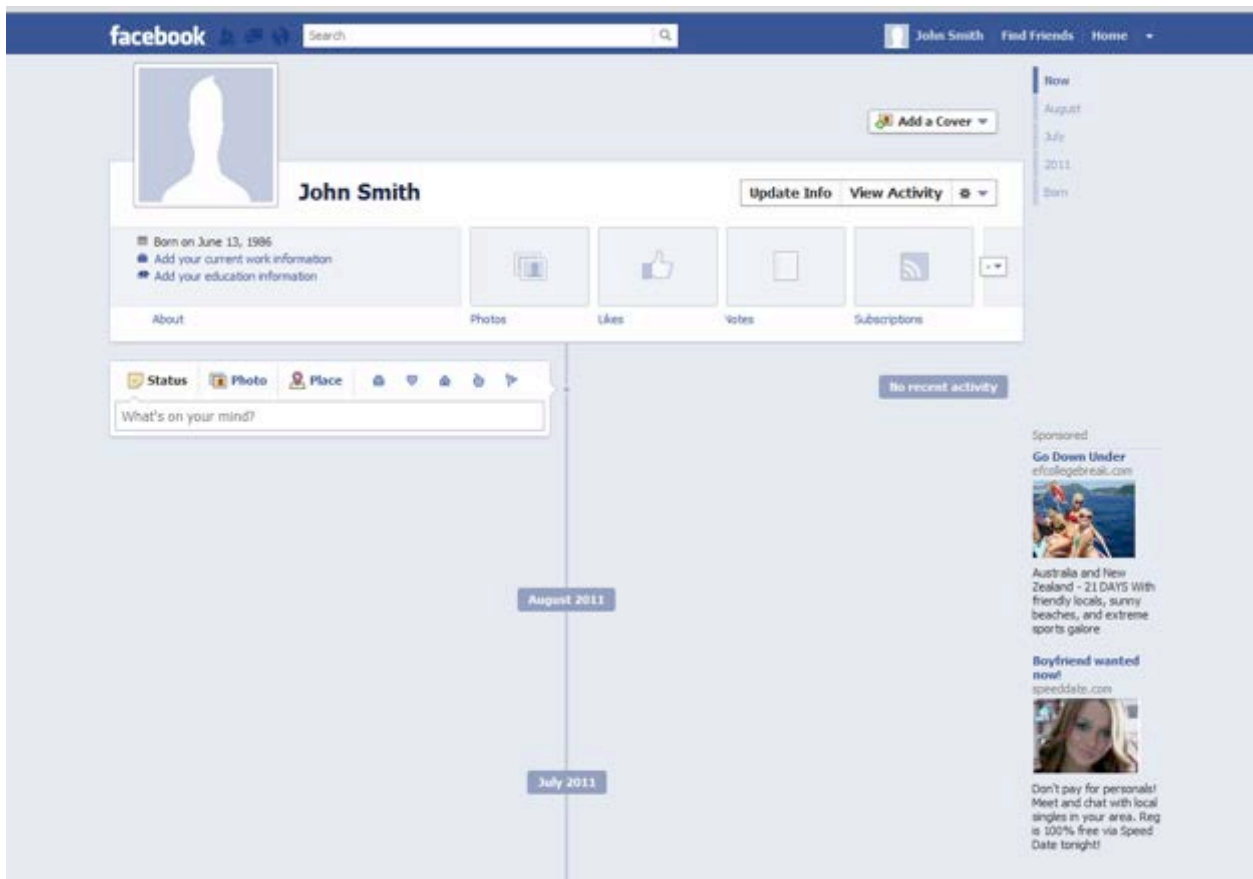

- a. Play games with girls who you want to seduce, but make sure she's bored when you send her an invite (you can check if she's bored using the tips provided later in this book).
- b. Get girls to install "Bang With Friends" app and have her tag you. If you don't know how to go about it, jokingly tell her about the application and get her to install it "just for fun." Then if she does, and tags you, you know she's at least somewhat interested in having sex with you (even if she did sign up as a joke). All you need to do is keep up the flirting and follow the instructions in this guide to get you laid.

Don'ts:

- a. Don't constantly send girls games to play unless she is willing to play with you. If you have sent her game requests a few times and she's not interested, then find someone else. Some girls just either don't - have the time to play or don't like the game you chose.

- b. Don't ask a girl to sign up to "bang with friends" app in a serious manner. You have to make sure that you came across this application as more of a joke than anything else. If she's not interested in signing up, joking make fun of her a few times, but don't press this issue. Some girls don't feel comfortable with this concept, but that doesn't mean you won't be able to bang her.
 - c. Don't take it personally if a girl doesn't like playing games with you. I personally avoid playing games on Facebook because I know it's a time waster. The only reason I do it is to seduce women. Refusing to be your "gaming buddy" doesn't equate to not wanting to sleep with you.

Your profile

Your profile consists of two main aspects:

1. Timeline
2. About

The Timeline portrays your life story, structured in chronological format from when you first signed up on Facebook until now. What you're doing right now—as well as your posts, photos, videos, likes, everything—it's all part of the Timeline.

As long as you upload anything onto Facebook, it becomes a part of your Timeline history.

The About section is where all of your personal information—birthday, job, education, family members, autobiography, favorite quotations, etc—is organized.

Environment Engineering Tips For Your Timeline and About Page:

Do's:

- a. Update your wall with interesting, cool things. For example, maybe you went to a concert, or your basketball team that you play on won yesterday. Every post you make does not need to boost your social status (you don't want to seem like you're trying too hard to impress people), but be sure that whatever you post never detracts from your social status.
- b. On your About page, make sure you include upbeat and fun things about you. If a girl makes it this far to read more about you, then you want to make sure she'll be very intrigued after she reads your About page. (Specific copy-and-paste examples are provided later on.)

Don'ts:

- a. Do not include boring information in your Timeline. Do not post up anything stupid “just for a joke.” Do not upload videos of yourself in embarrassing positions (like, the time you got so drunk at a party your friends had to carry you out the door). Do not let anything you might potentially regret appear on your Timeline. Remember, Facebook keeps a record of everything you have ever uploaded FOREVER!
- b. Don't let other people take control of your Timeline. This is your seduction environment. You should be the one taking possession of other people's Timeline's and controlling the situation they are in. Not the other way around.

- c. Don't include anything that's depressing, negative or stupid that conveys lower social status, or a lack of self confidence.

Newsfeed:

The newsfeed is where you get all your updates from friends. Whenever you login to Facebook, the newsfeed is the first page that pops up with posts from friends, liked pages and groups. On the newsfeed you can keep an eye on what everyone's up to and it's important as that helps you make assumptions.

Environment Engineering Tips for the Newsfeed:

Do's:

- a. Only update stuff on your Facebook page that is worth updating. If your update will do something to boost your social value, and doesn't make you look like a fool, then publish it. Your newsfeed shows other people's updates on their page, and vice versa. Whenever YOU make a change to your page, OTHER people will be notified of it.

Don'ts:

- a. Don't be one of those idiots who constantly update their Facebook profile page just because they are bored. That's what hot girls do to get attention. If you're a guy and you're doing, it just tells people within your social eco system that you have nothing going on in your life. That's why you have so much time to update things that don't matter.

Your name:

Your name is the first place peoples' eyes go to when they click on your profile. Be sure to use your real name.

When a girl goes to your profile she's going to expect to see your real name. Something other than that (we'll get to that a bit later) will just raise red flags. (Is there a reason why you don't want to show your real name?)

Using your real name may have many benefits you don't realize when it comes to banging girls on Facebook.

For example, one of your old female classmates from grade school, whom you lost contact with many years ago, might be on Facebook right now.

Some lazy afternoon she's sipping her cup of coffee, and for some reason she remembers the good old days from her childhood.

The next thing she knows, she may start looking for you on Facebook.

She then sends you a friends request and who knows, you might just get lucky because your “old childhood female classmate” might be a smoking hot bombshell now!

Environment Engineering Tips for your name:

Do's:

- a. Include the correct spelling of your full name.

Don'ts:

- a. Don't try to be cool or funny by using a nickname, or a strange spelling. Your friends won't think your cooler, you're just harder to find. People who don't know you won't care if you think you have a cool name.

The alternate name:

The alternate name is a Facebook feature that can be useful in this regard. You can include an “alternate name” if you go by a nickname (or were known by a nickname in the past). You can also include a “short name.”

I used to have a buddy from college named Charles, but everyone had called him “Tiger” since he was a little kid. I had another friend with the last name “Brickowski” but everyone knew him as “Bricks.” I work with a guy whose real first name is John, but he prefers to be called “Jack.” And so on.

If you have (or had) a nickname that women might know you by, set it as your alternate name.

As for “short names,” they're self-explanatory. Michael = Mike. Robert = Rob. Theodore = Ted. And so on.

Maybe at some point in your life, some girl had a crush on you. There may be a higher probability that she will remember your nickname, rather than your full name. I remember the nicknames of some of my classmates from kindergarten, even though I couldn't recall their actual names if my life depended on it.

Environment Engineering Tips for your alternate name:

Do's:

- a. Use your real name on your name feed. For your alternate name, you can use your nickname or a variation.

Don'ts:

- a) Make sure you don't do anything that will demonstrate lower value here. Lord Of Destruction or Horny4porn69 aren't names you can expect women to find attractive.

Your profile picture:

Some like to call this your Display Picture (DP). Whatever you may call it it's very important to put your OWN picture there. This picture is used on Facebook for everywhere you interact. It's important that you put a decent photo of yourself.

Here's a very important fact. The photos that you display on your Facebook profile wall will determine whether or not you get laid.

Period.

Think about the process that you go through to decide if you want to bang a girl.

What do you do?

You scan through a girl's Facebook profile and you immediately look at her display picture and cover photo. If she passes your initial "hmmm... ok she seems hot" test, then and ONLY then is when you decide to click through her photo album to see what she looks like.

Let's face it, if a girl doesn't pass the basic profile and cover photo test we give them, we don't even bother looking at anything else on her Facebook page.

Well guess what? Women do the EXACT same thing to us!

So if you're going to make ANY changes to your Facebook profile, then you MUST choose a very good DP and have an awesome cover photo that makes you look GOOD.

I mean, honestly, we live in an internet world where everything is judged based on the look of the cover.

I guarantee you 99% of the time you do NOT even look at anything else but the display picture and cover photo of the girl you want to hook up with.

And in the rare instance you do start reading her biography and finding out other details of her life, it was because she was hot according to the few photos that are displayed on the Facebook Profile page.

So make this count!

A lot of guys will put photos of actors, singers or even hot chicks as their profile picture. Don't make this mistake! The core purpose of your display picture is to portray YOU.

No one wants to see your favorite rapper, or the logo of your favorite sports team, when they visit their profile. However, what you CAN do is put in an artistic rendering of yourself, either in a sketch or cartoon format. This can actually look pretty cool and creative.

Just remember, the idea here is to convey yourself in the best light possible. It should also give off a "friendly" vibe that makes it seem like you're a guy who is open to meeting cool new people.

Also, you must have the right 6 photos in your Facebook album.

There are 6 types of photos to include in your Facebook album that will INSTANTLY boost your sexual attractiveness to women to another level.

Remember, you only have a few seconds to impress a woman and make her decide that you're "sex partner" material, so your goal is to show her a LOT of social value practically instantly.

Women only need to show us ONE type of picture in order to get us thinking about hooking up. As long as she's sexy—and especially if she's showing some cleavage, ass, or wearing a short skirt—your male instincts will take over!

But for us guys, to get the same effect we have to show her that we're the type of man she fantasizes and dreams about. I've done a lot of testing in this department, and I've discovered that you need the following types of photos in your photo album.

(Once you add these pics to your photo album, you can start testing them as out as your Display Picture. You can find out which picture gets you the highest success rate with women.)

The 6 kinds of "necessary photos" are as follows (and by the way, if you don't have these types of pics yet, get your friends to help you take some):

- a) Sporty - action shots are perfect for this. The more "extreme" the sport you're participating in, the more macho you're going to look. For example, if you have an action shot of you surfing a big wave, soaring through the air on a snowboard, kicking the shit out of a soccer ball, or diving to make a volleyball shot, you'll look pretty badass. Whereas if you have a photo of yourself playing chess, you'll look like a dork.

If you're "sporty," it tells women that you're fit. Fit to breed with. So even if you're overweight (or on the scrawny side), as long as you can demonstrate to women that you're into hardcore physical activity, it works in your favor.

Oh, and one other thing here—if you have a good body, then this is the perfect place to show it off. Take an action shot of yourself with your shirt off playing soccer, or running on the beach or something. It shouldn't look "staged." This looks way more natural than some meathead lifting up his tank top and taking a picture of his abs in the mirror.

- b) Dressed Up – Women love a guy in a nice suit. My job doesn't require me to dress up, but I do have some pics of me at a friend's wedding where I was looking very sharp. One of these pics, which shows me standing with several of my buddies--all of us in suits--has gotten me more favorable comments from women than any other picture in my albums. (Believe me, I hate wearing suits—but like I said, women love this look!)

- c) Cool - Your cool photo is the one that's going to portray the "bad boy" side of you. Even if you're not a bad boy you want to give girls the impression that you can be bad if you need to be.

Stereotypes actually work well here. If you're on a motorcycle, that's cool. Rocking out on an electric guitar onstage is definitely cool. If you're wearing sunglasses and looking away from the camera with a brooding expression on your face, that's cool. (Black-and-white photos enhance the effect.)

One of the tricks to making a photo "cool" is for it to look natural, as if it was snapped without you paying attention. Rather than you constantly posing for pictures and smiling at the camera, these "natural" pics create the sense that other people just like to take pictures of you doing your thing...because, well, you're a cool guy!

- d) Friendly – Here's where you show off a big, cheesy smile. This pic is designed to bring a smile to the face of the girl that's looking at it. Make sure you include a few of these in your album.

If you want to get bonus points, include a baby, a puppy or a kitten. Hold it up next to your cheek.

Sure, it's a bit cheesy. But will it be effective? Absolutely.

- e) Popular - this would be a photo where you're in the center of a group of people all smiling at the camera. It looks like you're "the man" and you're surrounded by good friends. Having an attractive woman or two in the picture helps, but not if they look slutty. (Pics taken at a strip club won't impress the girls you're trying to bang on Facebook.)
- f) Artistic - this photo of yourself has an artistic angle to it. For example, it could be a cartoon or sketch portrait of yourself. (In a little while, we're going to tell you about an amazing website you can use to create this type of image for only five bucks!)

I personally like to use these as my Display Pictures, because they seem to trigger the "curiosity switch" in the minds of women who are interested enough to check out my profile. Once they click on my Display Picture, they see the other 5 types of pictures of me in various situations. Add them all up, and I seem like a guy who's totally F#(KABLE!

Here are some examples of Display Pictures that rock:

Not to sound like a wuss, but any time you add a cute animal, you're going to win bonus points with chicks. Not only does this guy hold the cat close to his face, but the photo is in black and white, which gives it more of an "artistic" feel.

Here's a sketch version of a photograph. Because the size of your Display Picture is relatively small, when you use a sketch it makes people want to click on the image to take a closer look. Once you do this, you suck women immediately into your "seduction funnel" where they end up looking at the 5 other pictures of you that make you look awesome.

This is a combination of a “professional” and “cool” photo combined into one. Because of the way the guy is standing, you get the impression that he’s done some modeling. He’s also immediately “cool” because he’s holding what appears to be a leather jacket, and that makes him a bit of a bad boy.

The “cover photo” is a relatively new thing on Facebook. It arrived with the Timeline feature. This is a big, wide photo across the top of your profile that “announces” you to everyone who lands on your page.

Make sure you use a GOOD cover photo that conveys the right messages you want to send out to girls. Otherwise, you’ll scare them away without even getting a chance to seduce them.

Later in this chapter, we’ll discuss what kinds of photos you may use as your cover photos, and which you are to avoid.

The principles that I explained earlier regarding the 6 types of photos you need in your albums apply even more so for your cover photo. This is because your cover photo is your biggest piece of “online real estate.” It’s placed in the most prominent viewing position.

The first thing that ANYONE sees is your cover photo (it’s 5 times bigger than your display picture). Therefore, this is one of the biggest factors you need to control when you engineer your seduction environment.

Here are some examples of cover photos that rock:

I used this guy as an example earlier. His cover photo really makes him look “cool,” “professional” and “artistic” all at the same time. The way he is standing, the style of clothing he is wearing, the lighting and background in the photo and the overall feel makes you think “damn, badass!”

This is a very strong cover photo because by looking at it, within 3 seconds you pretty much know that this dude is not an “average Joe.” We assume he has high social value.

Of course, there are other ways to present high social value. Perhaps you don't have any "modeling" photos of yourself, and you're more of the intellectual type. You can create an interesting and "female friendly" profile by inserting good cover pictures of anything!

Look at the example above. He has a close-up picture of rain drops hitting the ground, shown in an artistic and kinda beautiful way. Instead of flaunting his body or his looks, he shows the women that visit his page that he is more of an "artist and intellectual."

Women might be compelled to click through his profile and see what he looks like.

Here we have an example of someone who is obviously not a “sporty” guy. He may actually be a bit of a nerd. But he still manages to convey high social status with that cool cartoon sketch rendition of himself.

The cartoon image has a huge friendly smile, which gives off a welcoming vibe. And when you take a closer look at his cover photo, you notice small details. In fact, in the background there are black and white images of other people, but you barely notice them. This instantly lets women who visit this profile know that this guy has spent some time thinking about the right kind of cover photo to suit his personality. And this is sexy.

Types of photos to AVOID like the plague...

Remember, each and every photo you upload to either your photo album, Display Picture or cover photo tells the viewer something about you.

Make sure you only convey “girl friendly” images so that you make it easy for you to get laid. Don’t be like most average chumps, who have no idea about the basics of social value and put up any old photo of themselves.

Here’s a list of photos to avoid:

- Don't put up negative photos - this includes photos of you crying, looked bummed out or angry, or images of sad love quotes or poems.
- Don't put up aggressive photos - do NOT use images that include guns or knives, or imply any type of violence. If you're one of those goons who thinks posing with a rifle or handgun makes you tough, it doesn't. It only makes women fear they might wind up hogtied in your basement.
- Don't put up overtly perverted photos - the only kind of photo that you should put up with you without a shirt is when you're taking action shots of you doing something cool. Pretty much else looks gay or perverted (unless you're a girl).
- Don't put up anything political or controversial - Hot girls do NOT CARE who you think should be the next presidential candidate, or how much you despise the current president. They don't care about your stance on abortion. Sure, there's a slim chance that you'll find "common ground" with some women who share your viewpoints, but most of the time you'll just turn them off.

Your short basic info:

Right under your display picture is where you can find your short basic info. This can include which school you went to, and where you work, alongside your current city and your hometown.

This is the only about you that will be displayed on your Timeline. To see your full information, one has to click on your About link.

Environment Engineering Tips for your short basic bio:

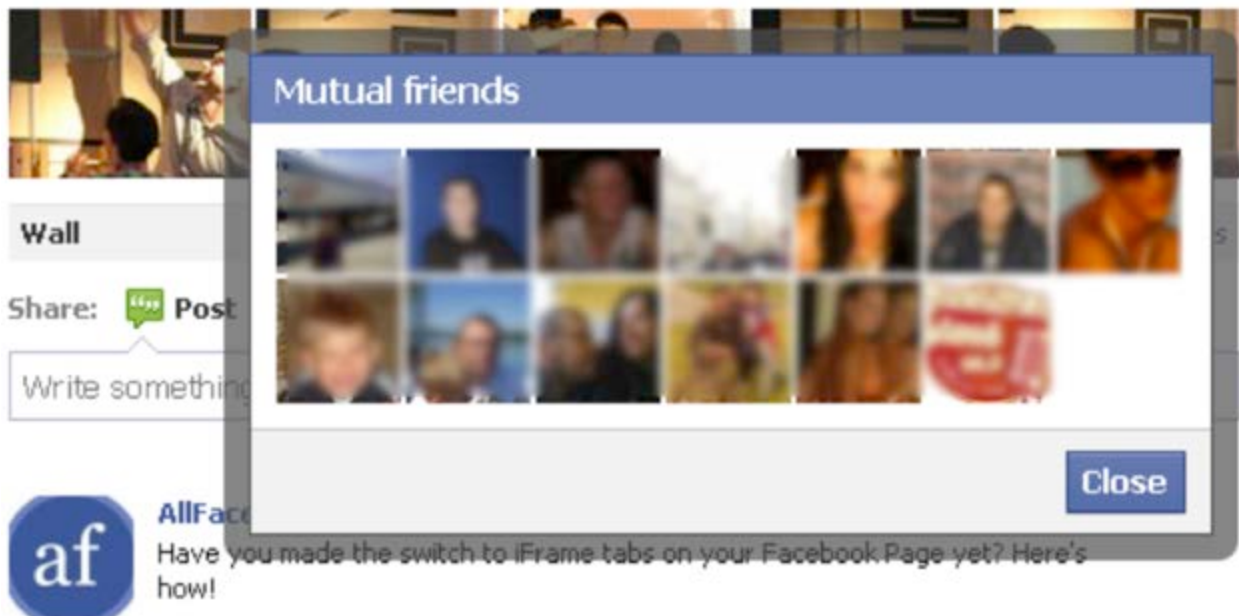

Do's:

- a. Put in the correct information here if your occupation makes you look good. Otherwise if where the place you work doesn't make you look cooler you can get away with adding funny work places. For example, maybe you studied at the Ninja Assassin Dojo and currently work as a certified professional badass.
- b. Use humour where possible, but don't forget to put in real information so that you are easily locatable.

Don'ts:

- a) Don't outright lie to make yourself look good. It's one thing to use humour and tell an obvious lie, for example everyone knows that your real job is not a certified professional badass. However, if you put your occupation as "doctor" or "lawyer" and you're not, then you're going to start off on the wrong foot.

Mutual friends:

When a stranger visits your profile. The first thing she'll be eager to see is which friends you have mutual with them. Next to your short basic info there will be a friends tab that will show if the person has any mutual friends in common with you, and if yes what number of mutual friends there are.

He or she will be able to see who those friends are depending on their (the mutual friends') and your privacy settings. You should try to widen your connections and friend circles, that way you can be mutual to much more people.

Environment Engineering Tips for contacting mutual friends:

Do's:

- a. Only contact hot girls if your mutual friend is certain to say something positive about you.
- b. When you do contact other people through your mutual friends, actually make sure that they really know who your mutual friend is. If she doesn't know who your mutual friend is, then you know she's open to adding strangers and there's no reason why she won't add you either.
- c. Be positive and upbeat about your mutual friend if questioned. The cooler you make your friend sound, the better it makes you look. It signifies that you only hang out with cool people.
- d. Do try to find out information about girls you want to add from your mutual friends before you contact the girl. Perhaps your friend will be able to tell you information that can help you seduce her much easily.

Don'ts:

- a) Do not contact too many girls from the same mutual friend within a short period of time. If you do this, it's going to be obvious you're just being a sleazebag.
- b) Don't put down your mutual friend or say things to make him or her look bad. It will be a poor reflection on your character. Also, it lowers your value as the other person will be wondering "if you're friend is so lame, then why are you even friends at all?"

Your full info:

The screenshot shows a Facebook profile for Selvester Stevens. At the top, there is a profile picture, the name 'Selvester Stevens', and an 'About' dropdown menu. To the right is an 'Add Friend' button. The main content area is divided into two columns. The left column has a 'Work and Education' section with three entries: 'Employers' (Ohio Model & Talent Agency, Model - Garfield Heights, Ohio), 'College' (Ohio University, Athens, Ohio), and 'High School' (Cambridge High School (Cambridge, Ohio), Cambridge, Ohio). The right column has a 'Basic Info' section with fields for 'Sex' (Male), 'Relationship Status' (Single), and 'Languages' (Italian and English). Below the 'Work and Education' section is a 'Living' section with two entries: 'Columbus, Ohio' (Current City) and 'Rome, Italy' (Hometown).

Once a person clicks on your About link, they'll be taken to the page containing your complete info.

Work and Education:

This is where your education and work history will be listed out. Be sure to use correct information. The reason it's important to do so is because Facebook will categorize and group you according to the information you submit here.

If you say you studied at Harvard University, Facebook will categorize you as a student there, and will provide a link that connects to other students who are your peers.

Short biography:

This is the place where Facebook lets you tell the world about yourself. It's important that you spend some time on this page, because if a girl winds up on this page, there's a good chance that she's VERY interested in you (as in, she's a few clicks away from mentally agreeing to you banging her!)

Make this mini-biography inspiring and AWESOME. This is an extremely important aspect of your "seduction environment."

Don't be lazy and write something short or sarcastic. Be creative and inspirational. Stand out from the 400,000,000 dudes on Facebook. Demonstrate the values that a male of high social status would show.

Why?

Because you're going to make the women who visit this page THINK about you in a special way.

You have complete control over their thought processes, as long as you say the right things here.

If you have no idea what you want to say, here are some nice examples for you to use (just tweak it to suit you):

Example Bio 1:

I measure life in moments rather than seconds. The difference between seconds and moments is that seconds can be those you spend in front of the monitor doing nothing but moments are those special seconds that make their own place deep inside your heart.

By profession I'm a structural engineer. My hobbies are archery and photography. I have great affection in music. I love to compose and create the collaboration of sound that gives people goosebumps.

I'm an animal lover. I love those cute cuddly creatures and specially dogs. Today I own nine dogs and I still can't have enough of them!

Example Bio 2:

I believe that there is no meaning of life if you don't have something to live for. My goal in life is to change the world in a way so that no child starves or no dog dies in the cold street. I realize that configuring building structures won't take me there. If you think spending billions of dollars for nothing where there are people living without food and shelter nextdoor is wrong, take your first step to making things right and join me.

Everything tells me that I am about to take the wrong decision, but making mistakes is just my special part of life. What does the world want of me?

*Does it want me to take no risks or to go back to where I came from because I didn't have the courage to say 'yes' to life?
I think I do take enough courage to say that 'yes' to life..*

I don't care about what I see in the outside. My vision is from within! Here is where the birds sing, here is where the sky is blue!

I am this very complicated first order equation with one real easy answer.

You just gotta have the guts to take the attempt to solve it.

I'm affectionate, secretive, naturally honest, generous and sympathetic, I love peace and serenity, I'm always sensitive to others and love to serve them. I'm appreciative and love to return kindness, love to dream and fantasize, love to travel, love attention and sometimes...I'm just weird!

I have taught myself how to make people smile and make them believe in everything... So DREAM BIG, people!

Family:

You can add family members of yours who use Facebook to this section. They might have some attractive Facebook women among their friends who are options for you. Some of these women may send you friend requests due to the fact that they're friends with your sister, cousin, etc.

Just one thing to note here. If you have family members who wouldn't like the idea of you using Facebook to find and filter F@#K buddies, it's probably best to NOT add them here—because they may see what you're up to.

(And few things kill seduction faster than your grandmother commenting on your wall, lol...)

Favorite quotations:

In this section, you can display some of your favorite quotes from movies, books, songs, or famous figures.

A well-chosen quote can show that you have a soulful, spiritual side, or that there is a deeper aspect to your personality. Quotes from famous authors, poets or historical figures convey that you're a smart guy who, y'know, reads books. Inspirational quotes convey that you're an ambitious guy with a sense of purpose (more qualities that women find sexy).

(Whether you've ever actually read the book or not, merely displaying the quote gives the impression that you've studied that person's work!)

- a. "The only difference between dreams and accomplishment is effort."
- b. "Trust that little voice in your head that says, "Wouldn't it be interesting if.." And then do it..."
- c. "All children are artists. The problem is how to remain an artist once you grow up." - Pablo Picasso
- d. "Everybody needs beauty as well as bread, places to play in and pray in, where nature may heal and give strength to body and soul." ~John Muir
- e. "Our hearts are drunk with a beauty our eyes could never see." - George W. Russell
- f. "By plucking her petals, you do not gather the beauty of the flower." - Rabindrath Tagore
- g. "Some people, no matter how old they get, never lose their beauty.....they merely move it from their faces into their hearts." - Martin Buxbaum
- h. "Never allow someone to be your priority while you're just their option."
- i. "Once we accept our limits, we go beyond them."
- j. "Dream as if you'll live forever, live as if you'll die today."

Environment Engineering Tips for your Full Info section:

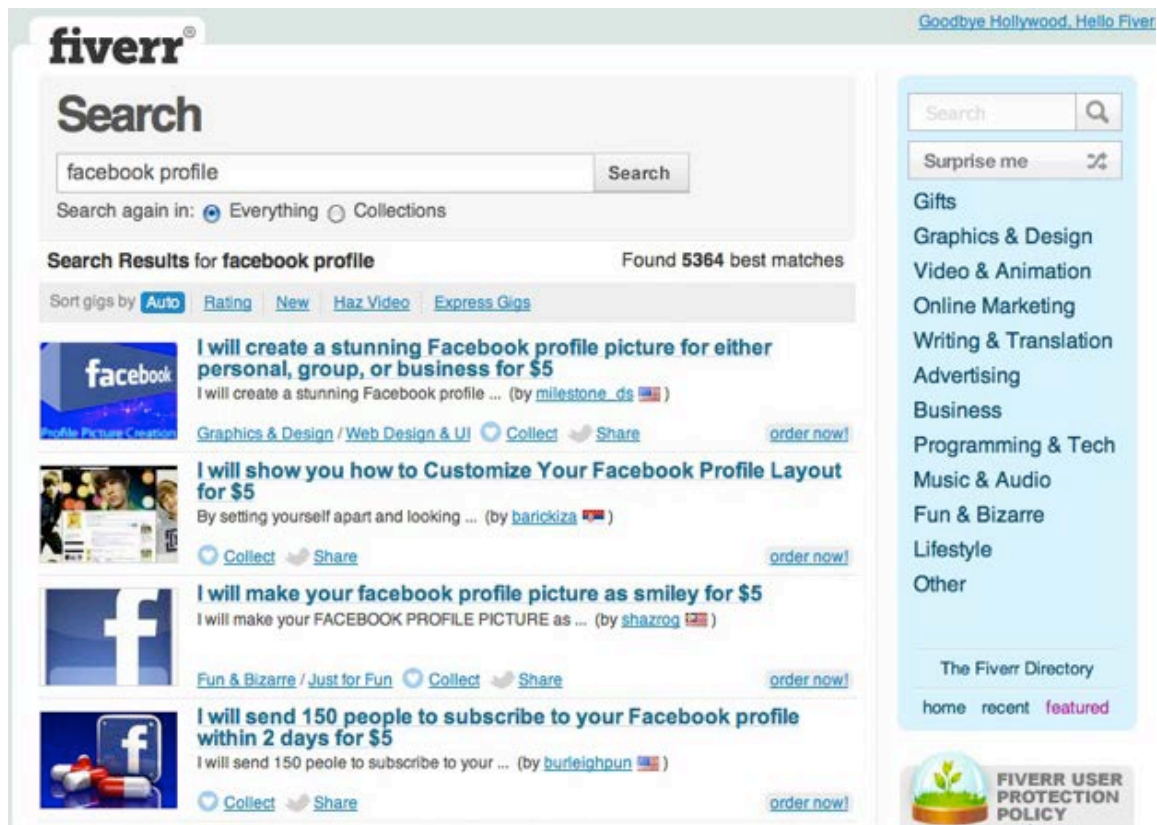

Do's:

- a. Spend time making sure your details are going to work to your advantage with women. If a girl is interested enough to actually click through this area of your Facebook profile to find out more about you, it means she's happy with your photos and likes what she sees. You're already halfway there! Don't mess it up by being lazy and having a half-ass Full Info section. (I've actually given you copy and paste examples for you to use, so it's going to be hard to mess this up!)

Don'ts:

- a) Never come across as a guy with low social value and status. All the information you include in this section should complement your well-chosen photos, and further reinforce in the minds of women that you're a guy worth dating (or at least just banging!)
- b) Don't outright lie. As I mentioned earlier, if you don't have an impressive past you don't have to lie to make yourself look better. Instead, use some humor to work your way into the pants of women who actually take the time to look through your full information.

The ultimate environment engineering seduction resource

Now I'm going to reveal a website where you can get your seduction environment engineered for $5.

If you haven't already done so, create an account here for free:

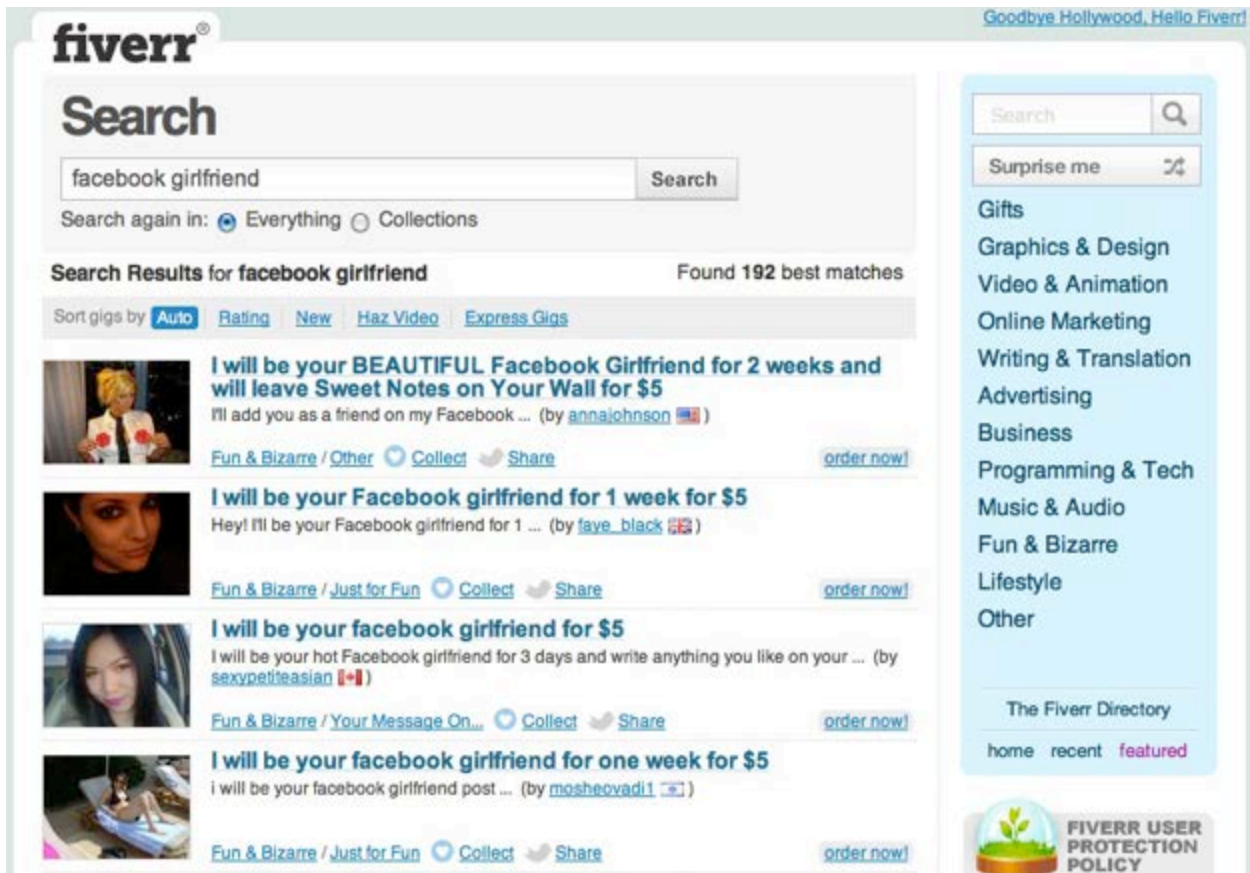

<http://www.fiverr.com>

If you're not a Facebook guru or are just simply too lazy to make your profile look good, then here's the ultimate solution.

For $5 you can hire a professional who will go through your profile and jazz it up to make it look awesome and sexy.

Just tell them what you're looking for and give them guidance regarding the profiles that you think are good, and you're going to get a custom and personalized Facebook profile designed for you for a total of $5!

Use Fiverr to give you “social proof”

Now, if you REALLY need some “girls” to be your friends because you have absolutely no hot girls who are your friends already posting on your wall, then Fiverr.com can also solve that.

The idea is that you have a bunch of hot girls who post on your wall so OTHER hot girls that come to check out your page will let down their guard and think that you’re a cool dude and you’re NOT a weirdo, because, heck you have a profile wall full of comments from sexy women.

For $5 you can pick and choose a hot girl to be your Facebook girlfriend for a week. So they will write using their own publicly available profile messages of love and affection to you.

Yes, I'm totally serious. These girls will act like your Facebook girlfriend so that you'll be given the BF treatment for $5 a week.

There are even past reviews by other happy buyers so that you can really tell if she will give you a good "Facebook girlfriend" experience.

If you're smart enough you'll be able to piggy back off your "new found popularity" and show other real girls that you want to have sex with that you actually have hot females who crave for you sexually.

This not only increases your social value...it also makes you look like the man!

Chapter 6: Finding Facebook F*#K Buddies!

In this chapter we teach you how to find your own Facebook F*#K buddy!

We're going to use the various features of Facebook very extensively so that you're going to be accustomed with all the tools of seduction at your disposal. In no time you're going to be able to meet girls on Facebook all without having to leave the comfort of your own living room!

Now you might be thinking "but wait, don't I have to be Facebook friends with a hot girl on Facebook first in order to seduce them?."

Yes, you do, and keep reading, because I'm going to show you exactly how to do that.

Facebook's terms of service technically does NOT allow you to add friends who you don't know in real life, so the only way to get around this (and NOT breach their terms of service) is to someone get to know a girl before you add them.

So yes, you kind of need to make sure the hot girl you add is your friend before you add them.

But this brings up another issue...

Hold up... But what if she's not my friend? How do I get hot girls to add me if she doesn't know me?

In reality, adding hot girls on Facebook isn't really all that hard without breaching Facebook's terms of service. All you need know is how to use all the features of Facebook correctly and soon your own friends list will consist of nothing but hot girls.

There are many ways you can find girls from around by understanding how to use Facebook's seduction features properly. In fact, I'll show you 8 methods right now:

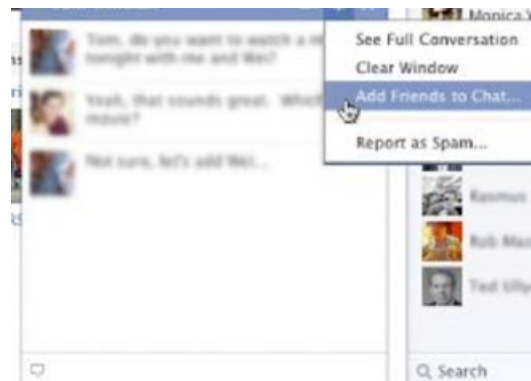

Facebook Seduction Features

1. Group conversations
2. Find a friend feature
3. Facebook groups
4. Have someone suggest you
5. Add from someone's friends list
6. Do some stalking
7. Playing games and using apps
8. Other sites (this is beyond Facebook, but is super useful so I had to tell you about it)

Facebook Seduction Feature 1 - Group conversations:

A lot of people don't realize this is, but you're able to chat with hot girls who are friends of your friends.

It doesn't matter if those girls don't know you. All that needs to happen is have one of your friends adding them.

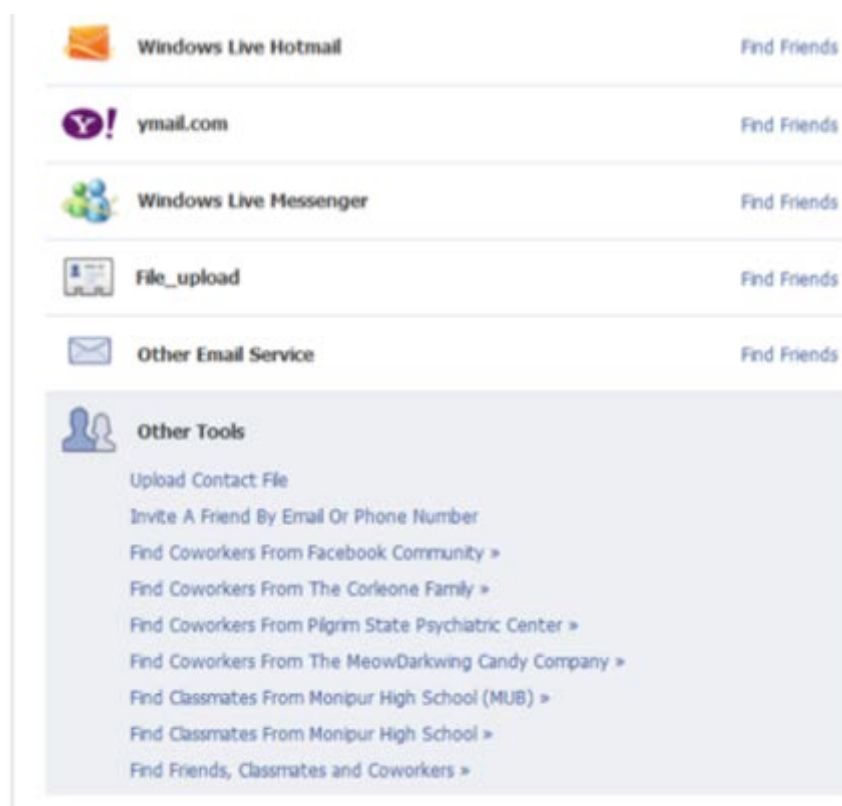

Using the Group Conversation feature, once you engage in a chat with others in your group you can add a girl your friends know but you haven't met yet.

To pull this off, you need a little help from your friend, so if you're like most guys who have friends who know a bunch of hot girls, then you're in luck! On the messages option you can create group conversations with any number of friends. Let's go through the process on how to find you a F*#K buddy!

- a. You start by adding a small number of trustworthy friends in a conversation (make sure they have hot friends).
- b. Make sure you don't add too many or else things will get messy and you won't get any room for talking, I recommend a maximum of 3 friends.
- c. Have your friends to add the girl or girls you want to meet to the conversation.
- d. Begin chatting! Once you get to know her a little you ask for her permission to send a friend request or simply send one and tell her to accept. If you were cool with the convo this is definitely going to work out.

Seduction Note: Make sure you know the majority of people in the conversation. The more people you have on your side the more support you're going get. And be sure not to add too many. I would recommend between 3 to 7 as being a relatively safe number. Anymore than that then there are chances you won't get any attention from her.

Facebook Seduction Feature 2 - The find friends feature:

Facebook has made it possible for you to look for classmates and coworkers using the find friends option. This is very handy especially if you're looking to find F(#K buddies.

- a. Click on your friend requests icon on the top left corner of your window. There you'll see the option 'find friends' link. Scroll down the page and you'll see 'other tools'. Go there and a variety of choices will appear in front of you. You can find coworkers, classmates, friends and more! Discover, search and add!

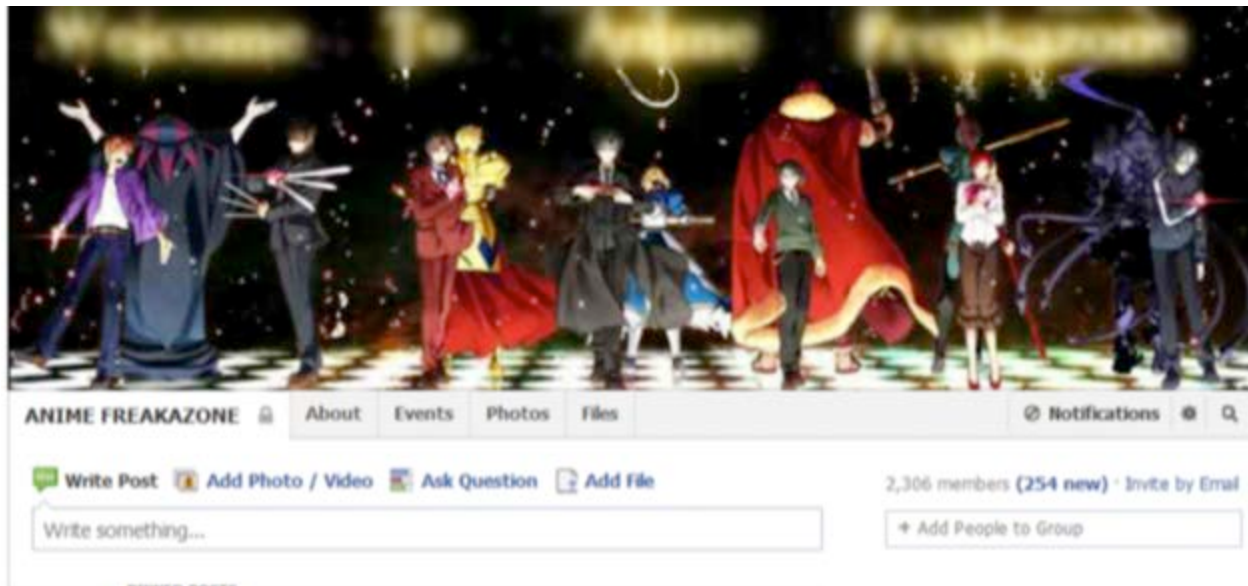

Seduction Note: I recommend that you use this feature to find your past girlfriends you have dated before in high school or even primary school.

Why?

Even if she's not hot anymore, she'd be very happy to reconnect with you.

Once you do get in touch with her again, chances are she's going to have a bunch of hot and sexy friends that you can further get to know using the Group Conversation feature I told you about.

Facebook Seduction Feature 3 - Meet people from Groups:

You friends in Facebook are going to be in groups where they activity announce that they are part of. Aside from that you can open a group of yourself.

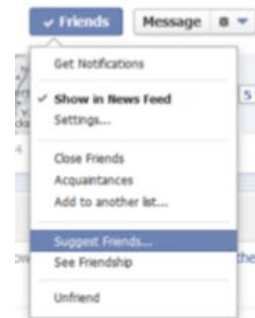

I recommend that you start looking around for groups where you're interested in joining, either because it's about a topic that you like (for example the Anime fans group in the screenshot) or join groups because of the people from your school or company. You can use these groups to find chicks you either see everyday or have known sometime in your life.

This method is great to find hot girls because it instantly gives you something in common to talk about. Also it won't be so "weird" for you to message her because you have an excuse as to how you found her profile!

Seduction Note: If you do add hot girls from groups, make sure you take a look at how active or "into" the group she is. Some girls just join groups and totally forget about it. So make sure you know she's an active participant if you want to approach her this way.

Facebook Seduction Feature 4 - Have someone to suggest you:

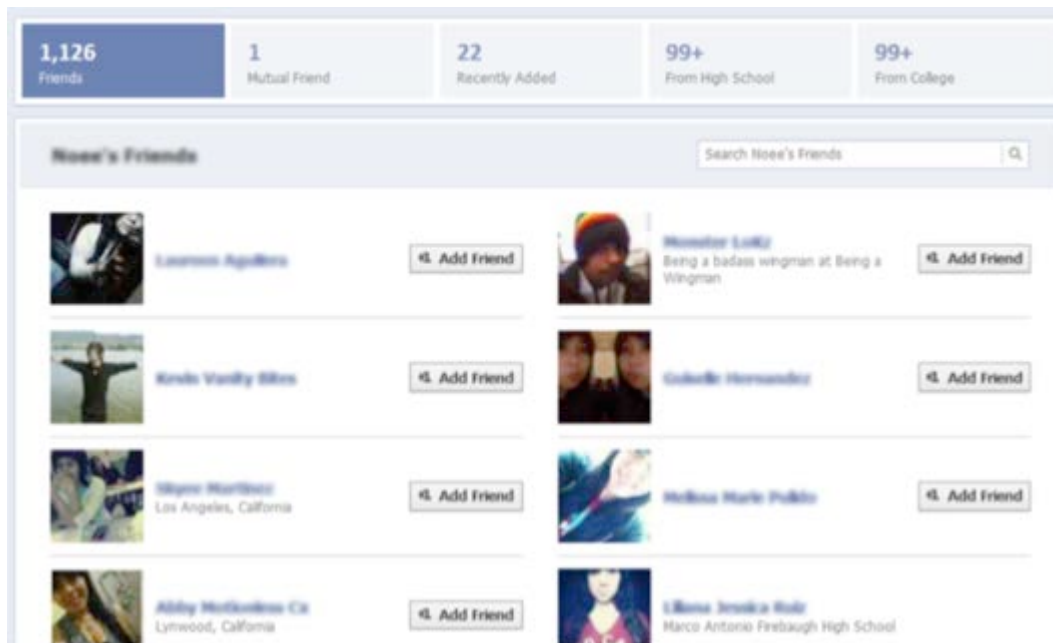

On Facebook you can get your friends to suggest you profiles to add. This is probably the fastest and most simple way to get hot girls added to your friends list. Friends you've been suggested will be sent with your friend requests; you can simply add them from there.

The best thing is, if one of your friends “suggests” their friends to you, the hot girl that you end up adding is “obliged” to be nice to you because she’s friends with your friend. That means the seduction process will be a whole lot easier from the get go!

Seduction Note: If you have a friend suggest a hot girl for you to add, it’s important to make sure you explain in the friends request WHY you had your friend suggest you. I often find a very “innocent” reason wrapped with humor works best. For example “Hi, Joe suggested me to add you, he said since we are both dancers we should get along well. I told Joe that’s a stupid reason for me to add you, but he insisted that all his cute friends should know each other. So here I am!”

Facebook Seduction Feature 5 - Add from someone else's friend list:

On Facebook it's obvious that there are more guys interested in using Facebook for dating purposes than there are girls. So what does this mean?

You can simply piggy back off the "hard work" and research that OTHER guys have put in by adding friends from the friendlists of your male friends who you know is also trying to use Facebook to find F#@K buddies

So why don't you just start adding the girls from their friendlists? This method never fails.

Why?

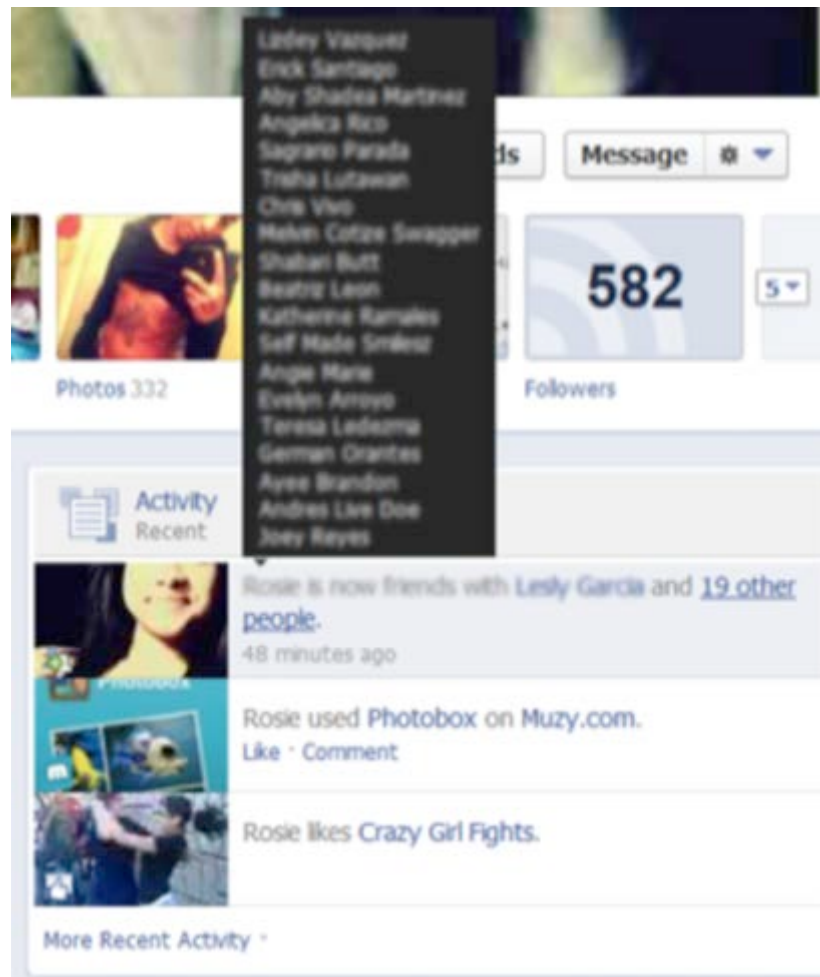

Well think about it, since a lot those girls that your friend would have added would also be strangers to him, and she still added him despite not knowing, there's no reason for her not to add you.

Facebook Seduction Note:

- a. Look for decent person's profile who has a lot of friends. It doesn't always have to a guy, there are going to be girls with lots of other hot female friends added too.

- b. If you do choose to use a profile of another guy your success rate is higher because you would know that the girl you added also added your male friend and since he didn't get rejected, you shouldn't either!

Facebook Seduction Feature 6 - Do some stalking:

This is a cheap but very prominent way of adding girls.

Here I'm going to suggest to you to do some Facebook stalking of GUYS.

Yes, I did say GUYS.

Remember how I showed you how to “piggy back” off the research that someone else has done?

Well, this is the advanced method of doing just that.

You find a few guys that you KNOW are really good at searching and adding random girls, then all you do is keep tabs on what he does and who he adds.

All you have to do is check his profile twice a week or so. There are going to be posts of who he’s been adding like “SomeRandomGuy is now friends with SomeHotGirl and 12 others.”

If he’s good at what he does, boy o boy you’re going to meet some girls this way, because you know for sure all the girls he adds also is open to adding strangers.

Seduction Note: To really find out what’s going on and whether or not the hot girl you know really knows a guy, when you send a friend request to girls using this method, always ask her how she knows your guy friend. If she tells you she doesn’t, then you know for a fact that your in luck!

Facebook Seduction Feature 7 - Playing games and using apps:

Facebook is pretty strict about making sure their user base does not “meet random strangers” and does not offer many ‘MeetStrangers’ facilities with their apps or games.

So it’s a good thing you are reading this guide, because I’m going to just straight up tell you the most popular games that you can play to interact with total strangers who can be hot girls.

- a. Texas HoldEm Poker: One of the most famous online poker places in the world. Whether you know it or not there are a lot of attractive women who play poker. Within the game you have an “in game” chat environment that you can use to talk to players from your table. So if you like to play poker and want to meet some girls at the same time Texas HoldEm Poker’s the first place you should try:
http://apps.facebook.com/texas_holdem/?fb_source=appcenter_search&fb_appcenter=1
- b. Farmville, Cityville: Farmville is awesome! Not because the game is that great, but because of the fact I know so many women addicted to playing it (hot ones too). But in case you don’t have an Xbox and like the idea of farming online sitting at your desk, Farmville could just be the thing for you! In games like Farmville, Cityville you can choose neighbours from Facebook community who play Farmville. I have seen a few nice girls who play Farmville it could just be worth your time.

Farmville: <http://apps.facebook.com/onthefarm/>

Cityville: <http://apps.facebook.com/cityville/>

- c. Twoo: With about a million monthly users Twoo could be your app of interest. It's packed, easy to use and serves the purpose of meeting new chat mates. <http://apps.facebook.com/twoodotcom/>

Other ways you can meet complete strangers who are hot girls:

Meeting strangers can be great fun. The sad news here is that Facebook doesn't like you trying to meet strangers there. It wants to keep you congested (I know right! how crude!). But don't get disheartened yet, here I will teach you some pretty cool ways that you can use to meet new people on Facebook.

Omegle.com:

The screenshot shows the Omegle website interface. At the top left is the Omegle logo. To its right is the text "Talk to strangers!". In the top right corner, there are social media sharing options for Facebook (66.3K likes) and Twitter (72.9K tweets), along with a counter showing "35,547 s". Below the header, there is a section for mobile access: "Download on the App Store" and "or you can try Omegle's mobile Web site!". The main text describes Omegle as a way to meet new friends, mentioning random chat and the ability to filter by interests. There are two checkboxes: "Use my Facebook likes" and "Find strangers with common interests". A text input field asks "What are you into? (Type your interests here.)". Below this are two buttons: "Text" and "Video". A note under the "Video" button says "Requires a webcam" and "Show for a webcam here". There is also a link "Or try spy (question) mode...". At the bottom, there is a warning box: "We monitor video chat. Keep your clothes on." with a small icon of a person and a camera. A smaller note below it says "If you're 18+ you can use the unmonitored video section. Here's a free adult cam site if you're after that."

Omegle has got to be one of the best way to meet strangers I have experienced in this short life of mine. It's also damn fun!

You go to omegle.com and they hook you up with a random stranger to chat with within a few seconds totally for free.

Yup, the entire site's existence is to hook you up with strangers so that you can engage in interesting conversation.

Now some of you may be wondering is it possible to really meet a lot of hot women here, when it's obvious there are going to be tons of other guys along with homosexuals out there?

Well, just to let you know, when a friend of mine first told me about this that's exactly what I'd thought as well. But it's actually nothing like that!

Yeah, there are a lot of guys trying to hit on girls, but based on my experiences they aren't much competition. I've met LOTS of decent girls at omegle and I bet there are thousands of others waiting to meet you. Go to www.omegle.com and give it a shot.

A few other similar websites you may try out:

Chapter 7: Filtering Facebook F*#K Buddies!

In the good old days on Facebook, it didn't matter who you sent a friend request to. But those days are over, and now it does matter who you send requests to.

Today, Facebook has increased their privacy features and become more of a bitch to reach out to random chicks.

However, once you understand the reason behind it, then you'll know why. Facebook was never made for you to meet strangers, it's a violation to Facebook rules to do so.

In fact, Facebook checks if you're adding strangers or not. If you have too many pending or ignored friend requests they'll block your account from sending friend requests for a fixed amount of time.

Friend Requests and Messages Blocked for 4 Days

To prevent you from contacting people against their wishes, your friend requests and your ability to send messages to strangers have been blocked for 4 days.

Friend requests are more likely to be accepted when you send them to people you already know, such as classmates, friends, family and coworkers.

If you use Facebook to communicate with strangers, they have the option to report that they don't know you or to mark the communication as spam. If this happens repeatedly, you could be viewed as violating Facebook's Statement of Rights and Responsibilities.

To prevent that from happening it's smart to make some decisions when sending a friend request to a girl. Let's look at this topic in more detail.

Who to add to increase the chances of F#(KING?

Chances are, if you're like the average Joe, then I bet whenever you come across a hot girls profile for some reason your mouse pointer magically and automatically appears above the send request button.

It's like as if you have an uncanny ability to just want to meet hot girls!

But before you do, make sure you don't hurt your own profile, because if enough girls do NOT accept you then the chances of Facebook blocking your ability to add new friends increases.

That's why I have developed a very good system to filter out the girls who will be happy to add strangers (so that you can F*#K later).

Before you add a girl, make sure you apply these filters that I'm going to reveal to you before adding her. The secret to having a healthy profile lies in the beholders appetite.

Filter 1 - Do you "kinda" know this girl?

Make sure you add girls you somehow have a connection to, before targeting total strangers!

Because you want to increase the chances of yourself getting laid and you do NOT want to breach Facebook's terms of service and get blocked, my first rule is to try and add girls that you kind of somehow know.

For example, it could be a girl who went to the same school or maybe used to work where you work.

Try to widen your connections as much as possible. The more people you know the more you increase the chances of getting to know hot girls.

There could be some really awesome girls your friends or cousins know, and you can start by having your mutual friends or cousins introduce you first before adding them.

So technically, you're not actually strangers anymore right?

You can send her a message before adding her to let her know how you relate to her. Having some sort of a "non sleazy" connection will increase the chance of acceptance up to 400%.

Filter 2 - Her profile signals

When you visit a girls' profile there are going to be a lot of things that'll tell you a lot about the person and help you understand what chances there are of her accepting your friend request.

Before you continue here make sure you've read the previous chapters and revamped your profile so that you have "engineered" a very seductive and friendly profile page for girls to WANT to accept.

An ideal profile is compulsory for getting a positive response from any girl.

3 Point F(#K Formula

Now for the first time ever, I'm going to reveal to you the 3 Point F*#K Formula that instances tells me whether or not a girl is open to meeting me and banging me.

In simple terms, I actively look and filter out girls who are just time wasters and zone in on the girls who I know have a very high likelihood of getting into bed with me. So please pay attention.

3 Point F*#K Formula: Point 1 - How old the profile is:

The age of the Facebook profile plays a very important role in deciding whether or not you should send a Friends Request to a girl and ultimately try to hook up with her.

A girl who's new on Facebook will be likelier to accept your friend request than a girl who's been using Facebook for ages (the longer a hot girl has been using Facebook, the more creepy and crazy stalkers she's come across, and she'll be more likely to avoid strangers).

The easiest way of estimating the profile age is by seeing how far her Timeline goes back. Or, use this "advanced" method...

Since the birth of Facebook, each profile registered is given a label.

Facebook numbers all the profiles created one after another. The count began with the first Facebook profile of Mark Zuckerberg and is being maintained even today. All you have to know to be able to use this for yourself is whether the profile was opened just recently or long ago.

First, find a relatively new profile. Maybe someone you know who recently joined Facebook. Click on his profile picture or cover picture and take a look at the URL. If you're not familiar with URLs, a URL is the address of a website. Kind of like the address of your own house. A box in your browser on top of the webpage usually shows the URL of page you are in.

Got the URL of that recently made profile? It's supposed to look something like this:

<http://www.facebook.com/photo.php?fbid=495117450535715&set=a.128305837216880.13645.100001123927979&type=1&theater>

Now remember. You're looking for a 15 digit number that begins with a 10000 or 1000 (I highlighted the number in yellow). You've probably figured it out already, it's been counting from 1 after the first 1 and the 14 0s. Now, think a little further, it's a new profile so you get an idea how far the count has gone so far.

You do the same with the girls' profile you visited to get the profile id and VOILA! There it is, that's how new that profile is.

Note that the number could be something that doesn't begin with a 1000. Very old Hotmail or gmail profiles tend to have exceptional numbers. If the holders id number is exceptional or you can't find it. Abort operation. The profile has to be very old.

Also, check her "about" and "information" page. If the profile isn't very complete and messy try to notice if it's because she's new. Note that empty places you see on her profile may not really be empty. It could be because of her privacy that you can't see anything.

P.S. – due to privacy concerns often you're going to have to face the situation where you won't be able to click on the display photo or cover photo. In that case go to the 'photos' tab after the 'friends' tab and select a photo from there.

3 Point F*#K Formula: Point 2 - How much of a Facebook-addict the user is:

Generally speaking there is a strong correlation between how much a girl uses Facebook and how many idiots she will meet.

So what you're looking for is an active profile where you know the girl checks her Facebook regularly, but one that is not active 24/7 ALL the time.

You just need to know that the profile is not "dormant" and if you do send her friend requests, she WILL accept it. More or less, it's important for her to use Facebook semi routinely.

Now how does this kind of information help you filter out F#@K buddies?

Well, if she spends a lot of time there chances are she plays Facebook games and spends time on the applications.

Furthermore she is more likely to check her friend requests frequently. Assuming you have followed our advice and revamped your profile, there is a good chance she'll add you.

Now in my opinion, the single most useful test to determine how addicted to Facebook a girl is by looking at her posts and activity.

If you want to do this automatically, this is how to set it up.

- a. Use the follow option on her profile.
- b. Then checking the get notifications option.

That way, whenever she posts you get a notification about it. The more often she posts the more addicted she is.

There's also another method to confirm your initial findings, but it's not 100% accurate.

If you have access to her photo albums you can check how often she changes her profile pictures or updates her info.

This isn't going to be accurate all the time because I've seen a lot of girls being on Facebook but they hardly change her profile cover or update any information.

However, there is a side benefit to knowing this. When you see a girl updating her information constantly often it means most of the time she's on Facebook because she's bored.

So the chances of rejecting you are MUCH lower. They are sick of all the bullshit random guys have been applying on them. If you're able to stand out from all the creeps out there you really have a chance of being good friends with her.

P.S. – She has to approve of the follow option. It may not be there depending on her privacy settings. (Damn you privacy settings!)

3 Point F*#K Formula: Point 3 - Does she add strangers? :

The most important indication on whether a girl might add you or not depends on the fact if she's adding strangers or not. If she is and your profile is sexy because you took our advice and revamped it according to the guidelines in the previous chapters, then it's pretty much certain you're going to get accepted.

So how can you tell if she accepts guys she doesn't know?

Now there can be many ways to get an idea.

- a. Check the age of her profile and look at the number of friends she has. Compare the two numbers to get to a conclusion. If is adding a lot of friends within a very short time period then she must be adding strangers by accepting all the friend requests. A lot of women actually do this. It's handy but 'cause she's adding a lot of people it increases your competition.
- b. Check her friends. You can guess who are the people she REALLY knows versus the "randoms." If you see men from distant places compared to where she lives or foreigners in weird locations, then it's another indicator she adds strangers.
- c. Look at the number of likes and comments on her photos. Also see if she's replying to the comments made there. If she isn't, she's definitely adding strangers.
- d. Look at the tagged photos (from the photos tab). Check whether they meet the true purpose of tagging photos, as in the people tagged are actually people, or are they just random images of stupid things. Then compare her profile age to the number of tagged photos. Also see how many different albums she's tagged in. Don't worry you don't have to open each photo to check. You can see the name of the photo just by taking the mouse arrow on the photo. If you see a lot of meaningless photos tagged she has to be adding strangers.

Filter 3 - Her popularity

It's important to note how popular the profile of a girl is on Facebook. In Facebook popularity means having loads of guys and gals liking and commenting your posts.

The popularity of a profile is inversely proportional to chances of your success in picking her up.

So what does this mean?

The more popular she is, the less likely you're going to get laid.

Having said that, if you follow the techniques we teach you here, it will work magic. I've made friends with a lot of very popular girls, with a hundred or two hundred likes per picture on average.

Now you must understand, most of the comments and likes are not from REAL friends, and it's because most of the guys liking or commenting were the regular douchebags.

So you got to really stand apart from the crowd to get with a girl like that, otherwise you're just going to be one of the many idiots that ends up commenting on her wall.

Identifying a fake profile to avoid:

Mainly there are going to be two kinds of fake profiles on Facebook. They are as follows:

- a. The “prank” or “joke” profile - these are the kind made by some idiot usually as a joke to just to have fun. Normally these profiles will be carelessly built and have very little activity. Even if they have been created properly the biggest tell tale sign is that there is near zero activity. So whenever you see one like this be sure to avoid it.
- b. The advertisement profile - The other kind is the profiles made for marketing, advertisement or commercial reasons like that. These profiles will way to many friends, often in the thousands and you can be sure that it’s not going to be worth your time to add them also. Keep in mind that there are however going to be a lot of exceptions. The profile normally will be very active but contain lots of links and marketing messages aimed to make you buy things from them. If you see this, you should also avoid it.

Chapter 8: How To Turn FB Into Your Personal F*#KBOOK!

In this chapter I'm going to give you detailed examples of how you should contact girls once you have filtered them out using the criteria I gave you.

Before she adds you as a friend, what should you send her in your "Friends Request" message?

As a rule of thumb, you want to demonstrate that you are a guy who's cool and fun and who has high social value.

What you don't want to make her think is that you're a "cocky" asshole who she should just ignore.

Remember, Facebook isn't an online dating website regardless of what purpose you may use it for. So you can't simply transfer "seduction tactics" that you're accustomed using dating sites here. You're going to have to learn to be fun but formal. If you send something like "hey, nice outfit. Pink is totally your color and you look super cute by the way" It directly gives the girl the impression that it's not friendship you're after.

Remember, you want to go "under the radar."

Facebook is unpredictable, the reason for this is because you're going to meet a large variety of different girls here. I mean, sure some girls might dislike the fact that you're "fun and formal" but as a general rule of thumb I'd advise starting off in this manner. Here are some copy and paste examples you can use:

- a. "Hey, we went to the same School together! Which year did you graduate?"
- b. "I think maybe we met before? I'm Noells' friend. He's told me so much about you?"
- c. "hello, I've read your blog on system change advocacy. I really dig it! I'm surprised to find someone else who seems cool and interesting, but isn't a total geek also!"

But in all honestly, WHAT you say isn't all that important.

As long as you don't say something totally retarded, girls will take a look at your profile.

That is what makes or breaks you.

Remember, your profile page and photos you have of yourself really determine whether or not a girl is going to add you or not. In fact, I guesstimate it affects 95% of her decision making process.

If you have a profile that demonstrates higher value and is "female friendly" then even if she doesn't really know you, then she'll just accept your friends request anyway in most instances. I mean, who DOESN'T like cool people?

The “thanks for adding” post:

You'll find a lot of people who after having their friends request accepted will write on the profile page of the person who just accepted them and post something like “thanks for the add.”

Now, I used to think that was totally stupid and not worth saying, until I realized the potential in terms of getting me pussy!

Let me break down the numbers for you. Let's say out of 20 “thanks for adds” I'd get around 10 girls who respond back. That's 10 girls I can IMMEDIATELY start chatting with.

And you know what? You know for a fact these girls are “more friendly” and open to chatting to you and will be much more receptive to your advances.

Here are some general guidelines that I follow when determining whether or not I will send them a “thanks for the add” post.

- a. The age of the profile - girls with few friends are great for this. Most of them will be keen to meet new people like you! So whenever a relatively new profile adds you, go for it. There are good chances of success.
- b. The popularity of the profile - if you encounter a girl with hundreds or thousands of friends, then you shouldn't waste your time sending them a message like this.
- c. The bitchiness of the profile - there are some profiles where it's obvious that the girl is a high maintenance bitch. Normally these are the profiles where the girl has thousands of photos and every new status update she does, 10 guys immediately comment on it. When you meet a girl like this, I advise you to move on.

Some itty-bitty forms of communication:

Imagine some girl has updated her status with her view regarding the economy. You happen to understand economics very well, and notice she's missing out something.

You've never had any sort of interaction with her before. If she doesn't have a lot of lame wannabe guys stalking her, or if her status is just too intellectual for them to understand, there won't be many (or any) comments there.

This presents you with an opportunity. If you have something interesting to point out, and you think she'll appreciate it, post a comment!

Since other guys haven't polluted her status update, she's going to click her notification and check out what you've written.

If your comment is thoughtful, and makes it clear that you've got some knowledge on the topic, you immediately set yourself apart from the other guys. There is a high possibility of her replying to your comment, so you'll be able to begin a conversation with her—on a subject you're comfortable talking about.

If this starts a back-and-forth dialogue in her comments section, between you and her, take the conversation over to the chat box. This way, it will only be the two of you interacting in private.

Here is an example:

Her: Intellectual status update: We've now reached a point where democracy no longer serves in favor of the people. Democracy is supposed to be the system where people are given the power, now instead power is being used for pushing them back. Reminds me of a very favorite quote of mine "People should not be afraid of their governments, the government should be afraid of the people"

You: Well said...but I feel that in reality you can't change much going against the government. Our constitution no longer suits our needs, it has to be changed in order to overcome the situation.

How you begin a conversation:

On Facebook, the best way to seduce a girl initially is by beginning a conversation with Facebook chat.

Now before we get to how you begin the conversation, it's important to know when you should try to. Timing is vital. Your chances of getting a reply greatly depend on it.

On weekend evenings or Saturday nights, Facebook is going to be swarming with people online. You should try to choose a time when less people tend to be online. That way, she will probably have less people competing for her attention.

The best time to start a conversation with her is when you notice she's bored. Go to her Timeline and checkout what she's doing. If she's not posting anything she's probably chatting with 5 people or doing a college assignment in the next tab. When you see her sharing photos and stuff, updating her status more than once it's obvious she's bored and has nothing to do. This is your chance to start a conversation.

Before trying to begin a conversation, it's good to make sure she knows you exist. Have virtual eye contact with her. "Like" her status updates or share some pages post she's shared a few times.

I stress a FEW times.

Make sure you do not end liking everything she posts or commenting on every single thing she says. This is purely CREEPY.

I've seen creeps who like EVERY SINGLE photo on someone's profile.

Also, never make the mistake of liking old photos from her profile, unless they come to your newsfeed. Why? By doing that you're just letting her know that you've been stalking her profile.

That's also creepy and desperate, too.

It's ok if she updates her old photos and it appears as a status update on your wall, but that's about the only time it's ok to comment on OLD photos.

If you want to test her interest in you, wait for her to "like" your material. If she "likes" two of your posts in a short period of time, the door is now open for you to try starting a chat with her. And if she ever "likes" a photo of yours, even just once, you should immediately start chatting to her!

The first message:

Like I said earlier, you don't want to be seen as a cocky asshole. You should be fun and casual, while using proper English and not doing anything to offend her. If she's a friend of a friend, you can let her know that, and use that to begin your conversation.

For example, if you're able to find and add a hot girl who is friends with your cousin, you could say "Hey, I think I know you from somewhere, does [COUSIN NAME] ring a bell?"

Now, if you're chatting up a complete stranger you won't use this kind of opener. So make sure that you still come across as casual and friendly, but polite. Before you send a complete stranger a message, I advise you to spend 5 minutes looking through her Facebook profile and use something there to start a conversation with.

Whatever you do, you don't want to start with something boring like "what's up" or "where are you from." If you do, it screams that you're a random and she shouldn't be talking to you.

For example you see this girl who's studying first year in chemistry and it's practical classes season. You can begin with something random like:

You: Hey there, you're in my chemistry class right, you looked confused.

Her: hehe yeah

You: Bending glass tubes is so absurd, something has to go wrong every time no matter what I do! Either the tubes don't like the burner or me. Why can't they just manufacture 45 degree tubes and save us the trouble?

Her: hahaha you just read my mind! This last time I went so close to 45 but it was a bit short and when I placed it on the burner again the whole joint just melt off -_- btw, are you from school?

You: yeah, like my friend was being so cautious and all that he ended up dropping the tube. Nea, I'm actually in mechanical at [INSERT SCHOOL] we needed some bent tubes for a class project, now all we've got is burnt hands and broken glass

Her: haha, oh I see, do you know me then?

You: I saw your profile. So you must be from [INSERT SCHOOL], I've got friends from there. What division are you in?

Like I mentioned earlier, before you start chatting to a girl, you need to take some time to look at her profile and quickly "cold read" her. Chances are the girls you meet from chemistry are smarter and more ambitious, so they won't be that bothered when talking about study.

The point is you don't want to be seen as totally hitting on her at the very start.

If you have no idea what to say, here are some generic copy and paste openers you should use:

You: Hey, I saw your profile, do you love puppies? You look like a puppy loving type. I hope you're as friendly as your profile looks!

You: Wow, you look interesting, I had to look at your profile twice. Tell me more about [XYZ TOPIC SHE CLAIMS TO LIKE] I didn't know that there were cool people that liked [TOPIC] like me also?

The second message and the seduction process:

In order for you to succeed with women on Facebook, you must understand that you need to prove to her that you are interested in her for something more than just her looks.

You have to show her that your desire for her is not just on the surface but you want a deeper connection.

Regardless of the fact that you may simply want a woman because you find her profile attractive, you still need to somehow let her know that you like her personality.

It's generally advised that if you do pursue a woman, you should look for other things than just her looks.

But I do know that you're not going to marry every single girl that you meet, and there are some relationships that you may pursue purely based on sex. You may want to just find Facebook F*#K buddies—however, I want to make sure you're prepared to be able to keep the women that you genuinely and truly admire.

So how do you pull this off?

You need to QUALIFY her and make her prove to you that she's "F#*KABLE" to you for reasons beyond her looks.

What do I mean by this?

You want to show her, through a progression of steps, that she initially wasn't very special but eventually through the passing of time and throughout your interactions the two of you built a connection that you cherish.

The process of qualifying a woman to attract her is as follows:

1. Ask her open-ended questions about deeper and more meaningful topics where you truly are able to discover her characteristics and qualities.

2. Let her know that you approve or disapprove of her qualities.
3. Then hint to her that it is because of the values she demonstrated whilst answering your questions you two have connected on a level that would make her special in your eyes.

A working example is as follows:

You: If you had all the money in the world, what would you do with it?

Her: wow, that's an interesting question. I guess I would start an orphanage and help children who are less fortunate than I am. I would then... blah blah blah

(after 5 minutes of explaining what she would do in detail)

You: really I never thought you were such a kind and gentle person. There truly is more to you than just meets the eye. I totally agree with you, as I also have a World Vision child that I'm caring for and I really like the fact that we're on the same standing here.

You would then repeat the process of asking her more deep and personal questions, so that she'll open to you more and more.

After doing this a few times, the two of you would have shared your deeper and more personal thoughts.

This is what sets you apart from other men and proves to her that you're attracted to her for more than her looks and as such, she'll start liking you much more.

The critical thing to bear in mind is that you should never ever stop qualifying a girl.

You always need to let her think that you're interested in her for more than just sex.

Another reason to let the girl know a reason WHY you like her is that it further enhances your superior social standing.

When you make sure the woman that you sleep with need to possess traits and qualities that you actively filter, you show her that you have other options and that you clearly are a man that other women desire.

You're not just like the other guys who like her simply for her looks.

Instead, you're a guy who wants to know what she's like beyond her physical reflection in the mirror and you let her know that.

In general, you should spend a lot more time to qualify a girl the less you know her.

Typically at the start of the pickup, you ask general questions to qualify the woman and move into more deeper topics as shown in the example above.

Here are a list of common questions you ask a girl to qualify her at the start:

1. So what do you think is your best quality?
2. What's something you've achieved that you're really proud of?
3. Tell me the most adventurous thing you've ever done.
4. I bet you have some hidden talent that I would never guess...what is it?
5. What's the worst pickup line you've heard?

Later on in the pickup, you can ask these deeper questions:

1. What would you want to do if you could change the world?
2. If money wasn't a problem what would you be doing?
3. Who are the most influential people in your life?
4. What would you consider to be more important? Loving someone but knowing they will leave you or not loving at all?
5. Would you first cheat on someone if you knew that they were going to cheat on you?

I cannot stress how important it is for you to properly qualify a girl. Do not rush this stage and spend a lot of time at it. Also, make sure you actually LISTEN to her responses intently.

The reason for this is because it further opens up the lines of communication and she would be sharing her thoughts with you.

This would make your presence more comfortable and soon she'll be able to relax and really let down her guard.

Now you have her initial interest, you need to work on amplifying her attraction towards you.

Creating a lot of attraction is not something extremely hard once you understand the theory about it.

How to make her CRAVE you to "TOTALLY F#(K YOU"?

So what's the secret that makes a girl want to F#@K you?

You have to make her feel an emotional connection with you.

How do you get people to be attracted to you, especially women?

What you need to do is to get her attached to you, more specifically; you need to have a greater emotional attachment with her compared to the other guys around her.

Let me explain this theory to you through an analogy.

For example, let's pretend you purchased a cheap run down car worth $100.

If you spend six hours a day, every single day working on that car worth $100 dollars, you will most likely be attached to that vehicle. If something happened bad to the car you will feel horrible and take it personally.

This is despite the fact that the monetary value of the car was only $100 when you purchased it.

You would take it much more personally because you spent so much of your time and invested your blood sweat and tears trying to make the vehicle better.

You had your emotions embedded into the car chassis despite the fact, that no matter how you time you have spent on the car to increase the value, it's still going to be a cheap car.

This is the same thing with human interactions.

If you can get her emotionally attached to the conversation or interactions with you. She will turn be more attracted to you and you will be liked by her in a romantic sense. This is the key to have sex with her.

So how do you do this?

How do you get her to open up her emotional bank and invest her hard earned feelings into you?

You do this by asking the right questions.

What you need to do is ask her questions that she doesn't share with other people, so you get responses out of her, that are so private and personal that you will be able to connect to her in the core.

Her inner core is part of her personality that she doesn't show to everybody.

In fact, she only shows it to her closest friends - if she shares it at all.

Most people in this world have two type of personality and personas.

The first is the outward face that they show the world, this is the face where they show in the street they show in public and to co-workers. This is their "everyday face."

But in reality, there is an inner core being, this is a person that they only show to their close friends and family. What you need to do is talk to her core.

Ask her personal questions that make her slightly let down her guard.

Here is a copy and paste example you can use. Rather asking what she does for a living, say something like this:

"don't you find it interesting that most people try to make friends by introducing each then they start asking superficial questions about each other's education or qualifications. It's as if they are interviewing each other to see if they are worthy of being friends. So unlike those guys, I want to talk about something interesting. What was the funniest or worst pickup attempt that you had experience?"

Now if you asked a girl about the worst pickup event that she has experienced she will share with you a very funny story.

This will in turn make the interaction interesting and she would not share the story to other friends. However, she will remember it very because it's funny and she will talk about it. Not only will this open you up for the two of you to talk about relationships, this will also give you access to that zone inside her life where she talks to you about guys and people she's been with, or what she looks for in a man and what's important to her in a relationship.

All this talk that she'll share with you would be very personal to her, and she would not have just shared it with anyone.

By doing that, it would be as if she's taking a chance with her emotional bank and opening up the vaults and putting some in your keep.

If you're able to do this over and over again, she'll realize that you're more than just a friend material.

That's how to increase the attraction to you from women, you need to ask questions that are personal to her.

Make sure these questions allow her to open up and be a bit more vulnerable when she tells you it.

Every time she tells you a little secret. It's as if she's taking a little bit more of her emotional bank and putting in your keeping.

Don't be a chump and ask her superficial questions that really do not matter.

In order to do this, and ask these probing questions, you need to be good at introducing topics.

The best way to make someone open up to you personally is by sharing with her a little secret of your own.

In the above example, you could tell her the time when a girl tried to pick you up and failed miserably.

Now, apart from getting her to open up her emotional bank through probing questions, you can also do it by asking her to do small favors for you.

By making her actively take action to do things for you, you're making her invest in you.

That's what you want her to do.

MAKE HER INVEST IN YOU!

Once she does that, she'll F*#K YOU!

Make sure the “investments” you ask from her are small and perceived by her as “no big deal.” This is what I used to do (and it worked like a charm). I used to start by asking girls I wanted to bang to buy me some cookies. I would then tell her to drop by my work with the cookies before she went to class. If she did that, I would thank her and then hint to her that home made cookies are even better.

So this meant to please me, in the future she would have to spend time and effort and stand there in the kitchen waiting for the cookies to be baked.

Just for me!

In the Facebook world, you can make girls promise to wait up until a certain time for you. Or make her read a few funny stories for you. It doesn't really matter what she does, as long as she did it for YOU!

The point is, the more things she does for you, the more she will subconsciously be attracted to you.

It's just like how you spend so much time and energy adding modifications and doing up the cheap car.

People like to rationalize their actions, AFTER they have done the action.

So if a woman starts baking you cookies, or waits around for you on Facebook or starts doing things that a girlfriend would do, she would have to rationalize it.

She would then think to herself, AFTER she's brought you lunch, “I wonder why I'm doing this, maybe it's because I like him.” Just like how you would rationalize all the effort and time spent in repairing such a run down vehicle.

You must do it, because the car is special.

So she must be doing things and opening up for you, because you are special to her. Special enough for her to F*@K!

Once you set this pattern up, she'll start seeing you as the person she wants to connect with romantically whether she likes it or not.

If you can get her to do things that only a girlfriend would do, then in her mind she'll actually convince herself AFTER she's done the act, then she's doing all these things because she likes you and you're special to her.

How to speak directly to her "feminine desires"

In order to make a woman feel close enough to you for her to want to sleep with you need to have a special connection with her. The goal of the interaction will lead to seduction naturally. What you want to achieve is make her feel as if the two of you have a deep bond and a special understanding that no one else shares in this else.

You create this connection through having rapport.

Rapport is the feeling of closeness between two people and the best way to create is by using this analogy.

Think about this quote:

"Its you and me baby, alone against this mad, mad world."

If you're able to make the woman think that it's the two of you are alone together, and there is no one else around then you would have created something. You now become a team. You are no longer alone in this world, but you have someone else who will be there by your side to back you up wherever you're in need.

What this does is makes you connected to that woman, emotionally, intellectually and in time physically. This bond between you two is valuable to her and because of this, you'll be extremely important in her life.

This is powerful.

If you're able to make your presence and persona connect with her inner core and become apart of her, then you would have succeed in seducing her mind and soul.

She will feel as if she has found a soul mate in you and you're the only person that truly understands her.

It's just you and her, versus everyone else in this cold, hard world.

So once you establish in her mind that you and her have a connection that is exclusive between the both of them you will be the only one she cares about. This is because once you connect to her at an inner core in a level that most people can't even reach, your presence would be engraved in her happiness.

That's the theory relating to the importance of rapport and building an inner connection.

But what are the step-by-step things you can do practically to start this process?

Here's a list of things that I found to be easy to implement, but it's important to start getting a role play between the two of you. After that's done you do this:

1. create nicknames for each other
2. create personal jokes between each other
3. make a distinct language between yourselves
4. make fun of things together in a certain way.

Once you're able to converse and talk to each other in the way I described above it will be as if it's just the two of you in the world and you're growing stronger that special bond you have.

It's very important to get this right; you need to do this at the start, when you first meet a woman. The reason for this is if you don't give her during the beginning but you try it later, it will feel awkward.

I find a great way to initiate this is by just giving the woman I meet that I'm attracted to a nickname the first time I see her, and I call her that repeatedly throughout the interaction.

I say "oh, I like your skirt, it's so full of color and flowers, I'll call you a little flower girl now. I think that nickname is cute."

Then I observe her reactions and see how she plays along. What I'm looking for is for her to reciprocate back to give me a nickname of sorts or reacts in a flirty manner.

When you start building off these cute nicknames, or talk to each other in similar ways that others do not, you start to flirt with the woman on a level that is only reserved for lovers and people who are dating already.

This sets up the future interactions to be much more romantic and flirtatious as you'll be creating a feeling with her that you understand her. You and her are alone in this world and that you truly are something that she cannot live without.

In my initial interactions on Facebook, this is the process I go through:

1. start with an innocent "friendly" opener
2. give her a cute and creative nickname
3. start making jokes that only she and I would understand
4. start talking in a way that is funny, and if she laughs, I tell her that she can be my student and I'll teach her the art of being insanely funny
5. make her using the words that I teach her, otherwise she's a bad student and I'm going to punish her

As you can see, this is a natural pattern and is fun as heck!

What you need to do is get comfortable with being a bit silly and giving women nicknames and start role playing.

Once you have the role play scenario going on, then it's pretty much a confirmation on her part that you can start flirting with her.

Treat her like your annoying little sister

In short, the easiest way to think about creating rapport and a deep connection with women is that you should act like she's your annoying little sister that you make fun of.

Guys who have little sisters always enjoy making fun of them and playing jokes on them, but when it comes to serious matters of safety and protection they step in and defend their sibling with their life.

That's how you need to come across.

So keep this in your mind, most of the time you should be mercilessly teasing the girl that you're interested in.

Make fun of everything she does or says.

Don't take her protests too seriously, unless you know you've done something really bad.

The reason why this strategy works so well is because only people who know each other very well act in such a way.

Think about this—men who are good friends constantly make fun and pester each other in a way to build bonding and strengthen friendships.

Generally, the better you know a guy, the more you can playfully make fun of him (because you both know you're just joking around).

Then the more they want to get back at making fun of you.

The same goes with women that you're interested in.

The more you make fun of her, the more she feels the two of you are close and have a deep connection, and the more she'll want to get back at you.

The only difference is unlike men making fun of each other, when you make fun of a woman, use subtle hints of sexual innuendo and make it as if she's constantly trying to hit on you and seduce you.

Not only does it make for a funny conversation, but this shows to the woman that you're not just "a friend" you're a guy that wants much more than that, and you're not afraid to hint it to her.

Most women are able to pick up the cues and hints that you drop in when you're flirting and teasing her and if she flirts back or reacts to your teasing, then you know that it's on.

How you get her phone number (or other mediums of contact):

The easiest way to get a girl's phone number is to try to get a few different forms of electronic communication contact from her, but at the same time, "casually" ask for her number "just in case."

Say for example, you have been chatting to a girl a lot and you ask her for her SKYPE/Whatsapp/Viber/Line/Yahoo Messenger/MSN Messenger/email what you immediately do is then add a phone request at the end. This is how to do it:

“hey Julie, you seem like a cool person, what’s your SKYPE or email? I don’t use Facebook that much but I want to get a hold of you sometime. Oh, by the way, I have 3G or 4G on my phone, so let me grab your number too just in case my internet doesn’t work on my phone.”

Here are other examples to get her number:

a. Spike her curiosity

You: You know the weirdest thing just happened today!

Her: Really? What!?

You: It’s a long story, leave it. You’d just get bored reading

Her: Come on bitch! I want to hear it, tell me!

You: I’ll tell you on the phone, give me your number.

b. Offer her a service - Maybe when she’s missed an episode of her favorite show, or you might have to inform her something you can make the excuse.

You: Did you watch the supernatural episode yesterday?

Her: no Damn I forgot!

You: haha, you should be regretting, it was friggin epic

Her: I’ll download it when it’s been uploaded

You: Give me your number, I’ll remind you about it each week

Note that the most important thing about asking her number is making sure that you don’t sound desperate. You have to keep the attitude that since you’re friends it’s sort of your right to ask for her number, you don’t have to hesitate.

Directly say something like “hey, I didn’t get your number” or “Give me your number, we’ll keep in touch” when she’s signing out. That way she won’t have much time to think but I’m sure that won’t be necessary ‘cause she’d give to you anyway.

Facebook Seduction Routines (Copy & Paste)

The following is a compilation of material we gathered from seduction-related Internet forums, and from our own personal archives. We've tested many of these openers and routines and they work great!

Most of the time the status updates revolve around the combination of using humor to demonstrate your status as an attractive male, yet poking fun at the women around you at the same time.

Status Updates (Your Name Goes Into The Blank Spaces)

- "___thinks blondes do it better."
 - This gets the non-blonde girls to chime in and “qualify” themselves to you, while the blondes will give you “likes” and positive comments.

- "___is out saving the world.....one beautiful woman at a time ☺"

- "___is debating whether or not he should contact his physician about his erection lasting more than twelve hours."
 - this one got us lots of comments!

- "___just noticed that someone got onto his facebook and deleted all the hot girls"

- "___has been cleaning up his friends list...so if you're reading this, congrats!

- You're still cool! But don't get too comfortable..."
- "My charm is so contagious, a vaccine was created for it."
- "...seriously.. is there any girl out there that can even keep up with the way I roll?"
- "_____ is Half-Man, Half Amazing."
- "If a genie ever grants me three wishes, goodbye Kardashians."
- "When I say 'wow, that's crazy,' 99 percent of the time it means I haven't been listening to a single word you said."
- "A foolish man tells a woman to stop talking, but a wise man tells her that her mouth is extremely sexy when her lips are closed."
- "They say magnets destroy credit cards. Well, not nearly as much as happy hours and women."
- "Sex burns up 350 calories each time. I'm trying to lose a few pounds, can anyone help with my workout routine?"
- "Reality is an illusion that occurs due to lack of alcohol."
- "We all have that one friend you just can't bring anywhere, cause they always embarrass you. If you can't think of who that friend is...it's you."

- "___is officially (insert the name of your city or college)'s #1 bachelor."
- "___is tired of girls just using him for sex. I'm a human being with emotions, darn it!"
- "___is now accepting Girlfriend Applications. Must be 18 or older to apply. "
- "___has had enough of girls that are only beautiful on the outside"
 - Got a bunch of likes from guys AND girls, along with comments
- "___is the next big thing."
 - Displays some cocky confidence; another magnet for likes and comments.
- "___is now accepting applications for an Evil Sidekick. Must be 18 or older, female, and know how to drive a getaway car."
- "Forecast for tonight: irresponsible amounts of alcohol, with a very high chance of fun and doing something I'll regret tomorrow. Who's in?"
- "Women are like parking spots. All the good ones are taken, the others are too far, and the rest are all just handicapped."
- "Just wondering, does anyone knows where to buy a comfortable, inexpensive manthong? Zebra-striped would be preferable."

- “Is it ok for me to bring Sexyback...without a receipt?”
 - Referencing the Justin Timberlake song that girls love.
- " _____ thinks beauty is common...find me a girl who can cook killer Italian food, and I'll be impressed."
- " ____likes big butts and he cannot lie."

Facebook Routines (Use These When Chatting With A Girl)

These routines are designed to boost attraction and make her find you much more interesting once you start a conversation with her. You can convert a lot of the status updates that we listed above into topics for conversation for examples read below.

Routine #1: The Getaway Car Driver

The following is an example of “role-playing,” where you invent an outrageous, humorous scenario and cast yourself and the girl in the two starring roles.

This can have the effect of you and her going on an imaginary adventure together, which can spike her emotions and get her caught up in the fantasy. (It’s also a whole lot more fun than asking her the usual boring “small talk” questions!)

YOU: Hey are you a good driver?

HER: Yes, why?

YOU: Because I feel like robbing a bank, and I need someone to drive the getaway car ☺

Girls who have a fun, outgoing personality love these kinds of “role play” exercises. I’ll tell her my “plan” is for us to rob a bank, grab a few million dollars, and then we’ll move to some exotic island like Bora Bora or Tahiti, where we can live a life of leisure...or I plan on whisking her away to Paris so we can toast our champagne glasses at the top of the Eiffel Tower...

The idea here is to paint a picture in her mind of the two of you AS A TEAM experiencing an amazing adventure together.

Routine #2: The Bachelorette Party

YOU: Hey, I bet you’d know the answer to this question (just give me an honest answer ok)

HER: Um ok...

YOU: My friend Jen is in charge of her best friend’s bachelorette party. She needs to know a really FUN place for them to have a girl’s night out. If you were in charge of the party, where would you bring everyone?

Routine #3: Fashion Advice

YOU: I like that pic in your album where you are wearing the red outfit. You’ve got good style...which is good because I can’t be seen in public with girls who don’t know how to dress 😊

HER: Lol, thanks

YOU: Let me ask you a question cuz I need your expert opinion, style goddess...

HER: Hehe ok ?

YOU: My friend John asked me to go shopping with him tomorrow because he wants me to help him do a “fashion makeover.” I love John but he’s been wearing the same clothes and hair style since the seventh grade so it's sort of an emergency case ☺ So if you were going to take one of your guy friends shopping for clothes, where would you bring them?

Routine #4: The Privacy Question

YOU: I got a weird question about a relationship situation and I think you'd have a good answer for this...

HER: Sure ok...

YOU: Is my friend Mike wrong for getting mad at his girlfriend? Somehow she got the password to his Facebook account and found out that he was emailing with his ex-girlfriend. Nothing bad, they were just chatting and keeping in touch, but she was really upset that they're still talking to each other. And Mike was mad because he felt she violated his privacy. Honestly, if you could get into your boyfriend's Facebook account, would you check his emails?

Routine #5: "Do I look gay?"

Only use this one if you are super confident of the photos in your account (because you know you look insanely awesome), otherwise instead of using yourself, use a friend of yours and ask her what she thinks of him.

YOU: Hey, can you take a look at my facebook pics and tell me if I look gay in any of them? Sounds weird I know, lol, but seriously I need to figure out if I'm sending out any gay signals...

HER: haha...why?

YOU: I keep getting Friend Requests from gay guys and I can't figure out why! Is it the way my ass looks in that pic of me wearing jeans?

Note: With these routines, the main purpose is to engage her attention and pull her into a fun, original chat. You can take the chat in whatever direction you want after the opening exchange.

Using these types of routines is MUCH more effective than trying to open a chat with something lame and predictable like “hey what’s up.”

Case Study: A Full Facebook Chat From Opener To Close

Now let’s take a look at an extended chat. We found this example on an internet forum where guys exchange seduction tips and tactics.

We had a reader send in a conversation and ask us to break it down step by step to explain why it worked so well.

I’ll give some commentary as it goes along, to help you to understand WHY this guy’s chatting strategy is working.

The chat begins around 11:30 pm on a weeknight...

(PART 1- OPENING)

ME- past ur bedtime missy (wink)

This is a confident, playful opener...much more likely to get a response than saying something weak such as “hey how are you...”. You are also including a bit of role play and letting her know that she should go to sleep like the little girl that she is. This builds up a desire for her to challenge you and prove you wrong.

HER- haha oh no. im up for all hours!

ME- youve got school tomorrow right?

HER- no, we have the entire week off. pretty sweet huh?

ME- haha yeah not good timing tho

HER- why not? (smile)

ME- cuz we were supposed to go to Bora Bora n chill, but I dont have this week off!

Further examples of “role playing”—playfully suggesting that the two of them are supposed to heading off an adventure together. You want to see if she plays along and complies. If she does then she likes you and probably is fun to hang out with. If she doesn’t play along then you know that either she doesn’t like you or isn’t a fun girl to hang out with.

HER- oh right! that plan!

ME- yeah you know, just go their for brunch, chill, and then fly to paris, eat an exquisite dinner overlooking the Eifel tower, and then take a cruise through the city in a Bugatti Veyron...

This is where you set up a future date with her in her mind. You talk about events in the near future so that she can imagine being with you at your side in a very romantic setting. You’re clearly flirting with her and seeing if she likes what you’re saying, to gauge her interest level.

HER- now thats what i call a perfect getaway!

ME- well almost but not quite

ME- I didn’t include what happens after the drive...that’s where your imagination comes in (wink)

HER- omg, you are so bad, lol

ME- yup but bad boys are so much fun and u know it 😊

Now this is good, because she started to bring up suggest flirting. This means your chat can continue for a short while longer, then she needs to head off to bed. You are letting her know that you’re afraid to talk about sex and you have started to plant seeds of seduction in her mind. You're no longer a guy who she just sees as any normal friend, because honestly girls don't talk about sex with plutonic friends. You are becoming the "bad boy" that is going to make her scream your name in your sheets.

You also happen to be the last thing on her mind before she goes to bed and guess what? You were talking about doing adult things to her and she liked it.

(Now its 12:00 pm, the next day, and SHE resumes the chat...)

HER- so when are we going to Paris? Lol

ME- look at you, planning this whole conversation so that you can get the first word of the day!

HER- im smart like that. haha so whats new with you these days? i like your new pics by the way.. looking good

ME- thanx...I gotta run but we can chat later, have an awesome day ☺

This is a good sign, because SHE started the conversation. Obviously she was thinking about the guy since last night because she used the same thread to open the discussion. Now, since she's displaying so much interest, the guy was very smart to use "push pull" to advantage.

Since she's pulling him closer (by contacting him first) he's just pushing her away to leave her hanging and wanting for more attention! He does this by leaving the conversation early.

(PART 2- THE GAME BEGINS)

At 8 pm, he hits her up again on Facebook chat:

ME- hey lets play a game

HER- okay.. what game?

ME- its called "Out Of 10." Now here are the rules...I say a topic, you reply with what you think you are, out of 10, and then you ask me. keep it G rated please. jk

HER- haha alright.. lets do this

ME- rubs hands together whew! alright! You go first

HER- okay. first topic.. keeping it g rated as you say. how good are you at driving stick shift! haha

Me- o gosh. ok one question in each rating category how bout that. spice it up a bit...as for stick shift, id say i am a 9.32 approximately ME- ok my turn. How good are you at lying?

HER- A 4. i cant lie, its too hard!

ME- dont be ashamed, you wouldnt want to put "Good liar" on your resume would you?

HER- hahaha nope. k my turn. how good of a kisser are you?

ME- i KNEW this was gonna show up soon! haha. I am confident im about an 8.5. Or a 9 if I'm kissing the right person 😊

As you can see, she likes this guy a lot because she started to talk about kissing. When she steers the chat into sexual territory—talking about kissing—he responds with some “cocky confidence.”

He doesn't shy away from the topic, instead he “ups the ante” and little and describes it more in detail and sets up a small challenge, “if he's kissing the right person”.

That kind of hints to the girl that maybe she could be the right person or not. He's creating more threads and opportunities in her mind to ponder and think about.

HER- haha well of course! thats pretty good!

ME- haha wait, kissing where?

HER- anywhere! anything!

ME- well if its the lips its an 9. im a 10 anywhere else (wink)

Here, he's escalating slowly and getting more sexual and flirtatious. He is gauging her interest level and the more positive she responds the more descriptive and sexual he becomes.

Notice he keeps saying "if" and not "you", so he can get away with "plausible deniability". If the girl starts calling him out for being a sexual creep, he can say "hey you started it, and also, who was talking about kissing you. Geez, I was saying IF, and I didn't say it was with you did I? Dream on".

He's leaving things up in the air to see where the girl wants to take the conversation, but he is clearly leading it onto a sexual path.

HER- thats even better (wink)

ME- ok. how good r u at making out/french kissing?

HER- im a solid 9. i had pretty great compliments from my ex boyfriend. but its been a while but i know i still have the skill

ME- that's a pretty high rating, your gonna have to prove that one

This is where the girl throws in a hidden shit test. She wants to see how the guy will react when she brings in perceived competition. Notice how he completely IGNORES the fact that she referred to her ex boyfriend. Instead, the focuses and redirects the conversation more about her proving her kissing skills to him, making the discussion more and more about sex.

HER- oh i will (wink)

ME- my 8 and ur 9 = 17. thats pretty dang good. your turn

HER- oh very good!

ME (she stalled for like ten minutes)- ur turn or mine? ah, yours. right. nvm

HER- its my turn, but i cant think of anything! im trying ME- ahaha the sky's the limit. i don't care what u ask, make it INTERESTING...

(PART 3- SEXUALIZING THE CHAT)

HER- how good are you at massages? and yes, they can be anywhere you like

ME- open ended question, i like it hm ok, back- 7, feet- 8, butt- 9 haha, head n neck- 8, and the special massage- off the charts. literally

HER- perfect. you're a natural!

ME- call me a try hard if u want, that would be correct, i go out of my way to make people happy it makes them want to be with me more. youll understand when I see you haha

HER- your making me too excited! you sound like you could spoil me (wink)

ME- just w8, once u experience, youll want to move here for good! haha lol. ok my turn, your gettin outta hand gurl!

but dont worry im not changing the subject...whens the last time u masturbated? haha yeah I just asked that.

Since he can tell by now the girl is extremely interested, he is going to close the deal. He's teasing and flirting HARD. This is a good thing! When you know you've got her interest and the flirting is going back-and-forth, always ESCALATE—as long as make it seem playful, not creepy.

Remember being playful but direct at the same time is very arousing for women and you can talk about any topic as long as you make it casual.

HER- woah! thats intense ty! haha let me think, maybe two weeks ago.. no lie. girls dont as often as guys do.

ME- its R rated ill say. inside or out though? haha yeah u learn in middle school that guys do it way more than girls

HER- never ever in my life have i masturbated inside.

dont know how you would go about that.. haha

ME- lol u still orgasm'd, right?

HER- dont know for sure. how do you know when you get one? lol.. isnt it supposed to be really intense?

ME- you mean very intense? you would know, your whole body would feel weak but also like every inch of you feels really amazing thats what im saying, if i got you to that point in the "massage" youd want me over every night. but i have school and work haha

HER- haha.. sounds good to me! i cant wait to see you again!(wink)

ME- its gonna be a gr8 time guaranteed. ok tell me one more question then ive gotta get 2 bed

HER- ok. do you want to ask? oh its my turn

ME- hmm. one question left for each of use then

HER- okay, how often do you fantasize about sex?

ME- hm probably not as much as a normal guy, i think maybe once or twice a day I actually think about a specific girl and how I would like to make love in a exotic place, and how intense it would be. but guys get little thoughts almost every hour. but yeah, real fantasizing, about once or twice a day

HER- haha... what are you hinting at? (wink)

ME- to be straightforward, ive fantasized a few times about some crazy stuff with you

HER- i agree! its perfectly normal and healthy for someone to fantisize! okay, someday lets make your fantasies come true (wink) last question of the night!

ME- glad our feelings our mutual haha. and same to your fantasies! ok, my question...

here goes...whats the CRAZIEST "fantasy" youve had?

HER- wow... im going to have to think hard about this one!

ME- bet theres LOTS to sort through.

HER- haha indeed!

okay, i remember this one dream because it was so intense. i was walking along the beach one night and the waves were crashing up against the shore. the breeze was catching my blonde hair, blowing it to the side. it was pitch black but i could faintly see a figure in the distace. as i got closer, i could tell it was you. i started walking faster and as we got closer, we ran. finally we reached each other and you picked me up and we started making out. we then fell to the sand. you on the top, and me on the bottom.. the waves were washing up underneath us and it got more intense.. you ripped off my shirt, and i took off yours. but i woke up shorty after.

(PART 4- CLOSING)

ME- WOW

inspiring read there. thing is...it ended when it was about to get better. it was just too intense for a dream

HER- i know.. thats always how my dreams are!

ive had prob more intense dreams than that!

ME- i said tell me the MOST INTENSE one! haha. youve told me all about you madturbating, theres nothing you cant share lol. Masturbating. Typo, lol.

HER- haha i suppose so! haha you really got to pry me tonight. you sucker! i didnt get to ask you such juicy questions text me tmrw morning around 10, and well continue this fun little convo of ours, and you can go ahead and ask me anything your little heart desires but yes, ill let you go.. im getting tired myself.. oh and a little tip.. i LOVE to cuddle.

ME- haha! well ill tell ya what...well make a deal

HER- yes! sounds like a plan! you arent gettin away easy

ME- alrighty! well, I like cuddling too, but you gotta win me over first though

Unlike most guys who'd drool and just turn over like a little puppy this guy knows the deal. He's not making it easy on her—he makes it seem like she needs to WIN HIM OVER! Women love a guy who seems hard to get.

Remember, this girl is talking about masturbating and sex with him. But the guy is just responding as if he's eating breakfast and this conversation isn't really making him horny. It shows her that he must be getting a lot of attention from girls because most other guys would jump at this chance to bang her.

HER- haha isnt cuddling a part of winning you over?

ME- indeed, a fraction of it, more or less...

HER- awesome

ME- this will continue tmrw, and all the advice I can give you is, get ready!

HER- haha alright ty! ill be prepared!

ME- haha k. im gonna try to have an amazing dream, you do the same.
good night babe

HER- goodnight hun. sweet dreams!

At this point, one more short chat should be all it takes to get this girl to meet up IN PERSON...and have sex. All of the groundwork has already been laid. The best thing is, he can start the next conversation with "Hey, SURPRISE! I have the tickets for our sweet vacation" and this will instantly bring back the fond memories of their chat in her mind and make her know that she is the man that is right to bang her.

YouTube Openers

The best way to get a conversation going with a girl or keeping an interesting chat is using material I find from YouTube.

The best thing is, you can totally tell what girls LOVE to talk about when you watch a few YouTube videos.

For example, there is a female YouTube comedian by the name of Jenna Marbles. She has more followers than Rihanna, Britney Spears and Usher... combined! She has a following of 10 million subscribers. And she did this all without the help of a huge MTV network pushing her material.

She was just insanely funny to her audience... WOMEN!

What I love doing is watching her videos, then sending it as a link to a girl I want to chat with or in a middle of conversation with. Then add a funny line at the bottom of the link like:

“Hey, you should check this out, totally reminds me of you when you get drunk - <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=MXzwAXzUwwE>”

The reason why this works is because Jenna Marbles is a comedian and chooses topics that strike at the heart of girls in order to do skits about. Most women would watch the videos you send them and just laugh out loud. Then that's a perfect way to get her attention.

Other great YouTube channels to subscribe to for great seduction material relate to movies and skits and bloopers about movies. If you can find things that make fun of Twilight or 50 Shades Of Grey, then you're GOLD.

Here's a list of the top channels you should subscribe to because they not only have the funniest videos about movies, but they are just funny as heck to watch anyway. If you send a girl any video from the following, I'm sure you're going to have a lot of things to talk about.

Different ways of contacting a girl from your friends list

1. Inboxing her:

The procedure of sending someone a private message to get her in your inbox is known as inboxing. The idea of inboxing a girl before having any kind of communication with her isn't a very good idea.

Remember, inboxing her is different than writing on her wall. The main difference is that if you send her a private message, it's perceived to be more "planned" and you're "hitting on her" more. But if you just write something short on her profile wall, it's like a "off the cuff" message with no sexual intentions (so she thinks).

Normally you should wait for her to come online in chat for your first interaction. In some instances however you can try inboxing her without chatting to her first. The only time I would recommend sending a private message without first talking to her is if you have some "itty-bitty" communication that you can send her.

The good thing about inboxing her is that your messages are PRIVATE. That means if you don't get any replies or get a negative reply no one else is going to see it.

Here are some applicable techniques you can use to inbox girls:

- a. Look for interests, and then makeup an excuse for the inbox. Suppose this girl loves woodcrafting. You could write something like. "Hey there, I noticed from your photos that you're really into woodcrafting. I needed some information and I don't know who else to ask. Do you know where I could find rare woods for crafting like African Blackwood, Yew or Beeswing Narra?" When she replies, you continue talking about crafting. This way you can easily begin and carry on a conversation.
- b. Check her events and try to create the impression that you know her from somewhere. Let's say you see that she's a singer and performs in a bar. You could go "Hey, I knew you looked familiar! You're that girl from the bar. I just wanted to let you know that I think you're FANTASTIC. How long have you been singing?" Now, women who sing at bars aren't very famous, that way this sort of fan following will most likely get her excited.
- c. Personally invite her to an event she might like. If she's an anime freak you could say something like "hello there, we've arranged an anime convention on [XYZ Date and Place] and we were hoping that you might like to come too"

The trick is to find the right things to say after reading her profile. This will make you different from all the other guys out there.

2. Writing on her Facebook wall

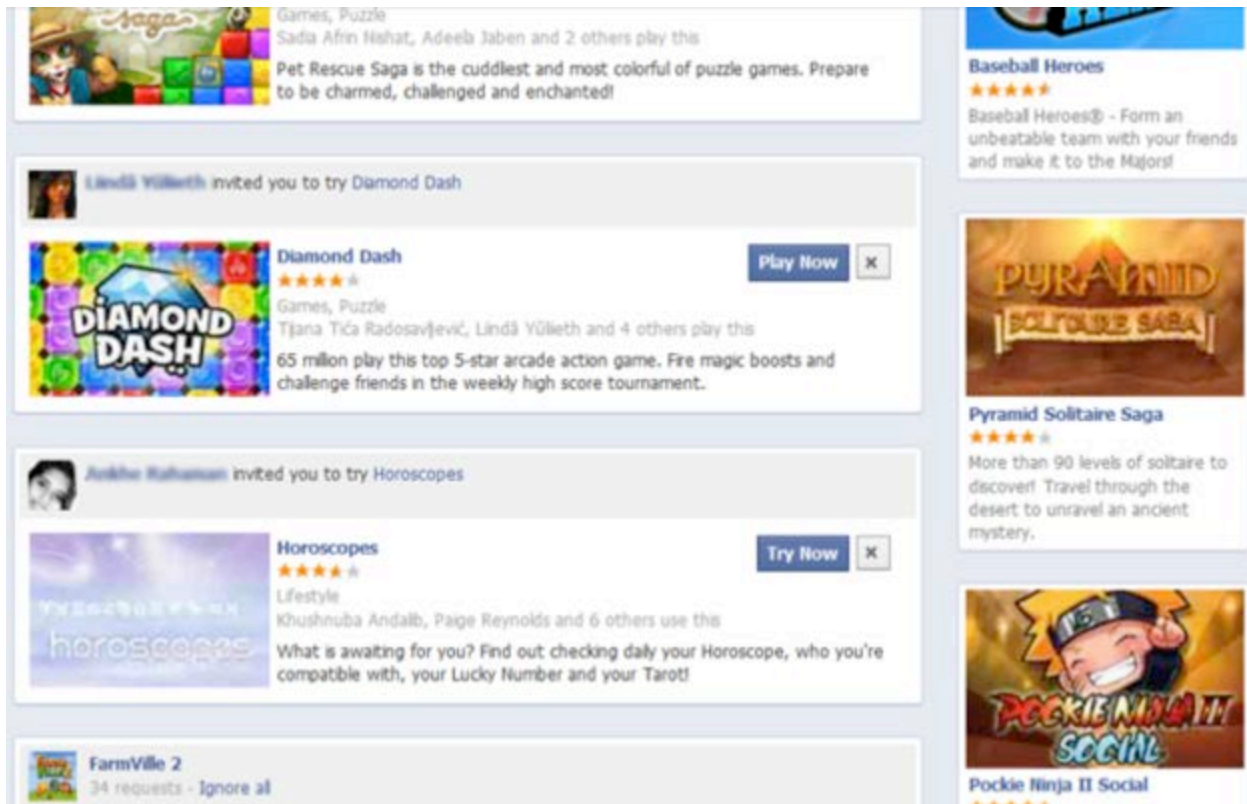

Here are some example posts you can literally copy and paste.

- a. Go simple and just say "hey, thanks for adding! :] " that's what I do.
- b. Give her a meek compliment and attach an open ended question after like:
 - a. "nice cat, are you from [INSERT SCHOOL]",
 - b. "love that hair, why have I seen you around [XYZ] before",
 - c. "awesome biography, are you related to [ABC]."

Remember, If you do this on her wall, it will look like you just thought of it. However, if you took the time to write her a private message and attempted inboxing something like this would pretty much make it obvious that you're trying to hit on her. Try to make the compliment a little different from what people might think of, that way she'll like it more.

2. Using games and applications on Facebook:

Using FB applications can be rather tiring. But it's a sneaky and "under the radar" way of seducing girls. You go to her profile check her Timeline to see which games she play. If she's a regular Facebook user it's likely that at roughly a specific time of the day she comes online.

She'll first check her friend requests, notifications and messages then move on to playing that game she's recently been playing. Now, most Facebook games have the option for you to play with your friends, send them requests, gifts or whatever.

What you have to do is keep a lookout for her and when she comes online wait for the amount of time you think it'll take her to check her notifications then send her a request from that specific game.

What do you think she'll see?

Just when she's going to click on the game, she'll get a notification that you sent her a request there. There's a good chance she'll click on it, and you'll get a chance to play with her.

Make sure when you start playing the game you make funny comments immediately. It can be some helpful advice about the game or something else that goes with it. This way you will have successfully begun a conversation with a girl you would have normally not gotten a response from.

Chapter 9: Meeting Up

In order to be a masterful seducer, you need to understand that there are some places that totally kill your chances of success with a woman the first time you meet her.

Avoid these places!

The average guy will ask for a woman's number and then invite her out to either one of the following:

1. the movies
2. an expensive date

Both of these scenarios places are commonly used as locations to meet up with a woman, on either the first or second date.

Please do not commit this mistake, because going there dramatically reduces the chances of you succeeding with her.

Let me explain why.

Why is SUCKS bringing girls to a movie...

When you are strangers with someone and do not know the other person well, what do you need to do to get them to like you?

You need to communicate and chat with them in order to get to know how they think and feel, so that you'll be able to relate to them and get closer.

Going to the movies does NOT grant you this opportunity, despite the fact that you would have spent nearly two hours with her!

This is what will happen if you take women to the movies...

If you invite a girl out to the movies, not only would you feel inclined to want to pay for her, you're going to waste an entire evening out!

The reason is because most of the time you're going to invite a woman out at night, the movie normally starts around sometime before 10 pm. A typical movie lasts for two hours (including the previews), so after that it's going to be considered "late" and it's likely that either you'll be tired or she will be. You'll probably end up going your separate ways after the movie, or you'll drive her home and you won't be invited inside.

Did you notice that nowhere in the above description where I said "now is the chance for you to really talk and get to know her."

Going to the movies is a waste of time!

The reason for this is because going to the movies takes up all the time that you would normally have when you meet a person.

Think about it, you're just going to go in and sit down awkwardly as you barely know each other and watch a movie for 90 minutes or 2 hours... without actually talking to one another.

After that, chances are she's going to go home and think to herself:

- a. that the two of you have nothing in common
- b. that she doesn't know anything more about you

If you do want to go to the movies, make sure it's after you have spent a few hours talking to her and getting to know her beforehand, so you're able to get her attracted to you. Otherwise, stay away from the cinema!

Why it sucks bringing women on expensive dates...

In Hollywood movies, it seems that the basic thing for a man to do when he wants to court a girl is to take her out on an expensive date. Because of this constant brainwashing, our society now has the weird perception that if a man doesn't take a woman out on a ravishingly luxurious date he doesn't seem normal, and perhaps is less of a man.

This couldn't be further from the truth.

The fact of the matter is if you bring a woman you have never met (or do not know well) on an expensive date, you are sub-communicating that she is much more important to you than you are, and you're inferior than her.

By taking her to fancy restaurants and places where you don't normally go, not only will it make you feel out of place, but you have told her with your actions that "this girl is more special than me" because you're treating her like she is!

You immediately raise her value above yours and this makes you more unattractive.

Not only do you have to pay for the expensive date, but most of the time you would have to spend a large amount of time with her and finish the expensive meal – even if she doesn't turn out to be the kind of woman you would have hoped.

This means you have created a situation where you're trapped and you cannot leave for a few hours, where you're going to be miserable and unhappy – and if that's not enough, you're going to have to pay a large amount of money for it!

So where should you take a girl on the first few occasions where you are just getting to know her?

I like choosing places that are:

- a. cheap to go
- b. requires a low time commitment on my part
- c. and it's fun to be there

It's important for me as a high value male to make sure I decide when and where we end up going.

I want to make sure that I don't spend too much money on her, and I also want to have the option of just leaving if I am not enjoying the interaction. What I also look for are places that increase the chance of my success naturally without me doing anything else.

So the most ideal places to take women that you're don't know yet are:

- a. coffee shops;
- b. parks; and
- c. normal restaurants (if you want to spend more money).

These are public places where the both of you can meet up for a casual chat just to get the general vibe and feel if you two will get a connection.

It doesn't require you to spend a lot of money, and doesn't communicate to the woman that she's of higher status than you. Instead, it just makes the interaction a casual outing, which is exactly what you want.

If you think you like her enough after meeting with her in a normal place, then you can always propose to go somewhere else more fun to continue the meeting. However, if things turn out badly, you won't feel bad for leaving either, as the commitment from you and her at these places are very low.

Should you pay for her?

A common issue arises when it comes to paying for things the first few times you meet a woman that you want to seduce. For example, should you pay for the meal, should you pay for her coffee, should you pay for her tickets etc.

I know a lot of pick up gurus say you shouldn't spend money on a girl unless you have slept with her, but I disagree.

Generally, if I invite a woman out somewhere, I will pay for everything, but that comes with the condition that she buys for us the next time.

For example, you tell a girl that you'll pay for her dinner, but don't worry, she can buy the both of you dessert. Not only does this set you up for another second or third interaction, it solves the awkward situation where the both of you are wondering who pays.

The best thing is, if you like her enough and you're able to get a lot of attraction from her, you can demand her to cook for you later, instead of buying you another meal, at your home. This sets you up perfectly as you would have effectively invited her back to your place, to do something that only couples would do.

So in conclusion, yes, pay for a woman, but make sure you let her know that she can pay for you the next time. This not only resolves asking hairy questions, but sets you up perfectly for the next outing or the bedroom.

Chapter 10: Trouble shooting

a. She doesn't accept your friend request:

This is probably the most common problem. It happens to everyone no matter how good he is with women. Experiencing a girl ignore your friend request can be a shitty feeling.

Here's my advice to you.

Don't focus on the outcome. You should never expect a girl to accept your friend request, that way you won't be hurt if she doesn't. Whenever you're sending a request say to yourself that there's a 50/50 chance of this working out and it's totally cool if it doesn't.

Remember, there are millions of girls out there on Facebook, you don't have to stare at a single girl's profile all day waiting for her to accept your friend request.

There are plenty of reasons why some women don't accept your friends request, many of which have nothing to do with you, for example:

- a. she has a boyfriend already
- b. she's going through a difficult time at the moment
- c. she checked her profile on a mobile device and doesn't know how to accept your request (and she forgot to accept it later)
- d. she's not interested in men
- e. she simply got too many requests and didn't see yours

When someone you somehow connect to or even someone you think you know well doesn't accept, you could try inboxing them as a reminder.

This will make you look a bit desperate, but it still sometimes works, the best part of this is that it's private and no one else can see that you tried to contact her twice. If she still doesn't accept your request then it's always best to cancel the request and move on.

b. She doesn't respond to you after accepting your request:

The next most common problem is that a girl will accept your request, but when you interact with her after you receive no response from her what so ever.

The only way you can prevent this from happening is by being able to stand out from everyone else and letting her know that you're different.

Remember, there are plenty of reasons why girls don't respond to you as listed above and none of them have anything to do with you.

If she's not replying, 60% chances are that she isn't gonna. But it's still possible that she might have interest in you and wants to talk to you but didn't notice your text or is busy somewhere else. You could try inboxing her with something like:

- a. "aww... I am cool enough to be accepted as a friend, but not cool enough to respond to?"
- b. "say something, yoohoo? "

c. “Knock! Knock! Anyone there?”

If you still don't get any replies, try again once more some other time. If you continue to get no response, then I'd just suggest you move on and try out someone else.

c. Speaks with interest when you knock her, but never initiates communication:

Ego plays a big factor in determining whether or not someone initiates contact with you first. I think it's silly, but there are some girls who refuse to initiate contact with you, even if she likes what she sees on your profile.

All you need to do is swallow your pride and initiate contact with her, once you do this a few times you can gauge from the conversation to see if she's really worth your time.

If she is, then you can play the same game with her. All you have to do is use your chat options to keep her offline for a while. About 2 or 3 days should be enough depending on how regular she is.

You just have to create the interval. And then one day when she's online turn your status online for her to see. You need comment on someone's wall or change your profile picture.

Do this a few times, and she'll know for sure you're there. What you want to do is bait to see if misses you. If she does message you first, then reward her by being very surprised and telling her how much you missed chatting with her. It doesn't have to be fake, most likely you will genuinely be glad to speak to her again, just make sure she sees it. If you do this right you will have sniped her ego dead from a mile away within in a few days.

d. She suddenly starts ignoring you

I used to get this a lot. A girl seemed to be into me, and then suddenly she started ignoring me.

So what do you do at this point?

You should review your conversation to see if there was something that you said to offend or insult her. If you did do something annoying then make sure you apologize in a friendly way like “her sorry about doing [XYZ] I didn’t think you’d take it that way and if I offended you I apologize. I just thought you were a super cool chick and would be ok with it.”

But remember how I mentioned that there are many reasons why a girl doesn’t respond? It may also happen here.

Re-initiate contact with her by inboxing her a few times. Give her a few days. Maximum, a week. If she still ignores you then just let her go.

e. She’s in a relationship:

In my opinion, generally I wouldn’t advise you to go for girls who are in a relationship. There are plenty of reasons as to why, but here are the main ones:

- if you do end up getting with her and she ends up being your girlfriend, you’ll be wondering in the back of your mind if she’s going to cheat on you like she did with her ex.
- If you do hit on her, maybe she has an aggressive boyfriend who will want to really make your life miserable.
- There are so many other hot girls on Facebook, why go for one that’s already taken?

What I would do in this instance and just back off, you don’t want to “hang around” being the friendly guy because you’re going to get put into the “friend zone.” Just make sure in every instance you communicate with her, you flirt with her in a fun and friendly way, but just don’t make it too obvious that you’re waiting around for her.

f. She's in a relationship or gets a boyfriend, but still flirts with you:

Sometimes you meet girls who are total flirts. Maybe she's in a relationship, but still gives you the impression that she wants to be with you. So what should you do in this case?

You need to make sure that she REALLY is serious about you and not just flirting with you because she's a "flirt." There are MANY hot girls who just enjoy getting attention from guys but she has no intention of having sex with you.

So what you need to do is start testing her to see if she's just joking around or really down to hook up with you. Having said this though, remember the previous point about going after girls with boyfriends?

That still applies here, and I don't recommend you do this.

g. She makes you her Bro (you are in the "Friend Zone"):

If you get sent to the "friend zone" the only way out of it is to disappear for a week or so then come back as the "new" advanced fun and flirty version of you.

The only reason why you became "just a friend" was because you didn't start flirting with her and indicating some sort of sexual attraction towards her.

I'm not saying you need to be sleazy, but in order to get a girl into bed you need to know that you desire for her sexually in one form or another.

g. You are suffering from the "Isolation Aftereffects" and have become active female repellent

What you need to do here is actually pretty simple.

- i. Stop writing silly comments on the walls of girls.
- ii. Wait for a week or two or more (long enough for the girls to forget about your constant posts).

- iii. Revamp your profile according to this guide.
- iv. Get attractive girls on Fiverr.com to be your girlfriend for a week or two then you can SLOWLY start messaging girls using the tips provided in this manual.

Once other girls start realizing that you're not a total female repellent anymore, then the damage caused by "Isolation Aftereffects" will dissolve.

h. How does the tagging and posting thing work, and when do I know my updates are showing on the walls of other people?

When a person from my friendslist tags me in a PHOTO, all the other friends (and followers) on my friendlist gets that post on their news feed.

However when I'm tagged in someone's status update or someone posts on my wall, you have to be friends(or followers) with me AND THAT SOMEONE in order to get that post on your feed.

Let me add, priority of friends vary. The posts from "friends with which you more frequently interact in Facebook", will get more priority on your newsfeed.

If you have a lot of friends, there are going to be ones' you've never spoken to, liked their post, commented on or the same from THEIR SIDE (I mean they have never liked your post or commented on any). If you have a lot of friends, updates from those friends pretty much aren't going to be showing on your newsfeed.

Conclusion by Dean Cortez

I hope you've enjoyed this book as much as I enjoyed putting it together with my friend and student, Brandon Buckley.

Trying to get to know random girls on Facebook can be a very unpredictable and frustrating process if you don't know what you're doing.

However, if you follow our detailed guidelines on how find, filter and hook up with women on Facebook, then I'm sure you're going to experience success—whether this means one night of incredible fun, or finding an awesome girlfriend who you want to stick with.

I've been using Facebook for almost five years now. For the first few years, I only used Facebook to keep in touch with my personal friends. I got laid plenty by meeting girls in the "real world" (thanks to the techniques I teach in the legendary Mack Tactics program), but I was never able to close the deal with girls on Facebook.

(By the way, if you're a guy who gets nervous and tongue-tied around women and you struggle to figure out what to say, I highly recommend you watch this video right now.)

Eventually, by working with Brandon and some friends of his who were Facebook experts, we figured out how to "hack" the way the whole Facebook community works, and turn it into our own playground for picking up hot girls.

Getting laid on Facebook becomes a fun, stress-free GAME once you know how to identify the right candidates, and you've got the right things to say.

Soon, Facebook will turn into your own adult Disneyland, as it did for me. Log in, choose your ride, and have fun.

Your Wingman,

Dean Cortez

P.S. Before you put this system to work, I want to show you a few resources you might want to grab to make your game with women UNSTOPPABLE.

For Dating Hot YOUNGER Women...

If you're in your 30s, 40s or beyond, and you're close to "giving up" on the idea of dating women younger than you, now is the time to destroy the MYTH that you can only get women close to your own age. There are, in fact, proven ways for you to use your maturity, sophistication, knowledge and life experience as huge tactical advantages!

The truth is, there are also specific techniques and strategies for you to use the "age gap" as your own unique 'weapon' to get younger women! I'm talking about being able to approach, flirt with, and seduce ANY hot younger woman, at ANY time. No more hesitation, no more guess-work.

Or, If You'd Prefer To Be Dating Sexy ASIAN Women...

A lot of guys share a preference for Asian women. And we can't blame them—we agree that Asian women are some of the most exotic, graceful and beautiful females on the planet. Plus, because of their culture and upbringing, Asian women can make excellent partners for Western men.

The challenge is that Asian women can be difficult to meet, talk to & connect with if you don't understand their cultural differences and what makes them feel attraction. (Attraction, seduction & dating works a lot differently with these women, which is why so many guys think they're "hard to get.")

Whether you're interested in meeting & seducing beautiful Asian women in your area, or you're chatting with them on the Internet, or you plan on taking a trip to Asia, you will enjoy a much higher rate of success (and you won't waste your time interacting with the wrong women) if you're armed with the right tools, tactics and information.

If You Want To Score With Sexy, Exotic STRIPPERS (Without Having To Spend Money...)

If you enjoy visiting strip clubs, I'm sure you've thought about how awesome it would be to bang one of those scorching-hot, hard-bodied stunners. But if you're like most guys, the strippers are treating you only as a customer. You blow a bunch of money on lap-dances and drinks, and go home alone and sexually frustrated...

But what if I told you some of the world's top pickup artists have figured out a SYSTEM for picking up strippers and getting all the sex you want—for free? I'm talking about being able to push a stripper's "attraction buttons" and connect with them on an authentic sexual level—so that instead of viewing you as a customer, they want to hang out with you after their shift and have wild sex.

(Or even date you, if you think you can handle having a hot stripper girlfriend!)

"Secrets Of Strip Club Seduction" is JAM-PACKED with the best techniques on how to read a stripper's body language, how to flirt, create unstoppable confidence, "dominate" strip clubs and the attention of the hottest women, and especially how to CLOSE super-hot dancers!

If you're serious about wanting to become a guy who bangs "Perfect 10s" every night of the week (and not just strippers, but hot girls from all backgrounds who are downright untouchable for most men)... you've got to check out this highly controversial (but very amazing) program.
